HEALTH UNIT REPORT.

BOSTON, May 21, 1923.

DR. FRANCIS X. MAHONEY,
Health Commissioner.

DEAR SIR,—The following report of the Health Unit for the year ending December 31, 1922, is respectfully submitted:

In furnishing a report of the activities of the Health Unit for 1922 permit me to preface the statistical figures for the year by a brief resume of additional activities put into effect during the past twelve months, contemplated additional functions now in the process of being put into effect, as well as recommendations I desire to make, which in my opinion are essential for the further development of the Unit and necessary for the improvement of the physical condition of the people of our district, with particular emphasis on that group defined as the pre-school age child.

It is fitting that I first call your attention to the development of the dental service about to be established, which is now in the process of equipment. The very splendid arrangement put into effect whereby the Forsyth Dental Infirmary will furnish the dentists under charge of their director, Dr. Harold DeW. Cross, all bills for equipment, salaries and other maintenance charges to be paid by the City of Boston, cannot help but accomplish successful results. His Honor the Mayor, the Trustees of the Forsyth Dental Infirmary, Doctor Cross, the director, and you as Health Commissioner deserve much credit for the establishment of the dental service, and will I am sure, in the future, receive many thanks from the grateful community for the dental work which will be done in the West End district of Boston.

We endeavored to co-operate with the very splendid efforts of the epidemiologist of the Health Department, Dr. John A. Ceroni, resulting in the Sicking by his staff, at the Health Unit, of approximately 1,600 children. I have arranged for the conducting of clinics for the administration of toxin-antitoxin, so far as is possible, to pre-school age children.

We are proud of the formation by us of home nursing classes in co-operation with the American Red Cross, with fourteen classes and an attendance of 173, resulting in the graduation of girls between the ages of twelve and fourteen, trained in home hygiene and the care of the sick.

I have a firm belief that the most important function of a health center is the dissemination of intelligent information, and we have tried to build up a demand for such advice in our neighborhood. I feel that we have in a degree succeeded as may be judged by an increase in a desire for information with 2,263 persons desiring for the same in 1922, as against 857 in 1921.

I have conducted a routine examination of children who were being sent to camps by various agencies in our district, resulting in sending away children clean and free from contagious disease.

A vigorous clean-up campaign was conducted in our district, with the agencies in the Health Unit co-operating, meetings being held on the premises, and literature disseminated. An interesting clean-up campaign exhibit was shown at the Health Unit, as well as lectures to the people of the district which were largely attended.

A series of talks were conducted at the Health Unit, including talks to expectant mothers by a dental hygienist and obstetrician. Miss Mary E. Driscoll, supervisor, New England District, United States Interdepartmental Social Hygiene Board, gave an interesting talk to mothers of the district on the care of young girls.

The sanitary inspectors of the Boston Health Department are now in daily attendance at the Health Unit, where individuals may in person, or in writing, submit their sanitary complaints, which receive immediate and direct attention.

The monthly conference at the Health Unit for the members of the West End Neighborhood Conference resulted in a splendid attendance, and prominent and interesting speakers discuss topics of primary importance to the community, and of interest to the delegates of the conference. This monthly getting-together has resulted in closer co-operation between the health and relief agencies, with great benefit to the district.

A modern health crusade, educational and instructive in its scope, was conducted by a representative of the Health Department. This impressed upon the child the value of bodily cleanliness, with its resulting benefits, as well as the dangers resulting from filth and dirt. This work was carried on in conjunction with the Anti-Tuberculosis Association.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

While we have a nutrition conference under the auspices of the Jewish Welfare Center and doing splendid work, I desire at this time to recommend for your consideration the development of a nutrition conference with a full-time worker in attendance.

We know that undernourished children comprise the so-called field of "susceptible to disease," and in order to reduce the numbers in that field it requires the building up of the body. The examination of the child suffering from malnutrition will reveal either a disease, faulty habits, bad hygiene, errors in diet, etc., and if we desire to diminish disease we must solve the nutrition problem. Classes dedicated to that purpose, developed and functioning properly, can and will do for the other child what the Baby Hygiene Conference does for infants, and in fact we should pick up the latter class when they graduate from the Baby Conference, and carry them until they are ready for the school and the attention of the school physician and school nurses. Building up the youngster with consequent bodily resistance, the protecting and guardian angel against disease, will easily reduce morbidity and mortality. There is no better way to obtain the confidence of the mother and reach the family than trying to do something for the child, and in that way we will more quickly than by any other method prove to the community what the Health Unit stands for, and that it is an agency dedicated to serve the physical needs and problems of the people in the district and better acquaint them with the general problem of public health.

I desire to recommend, and we are planning to conduct, pre-natal clinics where the expectant mother may be properly acquainted with the simple rules which may result in a better offspring.

I desire to recommend the formation of a medical advisory clinic, where routine examinations will be conducted for the determination of the individual's physical condition, and if disease be found, the referring of the individual to his or her own physician or to a hospital if they are financially unable to pay for treatment. This will carry out the modern and truly accepted doctrine of preventive medicine, as well as the old saying that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

I would also recommend at this time an office on the premises for the call physician of the Boston Dispensary in this district, where he might see his convalescent cases, a much more satisfactory way than exists at the present time.

In furnishing the statistical information may I call your attention to the fact that we have had 8,000 more contacts or services rendered in the Health Unit during 1922 than we had in 1921. A study of the figures reveals the fact that the increased 8,000 contacts were either people desirous of (a) health information, or (b) those requesting prophylactic treatment, the two very important functions we are trying to build up and increase all the time, and very necessary factors in preventive medicine. The new functions to be put into effect and those in the process of planning will, I am sure, increase our services tremendously and bring us closer and closer to our objective, a better and healthier manhood and womanhood.

ZIONISTS' HEAD THANKS MAYOR.

Mayor Curley was gratified to receive the following letter from Dr. Chain Weizmann, president of the World's Zionist Organization, Hotel Commodore, New York:

MY DEAR MAYOR.—It is with great concern that I read in the newspaper of the motor accident in which you were involved.

I trust, however that you have felt no ill effects, and that you are quite well.

May I express my most grateful thanks to you for your very gracious hospitality to me during my visit to Boston. The Jewish people and the Zionist Organization owe a deep debt of gratitude to you for the conspicuous services which you have given to our cause, and on their behalf may I ask you to receive my most grateful thanks.

With best personal regards, believe me to be,

Yours very sincerely,
CHAIN WEIZMANN.

MAYOR CURLEY'S TRIBUTE TO MOTHERS.

On Mother's Day, May 13, Mayor Curley paid the following tribute to woman's contribution to human progress:

That eccentric poetical genius of the Sierras, Joaquin Miller, has in his poem to mothers epitomized woman's contribution to human progress.

The greatest battle that ever was fought,
Shall I tell you where and when?
On the maps of the world
You will find it fought.

It was fought by the mothers of men.
Nay naught with camorri or battle shout,
With sword or nobler pen;
Nay naught with eloquent words or thought
From mouths of wonderful men,
But deep down in walled-up woman's heart,
Of women that would not yield,
But silently, patiently bore her part.
Lo, there on that battlefield
No marshaling troop, no bivouac song,
No banners to gladden or to wave,
And oh, these battles they last so long,
From babyhood to the grave.
But faithful, still as a grade of stars
She fights in her walled-up town, fights on And on
In the endless wars, then silent, unseen, goes down.

This has been the story from the dawn of the world, service and sacrifice with scant recompense, until the last century.

As an American I rejoice that our country has recognized the wisdom of extending to woman equal rights and equal privileges.

To those who view with apprehension the enlargement of the scope of woman's activities it is well to remember that the cornerstone of patriotism in the land and a continuance of the republic is dependent upon economic justice.

Woman can ever be depended upon to maintain the human equation as against the dollar equation.

America largely through the idealism which woman has imparted to the body politic is becoming a leader in the enactment of laws for human welfare.

In our own Commonwealth we have witnessed an end of the exploitation in industry of children through child labor laws and the protection of the toiler through the Workmen's Compensation Act and of his family when he has ceased to toil through the Mother's Pension Act.

Even boss-ridden Pennsylvania now joins the procession in the adoption of an old age pension act through which the old age is robbed of the terror of pauperism.

The advent of women into our political life marks the dawn of a new era for America. An era in which economic justice will be more than a mere phrase; an era in which it will be a reality through which poverty will be banished and a patriotism developed such as no nation has known since the world began.

BLAMES INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION.

In reply to a telegram from the Editor of the "Railway Review" inquiring as to the attitude of the people of Boston and New England on the railway problems, Mayor Curley placed the blame for local conditions largely on the Interstate Commerce Commission. The Telegram and the Mayor's reply follows:

12 p. m., May 22, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor, Boston, Mass.:

Will you kindly state your opinion of the general attitude of the people of your city toward the railroads and their problems for publication in the "Railway Review"? Wiring same at press rate, collect and oblige.

CLYDE F. BURNS,
Managing Editor.

CITY OF BOSTON,
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR,
May 28, 1923.

MR. CLYDE F. BURNS, Managing Editor,
"Railway Review," 537 South Dearborn Street, Chicago, Ill.:

DEAR SIR,—The citizenship of Boston is not only friendly disposed toward the management of the railroads but is extremely desirous of aiding in every possible way in solving the manifold problems today confronting railroads. Locally the opinion is prevalent that the Interstate Commerce Commission rather than railroad officials are responsible for the ills which affect New England at the present time. The stifling of import and export business in New England through the adoption of a system of differentials, which to my mind are not only obstructive but unconstitutional, has been in no small measure responsible for the lamentable plight presented by the railroads of New England. The railroads are entitled to a square deal in return for good service, and without a square deal and a sound public railroad policy it is impossible for the railroads to either produce good service or to render the dividends necessary to insure from time to time new working capital. The people of Boston recognize how essential to general development a sound railroad policy is and may be classed as thoroughly in sympathy with everything that tends to promote successful railroad administration.

JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

General Order No. 44.

I. MEMORIAL FUND.

On Saturday, May 26, 1923, the Fire Commissioner was asked by a committee of members of the Fire Department to sanction a plan for the raising of funds for a memorial to the Rev. Dennis J. Lynch, late assistant pastor of St. Leo's Church, Dorchester, and our devoted friend and counselor. It is with considerable pleasure and pride that the Fire Commissioner gives his approval to this worthy project, and wishes to assure the members of the department of his own personal interest and support of the undertaking. No one man outside of the department enjoyed the same degree of love, respect and confidence as did Father Lynch. His chief interest, next to the work for which he was ordained, was the well-being of the men who have devoted their lives to saving the lives and property of others. His words of cheer and good counsel were always welcomed by the members of the Fire Department.

The proposition to keep alive the good work of Father Lynch is a most commendable one. What form the memorial will take depends entirely upon the generosity of the subscribers to the fund. In every worthy endeavor in the past the members of this department have responded in a generous and whole-hearted manner. The memorial to Father Lynch is a matter deserving of a united interest and support on the part of the men who prized his friendship, respected his character and were benefited by his goodness. It presents an opportunity for all of us to show to Father Lynch, and his many friends, the high degree of esteem in which we held him. This is a Fire Department project, proposed by the members and to be carried out by them. It is hoped that the men will respond to this, their own appeal, in even a greater measure of generosity than they have responded to public appeals in the past. Let us all give, and give generously, so that the memorial in form and size will be a fitting tribute to the man to whose memory it is dedicated.

The Fire Commissioner is the treasurer of the fund, and will be pleased to receive contributions from now until Saturday, June 16, 1923. Commanding officers will forward, on Form 5, a list of the men who contribute, together with the amount subscribed. It is suggested that these subscriptions from the men be forwarded during the week of June 11, 1923, in order that plenty of time may be allowed the men to subscribe to the fund without any great inconvenience to themselves.

Two copies of this order will be issued to each company, one of which will be posted at the patrol desk until June 16, 1923.

By order of the Fire Commissioner.

Chief of Department.

BOSTON'S NEW HOME FOR FIREMEN AND HARBOR POLICE SOON TO BE READY.

ANOTHER OF THE BUILDINGS BEING CONSTRUCTED UNDER THE DIRECTION OF MAYOR CURLEY, WHICH WILL ADD TO THE FAME OF BOSTON AS AN UP-TO-DATE CITY. COMBINATION POLICE AND FIRE STATION IN NORTH END SOON TO BE DEDICATED.

NEW $200,000 POLICE STATION 8 AND FIRE STATION 31 FOR HARBOR GUARDIANS, WHICH WILL BE READY FOR OCCUPANCY IN AUGUST.

Among the many things making the present administration memorable to Boston citizens is the gigantic construction program which has been launched and is being carried through under Mayor Curley. Last week the new Municipal Courthouse at West Roxbury was dedicated, and within a few weeks another structure that will add to the renown of the administration and to the beauty of Boston will be completed and ready for occupancy. This is the new combination Police Station 8 and Fire Station 31 at the North End.

This handsome structure is to cost in the neighborhood of $213,000 and when fitted for, the city's guardians will be very much like a palace. The building covers 8,500 square feet of land, with the section devoted to the firemen built out over the water. This will be used by the harbor police and the firemen who fight blazes along the waterfront.

The structure is three stories high and has been fitted with every modern convenience. On the first floor of the police section is a guard room with every convenience, two cell blocks of five cells each, a main office and offices for the captain and sergeants. There is also a general locker room and an emergency room. This latter is for cases of persons rescued from the waters of the harbor as well as accidents on land.

Next to this and linking this part of the building with the firehouse is a small section to be devoted to uses of the Paving Service, Public Works Department, with storeroom and office. The second and third floors of the police section are occupied by bedrooms, general recreation room and reading room. The second floor of the fire house will have a workshop, recreation room and mess hall. The third floor, with its fine appointments, will be used for rooms for the officers, dormitories and locker rooms. Both the firemen and police who will occupy this new structure, which will be ready about the middle of August, are already very proud of their new home. In constructing the building the architects, Maginnis & Walsh, consulted the men as to improvements, so that it will stand as one of the most modern city structures of its kind in the country and those to occupy it are envied.

MAYOR CURLEY DEFENDS CONSTITUTION.

DELIVERS ABLE ADDRESS CALLING DOCUMENT NOBLEST INSTRUMENT FRAMED BY MAN SINCE CHRISTIAN ERA BEGAN. CALLS ON CITIZENS TO GUARD IT FROM EVERY FOE, WITHIN AND WITHOUT.

At the banquet of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, June 4, at the Copley-Plaza, Mayor James M. Curley spoke on "The Constitution," as follows:

The Constitution of the United States is the noblest instrument framed by the hand and mind of man since the Christian era began. Clarity, simplicity, wisdom, a knowledge of human nature, of man's strength and weakness, his passions and his frailties, are all written into this wonderful document, in the provisions that mark out the boundaries of power and the limitations of authority; that restrain the strong, the ambitious, the greedy, and protect the weak, the simple, the credulous; that recognize the dignity of man, his equality before the law, the necessity for freedom expressed in speech, press and religion, the danger of class, caste and privilege and the supremacy of law.

The Constitution of the United States has been the sailing chart of this republic for a century and a quarter; and because our political and judicial policies have steered the Ship of State in accordance with its tenets, our voyage from colonial weakness and political instability to national strength and governmental serenity has been safe, prosperous and beneficial to all earth. Our Ship of State has sailed in dangerous waters and stormy seas; it has avoided rocks and reefs; it has seen empires shattered, dynasties destroyed and nations annihilated; and because it has sailed the course charted for it by the fathers in the Constitution it still sails on, proud, prosperous, secure and serene amid the wreckage of a world.

The Constitution has preserved this noblest experiment in human government, this American democracy, from decay and destruction; it has proved its right to be called the charter of human liberty; and only as we guard and protect and preserve it in letter and in spirit can we preserve this republic intact to move on into the coming years, as the hope of humanity.

The Constitution of the United States is in effect the application to human government of God's law of the universe—a great, stable central political entity, the center of a system of minor, free, interdependent sovereignties, which move harmoniously with and around the dominant sovereignty, the whole union working each in its place without friction and indifferent to faction, from the government of the United States down to the merest town within our frontiers; for the central concept of the Constitution is the Union strong and free, when the state is free, and "The state is freedom if the town be free."

The most important duty of Americans today is to preserve and protect the Constitution and live in its spirit; to still guide and direct this republic according to the gospel of those whose sweat and sacrifice made this America free, independent and self-governing, and whose wisdom, experience and knowledge brought out of counsel and caution, controversy and compromise, the Constitution of the United States. The genius of new generations and the experience of passing years may give to America a group of statesmen, lawmakers and lovers of the race, as wise and great as they who framed the Constitution of the United States; but until they do and the miracle of wisdom and greatness re-born is patent to all the nation, let us protect with courage and resolution this charter of our liberties from the audacity of those who would tinker and tear, patch and profane, reform and wreck the immortal document.

Here on this soil, made sweet and sacred by the blood and sacrifice of the men who dared all that they and their children might be free, the Constitution was born and so framed that America might grow in peace and prosperity under a scheme of government based on the proposition that the people are the source and strength of all government, and that only on such a basis could political freedom and contentment endure.

Let us beware of the Greeks who come bearing gifts; of the specious strangers within our gates who seek to tempt us from the gospel of national integrity and security to worship at the altars of alien gods. Under the gospel of the Constitution of the United States we have found peace, freedom, justice, security under law, safety from sword and soldier and king and conqueror, contented industry and happy homes. These things have not been found in alien continents, among alien peoples, ruled by principles and practices alien to ours; and when these voices from a war-wrecked world call to us to unite with them to rebuild the ruins they have made, let us answer them with firmness and finality, "Here is our Constitution; adopt it. Here is our example; follow it. What we have done, you may do; but each man must save his own soul; every nation work out its own salvation. Aid, advice and sympathy we have given you; alliance and entanglement we will have none."

America is great, powerful, prosperous and respected because she has kept faith with the fathers. When she forgets the faith of the fathers; when she hearkens to the voices of the false prophets of a political faith that has betrayed the world and would deceive us, America will go the way of Europe.

And here under American skies let us not be deceived by them who preach the doctrines of colonialism, who would substitute bureaucracy for democracy, and paternalism for Americanism; who would impose the centralization of Europe on a free-governed America and substitute the solid gifts of the Constitution by the shackles and impositions that masquerade as philanthropy, altruism, socialism and the sugar-coated poisons that have destroyed liberty and contentment in all the ages and paved the way for tyranny and greed.

Guard well the Constitution from all its foes, foreign and domestic. Keep the lights burning on our altars, and bear in sacred memory the men and deeds that made this America we live in the freest, best and happiest land on earth.

Eternal vigilance is still the price of freedom. Let our constant prayer be

God grant that those who tend the sacred flame May worthy prove of their forefathers' name. More light has come,—more dangers to perplex;

New prizes, new greeds, our high condition vex.

The fathers fled from feudal lords and made A freehold state; may we not retrograde To lucre-lords and hierarchs of trade.

Though wad the token of our future glory, Though tongue of man hath told not such a story—

Surpassing Plato's dream, More's phantasy,— still we Have no new principles to keep us free.

MAYORS' CLUB OF MASSACHUSETTS,

May 26, 1923.

Resolved, That the Mayors' Club extends to our president, Hon. James M. Curley of Boston, its deepest regret that he has been injured in an automobile accident and their gratification that his injuries have just been reported to us not to be of a serious nature.

It is further ordered that the following resolution be entered in the records of the Mayors' Club and that a copy be sent to Mayor Curley in appreciation of his efforts in settling the national bank tax controversy:

Resolved, That the Mayors' Club of Massachusetts herein expresses to the Hon. James M. Curley, Mayor of Boston, the appreciation of the club as an organization and of every member as representing his own city of the gratifying result of his efforts in connection with the national bank tax situation, and to compliment him upon carrying to a successful conclusion one of the most difficult and intricate complications which has been before the Legislature for many years.

The persistency with which he followed the matter through and his refusal to even recognize the possibility of defeat has resulted in a settlement which has saved the cities and towns of the Commonwealth fully ten million dollars.

Attest:

CHARLES H. THURSTON,
Secretary.

BOSTON, May 14, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR.—You are respectfully notified that advertised proposals were publicly opened and read at this office on May 4, 1923, for the sale of golf accessories and the teaching of golf on the golf links at Franklin Park for a period of one year, as follows:

Stuart Sanderson, $1,025; Horan & Toppin, $1,000.

By vote of the Board, subject to your approval, the lease was granted to Messrs. Horan & Toppin, 136 Federal street, Boston, for the sum of $1,000.

The reason for not awarding the contract to the highest bidder is that we find that Mr. Sanderson is not a citizen of the United States and as the annual golf permits are restricted to Boston citizens the Board believes that this concession should be given to a citizen of Boston.

Respectfully yours,

DANIEL J. BYRNE,
Secretary.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts, awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do the work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS DEPARTMENT.

Upon June 6 the Mayor approved a contract with the Aetna Automatic Oil-Burner, Inc., for the installation of oil-burners in public buildings. A communication from Superintendent Fred J. Kneeland of the Public Buildings Department was as follows:

BOSTON, May 14, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,

Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—In order to obviate the deplorable conditions which existed last year as far as heating of public buildings is concerned, I wish to say that I have given some thought to the installation of oil burners in some of our buildings. I have investigated quite thoroughly and I find that the Aetna Automatic Oil-Burner, Inc., have a system that seems entirely suitable for some of our buildings. I have therefore contracted with the Aetna Automatic Oil-Burner, Inc., to install their oil burners in the Municipal Building, Roslindale, and also the Municipal Building, Hyde Park.

Each contract will be in excess of $1,000, and I therefore respectfully request permission to award a contract for the installation of their oil-burning system in both the Municipal Building, Roslindale, and the Municipal Building, Hyde Park, without the usual form of advertising.

Respectfully yours,

FRED J. KNEELAND,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Artificial Stone Sidewalks).

Upon June 6 the Mayor approved a contract with Thomas A. Berrigan for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Joseph A. Rourke, Commissioner of Public Works, was as follows:

BOSTON, June 4, 1923.

To the Mayor of Boston:

Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Thomas A. Berrigan, 938 Broadway, South Boston, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Water Service).

Upon June 4 the Mayor approved a contract with M. F. Gaddis for repaving over water pipe trench in Massachusetts avenue. A communication from Joseph A. Rourke, Commissioner of Public Works, was as follows:

BOSTON, June 4, 1923.

To the Mayor of Boston:

Your approval is respectfully requested to the award, without advertising, for repaving over water pipe trench in Massachusetts avenue, between Harrison avenue and Albany street, with paving brick on concrete base; and repaving water pipe trench in Albany street, between Massachusetts avenue and Concord street, with wood block on concrete base, to M. F. Gaddis, at an estimated cost of $3,800.

Due to the very heavy traffic, teaming in Albany street and automobiles in Massachusetts avenue, it is very desirable to do this work in the very shortest period with a minimum of interference to said traffic. A period of delay to allow for advertising and preparations for advertising the job would, in this particular case, be very inadvisable.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

SUFFOLK COUNTY JAIL.

Upon June 2 the Mayor approved a request of Sheriff John A. Kelliher to purchase without advertising, a Dodge Beverly motor car for jail purposes.

NEW CITY HOSPITAL BUILDINGS.

Plans for the extension of construction in the City Hospital, to include a ten-story maternity building, a nurses' home and an additional building for male orderlies and attendants at the institution, as a cost estimated at $1,500,000, were presented by Mayor Curley at a conference of the trustees and staff of the hospital, Monday afternoon.

The new nurses' home will be erected at the junction of Harrison and Massachusetts avenues, replacing a building purchased on Northampton street for the present quarters which will eventually be used for contagious diseases.

Because of the delay in the hospital building program due to the war, the institution is without adequate space to care for its hospital cases, which averaged 827 last year though there is but space for 717 patients.

ONLY FIRE FIGHTERS SUBJECT TO PENSION.

The Mayor is in receipt of the following letter from the Corporation Counsel of the City of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—The Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts has decided the case of Elliot v. Fire Commissioner of the City of Boston in favor of the Fire Commissioner.

This case, as you undoubtedly know, raised the question whether the members of the repair shop were entitled to receive pensions under the acts of 1880 and 1913. The court in substance holds that only members of the fire-fighting force, together with those specially included by statute, as the Fire Alarm Branch and other individuals, are entitled to be pensioned under these acts. This decision sustains my opinion rendered to Acting Fire Commissioner Casey on April 27, 1922, wherein I held that Messrs. Quinn and Elliot were not entitled to be pensioned. It now seems settled that there is a line of demarcation between the fire-fighting force and the other branches of the department.

Very truly yours,

E. MARK SULLIVAN,
Corporation Counsel.

CONTRACTS AMENDED.

The Mayor has allowed the following amendments to contracts:

A. Piotti Company, to amend their contract for erection and completion of an intermediate school in the Charles Sumner District, Poplar and Hawthorne streets, Rosindale, by striking out the words and figures, "May 15, 1923," on page 24, Section 3, and substituting therefor the words and figures, "November 8, 1923," so that the beginning of the last paragraph of said Section 3 on page 24 shall read: "The work is to be commenced on or about May 15, 1922, and is to be completed on or before November 8, 1923."

REPORT ON CITY PLANNING.

REPRESENTATIVES OF BOSTON BOARD TELL OF FIFTEENTH ANNUAL MEETING OF NATIONAL CONFERENCE—DELEGATES LEARNED MUCH THAT WILL BENEFIT BOSTON.

Delegates to the fifteenth annual meeting of the National Conference on City Planning have made the following report to the Mayor:

BOSTON, June 2, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CUBLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—In accordance with the provisions of section one, chapter 274, of the Acts of 1914, the undersigned, representing the City Planning Board of the City of Boston, submit herewith a report upon the proceedings of the fifteenth annual meeting of the National Conference on City Planning, held in Baltimore, Md., April 30, May 1 and 2, 1923. In accordance with the provisions of section 2 of the same chapter, an itemized statement of expenditures incurred in connection with such attendance has been filed with the City Auditor.

Headquarters were at the Southern Hotel, where the conference was formally opened at a luncheon on Monday, April 30, with an address of welcome on behalf of the city and its citizens by his Honor Mayor William F. Broening. Two hundred and sixty-four persons registered as in attendance, but this number was largely augmented by persons who were present at one or more sessions but who were unable to remain throughout the entire proceedings.

As was to be expected, a large proportion of the attendance came from the middle and southern sections of the United States. Approximately one third of the total number came from the Atlantic Coast states, a few came from the Pacific Coast, two from Stockholm, Sweden, and one from the Far East.

Baltimore is one of the few cities which has a complete topographical map of its whole area, ninety square miles, on a 200-foot scale, and a major street plan is being worked out upon this as a basis. A remarkable set of maps and data on existing structures (height, uses, areas) has been completed recently by the Zoning Commission, including the plottage of fires, communicable diseases, wind directions, segregation of dwellings of various European races, and intensities of population in respect to topography, car lines and water and sewer mains. The city has made a start on an ambitious school-building schedule, and has recently completed a municipal stadium, while a beautiful memorial building is in process of being constructed. The downtown district is so congested by automobile traffic that agitation has been started on the making of a complete traffic survey and the drawing up of laws to remedy the conditions. Other local matters under consideration include an important street extension to result in a vast increase in property values, and the enlargement of railroad station facilities.

Two phases of city planning work were emphasized throughout the various sessions of the conference, both separately and in their relation to each other—zoning and regional planning.

Without minimizing in the slightest degree the value of the several papers and discussions devoted to the subject, the City of Boston delegation feels that the entire conference owes a debt of gratitude to Mr. Edward M. Bassett, counsel to the Zoning Committee of the City of New York, for his extremely able and generous contribution to the zoning deliberations of the conference. The "Zoning Table" created by Mr. Bassett several years ago has come to be recognized as an institution in connection with city planning conferences, and apart from the formal program, an open forum is thus established, morning, noon and night, presided over by Mr. Bassett, for general discussion, technical consideration, expert advice and the interchange of local experiences. In addition to this, the paper presented by Mr. Bassett on "Court Decisions on Zoning Up to Date" met with deserved appreciation in a vote taken authorizing the immediate publication of the same in a form available for distribution.

Although there may be different opinions in different localities with regard to the details of zoning work, there appears to be complete unanimity of opinion with regard to the desirability of the principle involved. It is probably true that every large city in the United States today, and many of the smaller ones, have adopted or are preparing, or have in contemplation, regulations governing the height, area and use of property. In opposition to this practically united demand for orderly development there has been, so far as we are informed, but one definite attempt to defeat the entire measure in any municipality.

Regional planning is another obvious public necessity, and as such was given a prominent place in the deliberations of the meeting. The first paper of the conference by Mr. George B. Ford was devoted to a discussion of "The Principles of Regional or Metropolitan Planning," which Mr. Ford defined as the co-operative solving of problems common to various municipalities within a given unit economic area.

It is interesting to note that in Mr. Ford's review of actual progress in regional or metropolitan planning Boston is credited with the first step—with the creation of the Metropolitan Sewerage Commission in 1889, followed by the Metropolitan Water Board and the Metropolitan Park Commission in 1895 and their consolidation as the Metropolitan District Commission in 1919. Mr. Ford's statement that these bodies have spent to date more than $100,000,000 represented a rather astounding achievement in co-ordinated regional development.

It was also pointed out that within the past few months Chicago has recognized the necessity for metropolitan planning, and methods of procedure are now under consideration. The city of Cleveland, in co-operation with its thirty-eight surrounding municipalities, organized a Metropolitan Planning Commission in 1921 for the purpose of preparing comprehensive thoroughfare plans for the entire area. Pittsburgh has had for four years a County Planning Commission for which legal standing and power is now being sought through legislative act. The City Plan Commission of Cincinnati is at present working out a general regional plan, while a bill has been presented to the Ohio State Legislature providing for the creation of a Regional Planning Commission. Baltimore has recently annexed about sixty square miles of the surrounding territory, which is now included in its city plan. Norfolk, Va., has recently added twenty-seven square miles and its City Planning Commission is also permitted by law to control subdivision plats for a distance of ten to fifteen miles beyond the city limits. Los Angeles County has held six or seven regional planning conferences covering a district about ten miles in diameter, in response to the growing agitation for city and county consolidation. Many of the cities within the county are passing over to it certain of their functions, while the larger municipalities are annexing to themselves surrounding unincorporated territory. The Springfield planning Board has made a regional plan of thoroughfares, trolleys, busses, parks and waterfront development for a radius of ten miles outside of its limits. A Regional Planning Committee has been recently appointed in Buffalo to assist in the development of its metropolitan area, covering 200 square miles. The City Plan Commission of Detroit has made a plan for parks and boulevards in Detroit and adjoining counties, and also a plan for radial thoroughfares extending to a distance of twenty-five miles from the municipality itself. An official regional plan for the London metropolitan area has been started, while similar studies are being carried on in other sections of England, in Berlin, and in South Wales.

The most conspicuous example in our country is the "Plan of New York and Its Environs" recently launched by the Russell Sage Foundation of New York, embracing the whole contributory area within approximately a fifty-mile radius of the City Hall, comprising parts of three states and 399 separate municipal entities.

It is apparent, therefore, that the recent action of the Legislature in authorizing the creation of a Division of Metropolitan Planning within the Metropolitan District Commission is not lacking in precedent, but is entirely in accord with the spirit which has actuated a majority of the other municipalities throughout the United States.

The development of the forty-mile strip between Baltimore and Washington, with improved automobile routes and acres of forests held as state reserves, was discussed as one phase of regional planning. This feature was still further emphasized when, upon invitation of the Board of Trade and the United States Chamber of Commerce, the delegates adjourned to Washington upon conclusion of the Baltimore sessions. There it was apparent to the delegates that the many beautiful buildings of the Capitol city, and particularly the Lincoln Memorial and the great National Cemetery at Arlington, with its magnificent amphitheater and the tomb of the unknown soldier, will eventually be enveloped by dense clouds of factory smoke from proposed commercial development along the Potomac river unless, through the adoption of the principles of zoning and regional planning, the future of the district is protected and assured. Although unsurpassed by any city in the world in point of symmetrical design, impressiveness of public buildings, width of streets and wealth of foliage, Washington suffers from lack of local foresight in many details, some of them directly affecting the personal life and comfort of its people.

An extensive automobile trip afforded opportunity to observe at first hand topographical and housing conditions throughout the city of Baltimore, the street system, public buildings, recreational facilities and other features. Through the courtesy of the Park Department, luncheon was served at Druid Hill Park, where, from the steps of the park building, Mr. J. Cookman Boyd, president of the Park Board, discussed Baltimore's park system as an integral part of the general plan.

An interesting application of the principles of decentralization was shown in the plant of the Maryland Casualty Company, which outgrew its downtown office, and in 1919 purchased a tract of about twenty-five acres in the northern section of Baltimore, twenty minutes by trolley from the heart of the city, where an imposing group of buildings has been erected, including an administration building for the work of the organization, and the club house containing a large auditorium with stage and pipe organ, club rooms, library, restaurant and cafeteria. Opportunity for outdoor recreation is provided in a baseball diamond, tennis courts and a swimming pool. Paralleling this enterprise, an attractive housing development has made rapid progress. Although the buildings have been occupied less than two years, it has long since passed the experimental stage and is recognized as one of the most successful business accomplishments of the community.

A discussion of the port development of Baltimore as an important feature of the city plan was conducted by Mr. Bancroft Hill, harbor engineer, using an accurately prepared model of the whole of the Baltimore waterfront and the land adjacent to it, on a scale of 200 feet to the inch, as a basis for his talk.

Attention was called to the fact that the channel is dredged for the most part to thirty-five feet and that two new terminals are under construction with new piers and warehouses. Several inspection trips were arranged by Mr. Hill for the benefit of those who desired a more intimate knowledge of port conditions, while even the most casual observer could not fail to be impressed by the commercial activity on and about the waterfront itself.

A paper prepared by Mr. Hugh E. Young of Chicago on "Day and Night Storage and Parking of Automobiles" was given close attention. Although the premises and conclusions were naturally based largely upon conditions in his own city, Mr. Young's arguments might nevertheless be considered fundamental and applicable to all communities at the present time. He declared at the outset that "It must be recognized that the street is not a garage, and that the right of a moving vehicle is paramount over that of a standing one."

The suggestions offered by him for the minimization of the parking problem included:

1. The absolute prohibition of parking in the most congested areas of the downtown districts of the city.
2. The placing of a thirty-minute parking limit on other streets in the congested areas.
3. Provision for parking spaces in these areas by the erection of multiple floor garages.
4. The erection of private or municipal multiple floor garages on the edge of the business districts for half-day and day storage of cars.
5. The widening of streets in congested areas, both downtown and in residential districts.
6. The limitation of parking time on the more congested streets in residential districts.

Mr. Young estimated that $60,000,000 is lost each year in American cities because of delays caused by parking, divided between the cost of gasoline burned, the loss of time to business vehicles and the time lost by individuals in traffic jams. The enforcement of the Chicago ordinance prohibiting parking in the Loop area, despite a storm of protest on the part of the automobilists, has resulted in cutting the time required to pass through the Loop to 50 per cent of what it was formerly, while the street cars which formerly were running thirty minutes late through this area now complete that part of their run ten minutes ahead of time. Parking in the business district was pronounced permissible only on streets wide enough to provide for two lines of moving traffic and two rows of parked cars. Mr. Young placed the minimum requirement in the business section of the city at two lines of moving vehicles, which were declared to be four times as efficient as a single moving line. New streets or streets being widened, he maintained, should be not less than 108 feet in width. Even on such thoroughfares the time limit was set at thirty minutes during the day, the curtailment of parking in the business district of cities all over the country being of the utmost importance.

A particularly interesting grouping of maps, plans, diagrams and photographs was on exhibition in connection with the conference, including city planning and zoning studies from New York, Indianapolis, Ind.; Richmond, Va.; Spartanburg, S. C.; Mariemont, Ohio; Andover, Mass.; Norwood, Mass.; St. Petersburg, Fla.; Scranton, Penn.; Baltimore, Md.; Raleigh, N. C.; Memphis, Tenn.; Jackson, Mich.; Buffalo, N. Y.; Springfield, Mass.; Worcester, Mass.; Cincinnati, Ohio; New Haven, Conn.; Philadelphia, Penn.; Rochester, N. Y.; Pittsburgh, Penn.; Fall River, Mass., and Boston.

The hospitality of the Baltimore people is worthy of more than passing mention. City officials, business organizations and individuals, men and women, combined to make the visit of the delegates pleasant as well as profitable.

Special auto trips to points of interest were arranged, including a visit to Annapolis, where the delegation was received by his Excellency Governor Albert C. Ritchie, followed by tea in the executive mansion. The local press also was generous in the space allotted to the proceedings, constructive in its criticisms and courteous in its attitude.

The delegates from the Boston City Planning Board are grateful for the opportunity afforded them and in this brief survey have attempted to set forth only a few of the more outstanding features of the really extensive and comprehensive program.

The election of officers held during the business session at the close of the conference resulted in the choice of: President, George B. Ford, New York; vice president, John Nolen, Cambridge; secretary, Flavel Shurtleff, New York.

Seven new members were chosen to the Board of Directors for a period of three years, viz.: Thomas Adams, Ottawa; Harland Bartholomew, St. Louis; Morris Knowles, Pittsburgh; J. C. Nichols, Kansas City; Lawson Purdy, New York; G. G. Whitnall, Los Angeles; F. B. Williams, New York.

It was also voted that the next annual session should be held in Los Angeles, Calif., in 1924. This decision was reached after it was shown that meetings thus far have been held in Washington, Rochester, Philadelphia, Chicago, Toronto, Detroit, Boston, Cleveland, Kansas City, Buffalo, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Springfield and Baltimore, attended in every case by delegates from the Pacific Coast, who have made no small contribution to the city planning movement of the country.

In conclusion, the National Conference on City Planning was organized in 1909, when a small group of pioneers gathered in Washington at the invitation of the Committee on the District of Columbia of the United States Senate. At that time Hartford, Conn., led the cities of the United States by the appointment of a planning commission. This was followed closely in the same year by Baltimore, the second city to take the step. There was at that time only one city, Chicago, that had adopted a comprehensive plan. By 1915 fifty cities had established planning commissions. In 1920 zoning had been adopted as an essential part of development by New York City, St. Louis, Milwaukee and Washington. At present more than 110 cities have zoning ordinances and 180 cities have planning commissions, while city planning and zoning have been authorized by legislation in one half the cities of the United States.

Respectfully submitted,

MARY A. BARR, Member.
E. M. HERLIHY,
Secretary.

Investigator.

HERBERT A. WILSON,

General Order No. 303.

A trial board, consisting of Captains Driscoll, Dailey and Mason, having heard by reference a complaint against Patrolmen Wilfred D. Mulligan, Harold F. Alexander and John J. Bogue, all of Division 9, charging them with neglect of duty, in that while on duty, the said patrolmen did "enter the rear room of the waiting room of the Boston Elevated Railway Company at 440 Blue Hill avenue, Grove Hall, for a purpose other than police work, without first asking directly or by telephone the permission of the officer in charge of his station and without giving his reason and the probable length of his absence and naming the place to which he intended to go," has reported to the commissioner a finding of guilty with a recommendation that each patrolman perform two hundred and ten hours' punishment duty.

I deem it expedient at this time to reiterate in substance to the members of the force what I said in General Order No. 245 of March 19, 1923, relative to officers leaving their routes and entering buildings not in the performance of their duties. I called attention to the seriousness of this violation of the rules and that punishment commensurate with the offence would be imposed for future violations.

I believe the violations in the above complaints to be deliberate and without excuse. The evidence showed that these three officers entered the waiting room of the building of the Boston Elevated Railway Company with no purpose other than to misspend their time and were it not for the excellent recommendations given them by their commanding officer, I would feel obliged to impose the extreme penalty of dismissal; but in view of their previous good conduct and the excellent reputations given them, I will accept the recommendation of the trial board, which also took into consideration these facts in arriving at its finding, and impose the punishment recommended by the Board. It is therefore hereby ordered that Patrolmen Wilfred D. Mulligan, Harold F. Alexander and John J. Bogue each perform two hundred and ten hours' punishment duty.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 300.

A trial board consisting of Captains Driscoll, Dailey and Mason, having heard by reference a complaint against Patrolman James E. Taylor of Division 10, charging him with neglect of duty, has reported to the commissioner a finding of not guilty. In accordance with which it is hereby ordered that the complaint against the said Patrolman James E. Taylor be dismissed.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 301.

The resignation of Patrolman Henry G. Sturgill of Division 15 having been presented while charges are pending against him, it is hereby accepted, to take effect Thursday, May 31, 1923, at 7.45 o'clock a. m., seven days' notice waived.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 306.

It has been a gratification to me to learn through recent reports from the commanding officers of several of the divisions that the Schaefer or prone method of resuscitation is well understood and frequently made use of by the police.

On May 19 Sergt. Cornelius H. Donovan and Patrolmen John J. Dwyer and John J. Dunn of Division 3 were called into a dwelling house in Phillips street, where they found a middle-aged woman lying in bed apparently dead from the illuminating gas which was escaping from an open jet in the ceiling.

Each of the officers in turn attempted to resuscitate her by use of the Schaefer method, but after working over her for forty-five minutes the woman was pronounced dead by the doctor who had been called in.

On the evening of May 24 Patrolmen Jacob M. Christensen and Thomas F. Joyce of Division 10 were called into a house in Drew place by a woman and found her husband lying in an unconscious condition on the kitchen floor, with the gas escaping from the end of a tube which had been disconnected from the gas stove and was hanging down near his head. One of the officers immediately applied the Schaefer method of resuscitation to the unconscious man while the other officer called the ambulance, and upon its arrival both officers, continuing the treatment, accompanied him to the hospital where he was held for treatment, and although his name was placed on the dangerous list at the time of admission he afterwards recovered.

On May 28 Patrolmen Daniel K. Eldridge, Albert F. Varner and Richard S. McKee of Division 7 were sent to a house on Condon street, where they found that a boy of twelve years had attempted to commit suicide by turning on and inhaling gas in the kitchen of his home and was then lying on his bed in an unconscious condition.

The boy was removed at once to the East Boston Relief Hospital, accompanied by Patrolmen Varner and Mc-Kee, who used the Schaefer method of resuscitation on him while in the auto-patrol, with such good results, that he had recovered consciousness when he arrived at the hospital where he was kept for treatment.

It gives me pleasure to learn that the police are making such excellent use of the instructions given to them in the department, and I warmly commend all the above-named officers for the intelligence, perseverance and humanity shown by them in thus coming to the aid of their unfortunate fellow citizens.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

WARNS DELINQUENT TAXPAYERS.

City Collector William M. McMorrow has issued a warning to delinquent taxpayers that the 1922 bills must be paid on or before June 15, or the properties involved will be advertised and sold. The first advertisement will appear in the City Record of June 16. It will run for two succeeding Saturdays, and the sale will be held Wednesday, July 11.

This policy of the collector is in accordance with chapter 128 of the Acts of 1923, under which tax collectors must collect all unpaid taxes within one year from October 1, in the year of assessment. The Tax Commissioner has recently called attention to the fact that this act is effective on June 15 and that it applies to the unpaid taxes of 1922.

Anticipating the passage of this act, Collector McMorrow has made unusual efforts since last fall to secure unpaid accounts promptly, with the result that of a total warrant of $42,192,835.46 there had been collected, up to May 31 last, $39,957,878.49. The amount of real estate taxes of 1922 outstanding is $2,220,184.18. The amount of 1921 taxes uncollected is $262,597.46.

Announcement is made also by Collector McMorrow that if the City Council accepts the provisions of a recent act sponsored by Mayor Curley, under which water rates become a lien on real estate, he will enforce the powers given him by advertising for sale all parcels where the water rate has remained unpaid for sixty days.

REPORTS CITIZENSHIP CONFERENCE.

Mayor Curley has received the following letter and report of the annual meeting of the National American Council:

YOUR HONOR,—In accordance with your request I attended as a representative of the City of Boston the annual meeting of the National American Council held in Washington, D. C., Thursday, May 24. So far as I could ascertain Boston was the only city officially represented at the conference. The other representatives were from various national and local organizations. The purpose of the conference was to formulate a plan by which the National American Council proposes to bring about more effective co-ordination of activities by various groups throughout the country engaged in patriotic and civic warfare work, especially the promotion of good citizenship.

President Harding and General Pershing addressed the conference. The addresses have been generally reported in the newspapers.

Investigation shows that the National American Council is based upon plans formulated by a small group of New York City men and women. It has no official standing at present. It is simply a volunteer organization offering its services. The offer has not yet been accepted, but is under consideration by the Federal Council of Citizenship Training. The Federal Council of Citizenship Training has been created by executive order of the President "to make constructive suggestions as to how the federal offices may co-operate to secure more effective citizenship training, both in their own work and in co-operation with all other public and private agencies throughout the country."

Representatives of twelve government departments form the Federal Council. The chairman of the council is the Commissioner of Education, Hon. J. J. Tigert; the secretary is Dr. R. C. Mann, chairman of the Advisory Board of the General Staff of the War Department.

The Federal Council has been formed to carry out the third section of the plan for training for citizenship and national defence which was formulated as a result of a conference held in Washington last November under the supervision of Secretary of War Weeks. This conference resulted in a report to the President, who in turn issued an executive order creating the Federal Council. The other two factors of the national preparedness plans are, first, the army and national guard and the navy; and second, the R. O. T. C. and training camps. The authority to carry out the plan nation-wide rests in the Federal Council. Mr. Mero, who was present with me at the conference last Thursday, looked into this phase of the matter more in detail than I had an opportunity to do, and he will be able to inform you as to the attitude of the government officials at Washington relative to active participation by local communities such as the City of Boston. I wish to take this opportunity to thank you for the honor which you conferred by appointing me as Boston's representative at this conference, which in my opinion has interesting and important future possibilities.

Very truly yours,

ADDISON L. WINSHIP.

BOSTON READY FOR MASONS.

An attache of the Mayor's office made a tour of the line of parade of the Masonic Clubs of America, who convene in Boston all next week, and found that most of the business houses had already arranged to decorate in honor of the visitors. Scores of merchants have already done their decorating.

The parade, which will be one of the outstanding features of the convention, will take place on Wednesday, forming at the corner of Arlington and Boylston streets, marching along Boylston street to Tremont street, to Temple place, to Washington street, to School street, reviewed by Mayor Curley, to the State House, reviewed by Governor Cox, and dismissed at the corner of Beacon and Charles streets.

While it is especially fitting that this line of march shall be one blaze of national colors, it is expected that all the business houses in the city, as well as private citizens, will do everything in the way of display during the entire week that will serve to make this fine body of American citizens feel at home.

ACCEPTANCE OF THE MINIMUM RETIREMENT ACT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, May 28, 1923.

To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—I recommend herewith the immediate adoption of the accompanying order providing for the acceptance of chapter 426 of the Acts of 1923, entitled "An Act Relative to Minimum Retirement Allowances for Members of the Boston Retirement System Retired for Superannuation."

This act is an amendment to the Boston Retirement Act, presented for the purpose of protecting the interests of the lower paid employees of the city. It provides for a minimum retirement allowance of $480 per annum for employees who have become members of the Retirement System and whose length of service has been at least fifteen years. This perfecting amendment provides a measure of protection for some 3,700 employees of the city nearly twice as great as they would otherwise have had. It marks the most forward step ever taken in the history of the Commonwealth in the matter of retirement pensions for municipal city employees. The condition if compulsorily retired without this amendment in force would be most unfortunate. It represents an advance of 333 per cent in excess of the old Laborer's Pension Act and renders it possible for the lower paid employees of the city who are retired on pension to receive a sum at least sufficient to meet the necessities of life when they have arrived at that period in life when they are no longer able to toil.

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That chapter 426 of the Acts of 1923, entitled, "An Act Relative to Minimum Retirement Allowances for Members of the Boston Retirement System Retired for Superannuation," be and the same is hereby accepted.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

STANDARD FIRE APPARATUS.

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, May 17, 1923.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I have forward herewith, in response to your order of May 14, report submitted by a board of experts, consisting of Professor G. A. Moxhead, a leading Institute of Technology; Charles Stewart, former supervisor of motor apparatus of the Boston Fire Department, and Guy C. Emerson, retaining engineer of the Boston Fire Commission, made under the administration of my predecessor and submitted to him.

I accept the judgment of this committee of experts for the reason that, so far as I have been able to ascertain, the apparatus which the department has been purchasing of late years has given satisfaction and is accepted by the department as standard.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Boston, December 23, 1918.

Hon. Andrew J. Peters, Mayor:

Sir,—The undersigned, members of the special committee requested by your Honor to undertake investigations with a view to recommending the manufacturer of motor-driven fire apparatus whose products should be adopted by the City of Boston as standards for future purchases, have made careful investigations of the matter, so far as facilities for such investigations could be obtained, and have compiled submit herewith a report of the methods employed and the conclusions reached.

1. The committee, after a general consideration of the problem, was unanimously of opinion that the most efficient type of apparatus in the testing of fire apparatus were not the best to be used at the present time, and that certain customer considerations, which are of the most important could be dispensed with in this investigation.

For example, the committee did not find that the mechanical apparatus, such as were conducted in the investigation of 1912 and carried out under the direction of Professor Gallup of the Worcester Polytechnic Institute, were at all necessary. The perfection of the gasoline motor for automobile purposes has reached such a stage of reliability that it may be safely assumed that serious defects will not be found in the future. No longer be found and that all of the types of apparatus worth consideration would contain motors not liable to develop serious defects. The operation possible with a block test, and also that these motors would all show a satisfactory degree of efficiency as regards power developed and fuel consumption.

2. The committee believes that, on account of the small difference in the prices charged by the different manufacturers, the matter of first cost is a comparatively unimportant consideration. The committee has given brief consideration to the tests to determine the efficiency of the pumping apparatus with which various manufacturers equip their apparatus. It has been found that the committee should be that all evidence before the committee should be of the three types of pumps used for pumping water on motor-driven apparatus, that is, centrifugal, gear and piston pumps, can with proper design be made to give satisfactory service. The selection of any of the types must be largely a matter of opinion, and choice is perhaps often influenced by prejudice rather than by any inherent superiority for fire purposes which one type of pump has over another.

The committee has therefore conducted its investigation with the object of determining the make of apparatus which is most reliable in operation, and has been of opinion that the committee has based its conclusions on facts derived from experience in Boston and other cities rather than from theory.

At the investigations the committee sent a letter of invitation to all manufacturers of standard types of fire apparatus who, under any possibility, would have facilities for furnishing apparatus to the City of Boston. Twenty-five firms were included in this list. The answers to this letter showed that trade and other conditions existing at the time greatly reduced the number of manufacturers whose apparatus was available for consideration. The inability of companies to supply apparatus during times of financial straits, changes of plants to war work, or on account of fire apparatus being a side line to the manufacture of a standard type of automobile chassis which they at times equipped with fire-extinguishing apparatus.

The committee, believing that the best interests of the city would be served by the apparatus of companies of undoubted financial stability, who specialize in fire apparatus, do not feel that any important loss has been sustained on account of the inability of such classes of manufacturers as are above mentioned to submit apparatus for examination.

The committee has been assisted in its investigations by data furnished from the very complete records kept by the Fire Department of the City of Boston, and the cost of repairs of its motor-driven apparatus. It has also received valuable information from the department officials of the cities of New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, and from Cambridge, Somerville and other neighboring cities.

The committee has tabulated the information relating to the efficiency of operation received from these various cities and towns, as well as the records of the City of Boston department, and has been able to make a greater and more correct basis of cost per mile of run. This method makes possible direct comparisons between the various makes used by the different cities. The figures in these tabulations under the limitations above outlined indicated clearly to the committee that the work before them was reduced to a consideration of the apparatus manufactured by three companies.

The apparatus built by each of the three companies appeared to be of great reliability and to possess many features which showed its superiority to the apparatus of other manufacturers. Each of the three companies whose apparatus was considered was of great financial responsibility and likely to remain continuously in the business of manufacturing fire apparatus. Each also either maintains service stations in the City of Boston or has a factory so near as to render a supply of spare parts quickly available. The matter of spare parts, however, is one thing in case of single type of apparatus is adopted by the city can be easily taken care of by maintaining a supply in the shops of the department.

The weak points of the machines selected, as shown by experience in Boston, New York and other cities, have been carefully tabulated and weak parts examined with regard to mechanical construction and texture of materials. Accidents that are plainly the result of carelessness on the part of fire department employees have been eliminated from consideration. The weights of machines and the distribution of weight as it affects the operation of apparatus on the rough streets of the City of Boston, as well as ease of control, have been given due consideration. In view of all the conditions considered, the committee is unanimously of the opinion that the interests of the City of Boston at the present time would be best served by the purchase of apparatus manufactured by the American company, the Francis Fire Engine Company, Inc.

3. The committee realizes that motor-driven fire apparatus is still in process of development and that all the types now considered will no doubt be improved in the future and that other makes not now deemed worthy of consideration will yet be of the same state of efficiency. On the other hand, it believes that such development will only be in minor details and that all types will gradually approach the same standard. Therefore there is little chance of any development of another make of fire apparatus that would render the product of the American LaFrance Company obsolete or markedly inferior in the near future.

Respectfully submitted,

Engineer, Finance Commission.

Formerly Supervisor of Motor Apparatus,

INCREASE FOR LABORERS, ETC.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, May 14, 1923.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—Replying to the order adopted by the City Council under date of May 7, 1923, expressing an opinion that an increase should be granted to laborers, elevator employees, and mechanics of 50 cents per day, I beg to state that this question has had my earnest consideration, as outlined in previous conferences with your honorable body, for more than a year and it would indeed be a source of real pleasure to grant the proposed increases provided the city's finances and a sound policy would permit of my doing so. As the City Council is aware, there are certain honorable obligations which the city has assumed and which as a matter of honor it justly should be fulfilled but which it will be impossible to fulfill provided the order adopted by the City Council under date of May 7, 1923, is complied with.

Provision has been made in the budget for the expenditure of all monies that under the law may be expended for the present fiscal year. Consequently, it is financially an impossibility to comply with your order.

The city government by the adoption of the two-plant system which becomes effective in February of 1924 will be required to expend a sum estimated at $400,000 in addition to the amount annually expended at the present time for the operation of the Fire Department.

The expense of the Boston Retirement Act it is estimated will entail an additional expenditure of $700,000. Consequently, it will require at least six months of economical and efficient administration of city business to husband the amount that will be required to put in operation the increases proposed in the order of May 7, 1923, without further increasing the tax rate. It is my earnest wish that the tax rate be reduced, or in any event that we avoid increasing it, as an increase, regardless of how slight it may be, is invariably seized upon as a pretext for the advancing of rents. It has been possible to prevent any general increase in the rent of places of habitation during the past year by avoiding an increase in the city and I am extremely desirous that the city be in a position to safeguard the rent payers next year.

I have a profound realization of how important it is that the standard of wages for the lowest paid employees of the city be the highest that it is possible for the city in equity to pay for two reasons: First, that the standard established by the city is helpful in establishing the rate paid by private concerns, and second, because of the increased benefits from the standpoint of health and education that will accrue to the families of the workers.

It was my privilege as a member of the City Council to present and compel the enactment of the first laborers' union act adopted in the history of this Commonwealth and it was likewise my very great privilege to grant an increase in the pay of the lowest paid employees in minor positions of the city during my first term as Mayor.

Recognizing that the salaried employees who have never enjoyed the protection of organizations have been the real sufferers as a result of the increased cost of living due to the fact that there has been no corresponding increase in their wages, and in regard to the fact to give them prior consideration both last year and this year and this has been done.

It is my purpose to make provision in the budget for 1924 for an increase of 50 cents per day in the salary of all laborers, and of all other employees who may properly come within these classifications. I nevertheless recognize that I will only be able to consummate this program through efficient and economical administration of the city's business during the present year.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

FIRE HOUSE, ABERDEEN DISTRICT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, May 14, 1923.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—I beg to state in reply to the order of the City Council adopted under date of May 7, 1923, that in the opinion of the Chief of the Fire Department a new fire house should be located in the Aberdeen district, Ward 25, but in view of the fact that fire stations are also necessary in the Back Bay and in certain other sections of the city, where development on a major scale has been in progress during the past five years, it will be necessary to postpone action until next year.

A most important need of the Fire Department at the present time is a location free from fire hazard for the fire alarm system and the erection and equipment of such a station will represent an expenditure in excess of $500,000. The amount necessary for the fire signal station would be sufficient to provide for the new fire houses that the city requires, but the protection of the fire alarm system is more important than the establishment of new houses at the present time. I shall, however, be pleased to make the necessary provision in 1924 for the location of fire houses in those sections of the city where at the present time they are needed.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

think the hour has arrived when, as well as taking care of those who are sick, we should have some serious thought and consideration to the adoption of preventive measures in this town that might relieve the pressure upon the City Hospital by preventing sickness, through giving thousands of children an opportunity to enjoy a few weeks' vacation during the summer months under the healthful conditions which would be secured if established at Rainsford Island. I present this order at this time, Mr. Chairman, not in the detail that I have given, but simply to bring the matter to the attention of the City Council in connection with the order submitted by the Mayor asking for the right to sell the Island. It seems to me as if these matters ought to be considered at one and the same time, and that every angle of this important question should be considered by different departments of the city, who might be called in for consultation, thus getting the advantage of the thought of those who are giving their time and their energy to a consideration of the needs of the congested districts of Boston, who would welcome and would be glad to assist in anything that would add to the health of the people in these sections, as well as to their comfort and pleasure. All such institutions, as well as individuals interested in that subject, could give their assistance, their thought, along the line of the establishment of some such a helpful recreation plant, under municipal endowment and municipal control. I present this order at this time and ask that it be referred to the Executive Committee, where it is going to receive the consideration that I think such an important subject justly deserves.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

LAND FOR BURIAL PURPOSES.

Coun. HAGAN offered the following:

City of Boston.
In the Year Nineteen Hundred and

An Ordinance Concerning Use of Land for Burial Purposes.
Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, as follows:

Except in the case of the erection or use of a tomb on private land for the exclusive use of the family of the owner, no land within the city limits shall be used for the erection or appropriation for burial purposes other than the land already so used or appropriated.

Referred to the Executive Committee on motion of Coun. HAGAN.

ARTISTIC SUBWAY APPROACHES.

Coun. LANE offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to confer with the Transit Commission, the City Planning Board and the Art Commission, with a view of endeavoring to replace the present subway entrances and exits on Boston Common with structures less unattractive and more in keeping with the character of the surroundings.

Coun. LANE—Mr. President, I move a suspension of the rule that this order may go on its passage at the present time, because a great number of years the citizens of Boston have been forced to look upon the subway stations on Boston Common as something of an eyesore to everyone who comes in contact with them. When they were erected, back in 1898, they were facetiously called the "Public Library pumps." I think the Mayor for that has gone by and that we might now call them the museums under which are buried the 5-cent fares! As subway construction has gone on it has been found that much smaller edifices can be erected that will answer the purpose. The City of New York, for instance with its vast system of subways, has attractive stations and the very best room serving all the purposes of a much greater traveling population than we have here. Then, on Boylston street at Copley Square Station and also at Arlington street, we have edifices that accommodate the people and yet are not an eyesore. I think one may have some such edifices which the Elevated Road which serves the subway stations.

Chairman GILBODY—It has been suggested that we include Scollay square and Dock square in the same order.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, it is my thought that while the widening of Cambridge street will have a bearing on the matter in the next five years, there is a very serious problem, which is growing more serious all the time, in Scollay square, in the structure there. There is a continuous threat to the traveling public, men, women and children. It is, I think, the worst spot in the City of Boston, and I don't believe there is another spot like it anywhere, any place where such a structure as we see there so restricts and limits the traffic, creating in danger to the public. Perhaps it will be expensive to correct the situation, but I believe there will be a good return on the investment when we consider the safety of the community and the improvement of traffic conditions. It has been suggested by Coun. Lane that we ought to add Scollay square, at least, and I believe that is true. I haven't so much interest in Dock square, because I don't think the congestion there is anything like as great as in Scollay square. It might be well to add an amendment including Haymarket square and Adams and Scollay squares. Those stations are also eyesores.

Coun. LANE—That is true. And there is also the congestion in those squares which has to be considered. Of course, I was considering the fact that these stations on the Common to detract from the beauty of the Common. I might say that even a teamster once spoke to me about that. He said that Boston Common was a beautiful place and that these subway stations were an eyesore to him, as he believed they were to all the people who passed up Tremont street. Tremont street is, you might say, our show street, the Broadway of Boston, and anybody passing up the street cannot help being disagreeably impressed by the appearance of those subway stations. I think in a city like Boston, which is supposed to be the center of art and culture, the first thing we should do here is to have those subway stations removed, at least in their present form.

The order was amended by including subway stations in Haymarket, Adams and Scollay squares, and as amended was passed.

THOMAS H. DONLEY SQUARE.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That the open space at the junction of Asland street and Brown avenue, Roslindale, be named Thomas H. Donley square, in memory of said Donley, who died in the United States service during the World War, and that suitable signs be placed there to designate it as a square.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

SALARIES OF ASSISTANT LIBRARIANS.

Coun. BRICKLEY offered an order—That his Honor the Mayor be requested to take the necessary steps to have the salaries of the assistant librarians increased at the rate of $100 per annum.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS, EAST BOSTON.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order—That the Commissioner of Public Works be requested, through his Honor the Mayor, to cause Lexington, Princeton and Marion streets, East Boston, to be properly lighted with electric arc lights, as such lighting is a matter of public necessity and convenience.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

SOLDIERS' RELIEF.

Coun. GILBODY offered an order—That under the provisions of chapter 115 of the General Laws and acts in amendment thereof or in addition thereto, the amounts set forth in the list of allowances for the month of May, 1923, of aid to soldiers and sailors and their families residing in the City of Boston or having a settlement there, be hereby approved and paid until otherwise ordered, unless the person named shall previously become ineligible to receive said aid.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 3:09 p. m., on motion of Coun. WALSH, to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the chamber and were called to order by the President at 4:30 p. m.

WAR MEMORIAL PARK AT WOOD ISLAND TO BE CITY BEAUTY SPOT.

PARK DEPARTMENT, UNDER MAYOR CURLEY, SPENDING
$100,000 ON WOOD ISLAND, EAST BOSTON, AS LASTING HONOR TO WORLD WAR HEROES OF THAT DISTRICT.

BIRD'S-EYE VIEW, LOOKING FROM THE SEA, OF WAR MEMORIAL PARK INTO WHICH WOOD ISLAND IS BEING TURNED BY PARK DEPARTMENT UNDER MAYOR CURLEY. NEW BATHING FACILITIES, LOCKERS, FIELDS FOR ATHLETICS, ETC., INCLUDED IN PROPOSED EXPENDITURE OF $100,000.

When the transformation now going on at Wood Island Park, East Boston, under the direction of Mayor Curley, through the Park Department, is completed, Boston will have one of the finest memorial parks and athletic open-air centers of any municipality in the country. When completed the park is to be known as World War Memorial Park, in honor of the heroes from the East Boston district who fought in the World War. The costs of the improvement will amount to about $100,000, of which already $75,000 has been appropriated.

This park, formerly known as Wood Island Park, is to be improved by the Park Department under plans prepared by Arthur A. Shurtleff, landscape architect for the commission, in conference with Mayor Curley and interested citizens. Briefly the plan calls for an improvement in the ball field, giving space for two full-size diamonds with adequate bleachers to accommodate two or three thousand persons. Around this field a substantial wire fence will be erected, similar to those used elsewhere in the Park System, and strong backstops will be provided for the diamonds. The present field will be regraded and drained to provide a good playing surface. The present tennis courts will be removed to a position within the present oval.

As the present bathing beach has been rendered unsatisfactory by silting caused by the recent filling operations on neighboring land, a new beach will be provided for the park on the site indicated. A bath house for the accommodation of bathers will be constructed at a central point on this beach, opposite the ball field.

The present grass field for the accommodation of soccer football will be widened and a parking space will be provided for motors near the end of Neptune road. The present footbridge at the southerly end of the park will be repaired.

These improvements for the park as a whole, in combination with the existing woodlands and attractive footways, will make the World War Memorial Park one of the most useful and attractive recreation spaces of the city.

MAYOR FEATURES FLAG DAY EXERCISES OF BOSTON LODGE OF ELKS ON COMMON.

EXALTS VIRTUES AND TRADITIONS HANDED DOWN TO US BY ORIGINATORS OF FLAG WHO SUFFERED AS WELL AS DIED FOR IT—THEN CHALLENGES KU KLUXISM.

Address of Mayor Curley delivered on Boston Common Wednesday, June 13, Flag Day exercises of Boston Lodge of Elks:

It is an exceeding pleasure as a member of Boston Lodge of Elks No. 10, as well as Mayor of Boston, to be permitted to say a word upon this occasion dedicated to the most inspiring emblem with the exception of the cross of the Crucified Christ that the world has ever known, the American flag. It is an exceeding privilege and one which I regard as a great opportunity to say a word at a time when certain uneasiness is manifest in certain quarters of our own land and when an element of the population whose first allegiance should be to the American flag is apparently placed elsewhere.

I want to see the American nation and the American people work out their own problems before assuming any more international burdens. We have not worked them out yet and we have a long road to travel before they are worked out. We must establish in free America a higher degree of economic justice before we can develop the same love for this flag that was displayed by the women and men through whose sacrifice and service the flag became a reality. No more tragic story can be found than that which is disked by the American flag.

We, as Americans, are custodians of every tradition and every ideal which the American flag represents. What are the traditions and what are the ideals? The American flag came into the life of the world at a most critical period from the sainted and sacred hand of Betsy Ross, who with every thread woven in the making of the American flag shed a tear, a tear for the soldiers and sailors in the rugged, unfed army of Washington, who had not known victory until the coming of the American flag, and with the coming of the flag, divinely sent if you will, never suffered a defeat.

Through the lapse of years we see John Paul Jones with his good ship, the "Bonhomme Richard," sinking under him and an English officer of the "Serapis" calling on him to surrender, and John Paul Jones sending back a typical American reply, "Surrender! Damn it, we have not begun to fight yet." That was the spirit of the colonial soldier and sailor; that was the spirit that actuated Washington and his army. This flag was with Washington at Valley Forge and brought success to the movement for the founding of free government on this continent. This flag was a living witness of the severe winter at Valley Forge, where there were thousands of soldiers with limited supplies of food and clothing, many of whom had neither shoes nor stockings, and whose weary march might be traced for hundreds of miles by the blood on snow and ice from their bleeding feet.

This flag and the American republic mean more to the world than practically all else combined. This flag gave to the world religious freedom; under this flag free speech became possible. Through the instrumentality and the inspiration of this flag it was possible to destroy the divine right theory on this continent; it was possible to crumple it in part on the shores of Europe.

This old flag comes down to us freighted with the memory of our republic; comes down to us blessed with the memory of that great son of Virginia who wrote the word "equality" in the Declaration of Independence, Thomas Jefferson; comes down with the blessed memory of the most inspiring figure the world has known in eighteen centuries, the Emancipator, Abraham Lincoln.

And yet with all of the history, with all of the service, with all of the sacrifice that the flag represents, there are men in America who would substitute some other emblem for the American flag. Never so long as men are familiar with the history of our country will we substitute the sheet of the cowardly Ku Klux Klan for the flag of free America.

Never so long as women and men are familiar with the service and sacrifice of the colonial fathers and mothers will we substitute the flag of Bolshevism or any other flag. A professor at one of our colleges within the last week, coming out of his shell like a snail, as they all come out in June to preach to people who are in a work-a-day world for twelve months a year, said "the time has come for America to be the leader in the world."

America has been the leader of the world for humanitarianism and America is going to continue to be the leader, but will not shoulder the burden or pay the bills of Europe any longer.

I say to the professor, we are the leader, let Europe follow our example. Put kings and queens at work. They would make excellent conductors or dishwashers. We paid the bills long enough and they have not even paid the interest to say nothing of the principal. They would like to have another war over there; they would like us to send some four million men to help keep tinsel on some puny head. It is about time to think of America, and let internationalists who love some other country better than they love America go back there—the "Leviathan" will soon sail.

We have a few troubles of our own to solve. We nearly froze here last winter for lack of coal, and many have been inconvenienced during the last ninety days by lack of sugar. Why should this condition obtain? Let us act for ourselves for a change. We have been acting for others long enough, paying their bills and shedding blood for them. I would like to see this land of ours what the fathers and founders intended it should be—a land of absolute equality and equal opportunity for all men and women. Equality was the inspiration that made possible the growth from thirteen states to forty-eight states, and that made possible the development from three millions of souls to a hundred and twenty million.

There are three elements in American life that are worth watching—one, the individual that would have us do the work that should be done by the hired soldiery of Europe; second, the Reds; third, the advocates of special privileges. Internationalism will never destroy America; the Reds will never destroy America; the real menace is the menace of special privilege, which must be cured. We need in America one law for all the people without regard to financial, political or social status. The guarantees of the fathers must be kept. There is an element in American life that would drive out the negro, the Jew and the Catholic.

Here on Boston Common, within sight of the Parkman Bandstand, we have erected in enduring bronze and granite a monument to the heroes of the Boston massacre, Crispus Attacks, the negro, and Patrick Carr, the Irishman, and it was the generosity of the Jew that made possible the completion of Bunker Hill Monument. The time has come in the life of this nation when creed, color and race, which after all are the accident of birth, must be disregarded and when men must be accepted on character and service to the best flag in the world, the American flag.

I would like to see a greater degree of economic justice obtain in America. I would like to see the children of America enjoy a guaranty of physical and mental development until they have arrived to at least the age of sixteen; I would like to see men and women protected in industry; and I would like to see women and men who are broken down in industry receive a guaranty of old age pensions when unable to work.

We have always prided ourselves on the part taken by Massachusetts along humanitarian lines. We rejoiced that we were one of the first states of the Union to adopt Mother's Day and one of the first states to protect women and children in industry. But Pennsylvania two months ago adopted the Old Age Pension Act. If Pennsylvania can adopt the Old Age Pension Act it is proper that Massachusetts stand side by side with Pennsylvania for the adoption of the Old Age Pension Act. They say they must study and consider it. Why, they would study and consider for the next twenty-five years.

Now, my friends, in conclusion I want to say that Flag Day should not be one day in the year with us; it should be something carried in our hearts during the entire 365 days of the year, carried with a realization of all the sacrifices and all the suffering the good women and men have endured for nearly 1,800 years, that a land might be established in which liberty of speech and liberty of religion might be obtained and one in which every individual might enjoy the blessings of equality and liberty.

Ours is a great heritage. Ours is a great responsibility. Let us live true to the traditions of the flag, and if we do we will leave to those who come after us a better government and more humane government and one in which more regard for the rights of the individual and more consideration for all who live under the best flag ever known in the history of the world, our flag, Old Glory, will obtain.

PERMIT FOR OVERTIME.

The Mayor has approved the request of John H. L. Noves, chairman of the Street Laying-Out Department, in order to facilitate the preparation of plans for the Cambridge street improvement, to employ a part of the surveying force in overtime work to be paid at the rate of time and a half.

MAYOR CURLEY WELCOMES MASONS TO BOSTON WITH THRILLING ADDRESS.

PLEADS FOR TRUE AMERICAN SPIRIT, BROAD, TOLERANT, AND NATIONAL, WHICH WILL INSPIRE LOVE OF GOD, COUNTRY, AND IDEALS OF FOUNDERS OF NATION AS WELL AS STAMP OUT ANARCHY AND TREASON.

The Mayor of Boston, the Hon. James M. Curley, addressing the Convention of the National League of Masonic Clubs at the Copley-Plaza Hotel on the opening day said in substance:

In the five and a half years during which I have been Mayor of this city I have extended the hospitality of the city to more than two thousand such meetings as this. Yet I have never been so greatly inspired as I have at this meeting, which has been opened with the acknowledgment of the fact that all we are and all we hope to be we owe to God Almighty and to our country.

It has been an ample reply to the story in the press today, concerning the literature of a vicious propaganda issued surreptitiously and without your authority at your headquarters, but which you have proved that you and your organization are in no way responsible for. No body of men, whose first thoughts on an occasion of this sort are for God and country, can be anything else but the highest type of citizens.

We need an American spirit, a broad, tolerant, national spirit, which will inspire all Americans to love God and their country, to maintain the ideals of the fathers of this nation and to stamp out anarchy, discord, treason and contempt for law.

MAYOR WELCOMES MASONIC POLICE FROM PHILADELPHIA.

Bearing a letter from Mayor John H. Moore of Philadelphia, the Lambskin Club of that city, a Masonic organization consisting of police, firemen and park guards, visited City Hall, Wednesday and were received by Mayor Curley.

Mayor Moore, in his letter to Mayor Curley, commended his associates.

In reply Mayor Curley said:

"It is a very great pleasure to welcome to the City of Boston the delegation from so renowned a city as Philadelphia; doubly so because of the fact that I am privileged so serve four years in Congress with my friend, your Mayor.

"Boston and Philadelphia have had much in common from the beginning of our government. I congratulate the city of Philadelphia and the state of Pennsylvania on having put upon the statute books the most humane measure of legislation adopted in the history of our country, the old age pension act. I am studying that document with interest as it is my purpose as Governor in 1925 that a similar law be placed upon the statute books of Massachusetts.

"Boston and Philadelphia have much in common commercially and they should work together for port development, without which neither Philadelphia or Boston can grow.

"America needs a ship subsidy that will give our ships an equal chance with the ships of the world and our American sailors an equal chance with the sailors of the world. It is for such a ship subsidy

I am glad that you have chosen to meet in this city. No other in the land contains so many patriotic shrines, so many reminders of patriotic achievement, so many inspirations to patriotic pride. I beg of you to visit these sacred spots and go away full of the high purpose to do your part in the building up of this American spirit.

During the war every race and creed in our varied citizenship evolved a genuine national American spirit. We owe it to America and to humanity to try to strengthen and preserve this spirit for all time. One way to do it is to open all meetings and gatherings with a profession of love for God and our country, as you have done today.

There is a disposition on the part of many cynically minded people today to show contempt for the men of the "Mayflower," and to belittle that greatest of all human documents, the Constitution. A desire to rewrite the history of America is manifested. The records of the Pilgrims and Puritans are raked over for evidence of their weaknesses and excesses.

We must stand by their record of achievement, instead of stressing the frailties that are common to all humanity. They left us this precious heritage, the American Republic, and that other precious heritage, a liberal government in which kings and titled tyrants have no part.

that Boston and Philadelphia must work together, for the best nation on the face of the Globe, the best flag in the world and the best citizenship on earth."

PUBLIC LIBRARY MASONIC EXHIBITION.

In recognition of the presence of a large number of Masons in the city, the Boston Public Library has arranged an exhibition of books relating to the history of Freemasonry. Among the interesting exhibits are a number of works devoted to George Washington as a Freemason, including "An Eulogy on the Life, Character and Services of Brother George Washington, deceased, Pronounced at the Old South Meeting House, Boston, Tuesday, February 11, 1800, by Brother Timothy Bigelow"; a facsimile of Benjamin Franklin's account with the Lodge of Masons, 1731-1737; and a facsimile of a list of the members of the Holy Lodge of St. John, Boston, 1736. There is displayed a broadside, "Declaration of the Freemasons of Boston and Vicinity, December 31, A. D. 1831," signed by a number of Masons of Boston, and a quaint volume entitled, "Candid Disquisition of the Principles and Practices of the Antient & Honourable Society of Free and Accepted Masons, by William Calcott, Reprinted and sold by Brother William McAlpine, in Marlborough Street, Boston, A. D. 1772."

Among other items are a number of Masonic song books. The earliest of these, entitled "LaLire Maconne," was published at the Hague in 1763. Other song books are "The Young Freemason's Assistant," Dumfries, 1784; "The Vocal Companion and Masonic Register," Boston, 1802, and "Masonic Melodies by Brother Luke Eastman," Boston, 1818. There are a number of editions of the "Freemason's Monitor," one of which, published in London in 1797, is written by a Royal Arch Mason, K. T., K. of M., etc. Altogether the collection, although not a large one, is sure to prove entertaining to all those who visit the Exhibition Room of the Public Library this week.

MASONS' DAY ON STEAMSHIP "LEVIATHAN."

As a result of intercession by the Mayor, the chairman of the United States Shipping Board, Mr. A. D. Lasker, has wired Mayor Curley that Mr. Gibbs, now in charge of the "Leviathan," at Boston, had been instructed to set aside a day for inspection of the "Leviathan" by the members of the Masonic clubs at present convening in Boston, and Mr. Ballantyne, chairman of the Reception Committee of the Masonic Clubs, will have charge of the party to visit the "Leviathan," an invitation to which is extended all members of the Masonic clubs.

FINANCE COMMISSION SCORED.

BOSTON, June 11, 1923.

HON. MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN, Chairman, Finance Commission, Boston, Mass.:

DEAR SIR,—My secretary informs me this day that a considerable portion of his valuable time was wasted in securing information desired by the Finance Commission in connection with an investigation of an expenditure of $9 made in October, 1922, and $6 in November, 1922.

Under date of October 27, 1922, the sum of $9 was expended—$6 for the purchase of three tickets for the Harvard-Centre football game, said tickets being furnished a delegation representing the City Council committee of St. Paul, Minn., and $3 for taxi service in taking the delegation to the Harvard Stadium.

Under date of November 6, 1922, $3.20 was expended as follows: 6 bulbs, 70 cents; 1 can Cotter pine, 25 cents; 1 roll tape, 50 cents; 1 bottle Necto, $1; 1 can Krier hand soap, 25 cents, and 1 bottle Putz silver polish, 50 cents; and on November 15, 1922, the sum of $2.80 was expended for 1 quart Echo polish, $1; 1 quart H. L. polish, $1.50, and 1 bottle of shellac, 30 cents, making a total of $6.

The total cost of entertaining the St. Paul delegates as represented by two of these bills is $9.

The supplies required on the other bill were in connection with the care of an automobile.

It is most unfortunate that your commission is entirely lacking in a sense of humor as well as an appreciation of the size of the business conducted by the corporation known as the City of Boston, whose annual expenditures are in excess of fifty million dollars.

I would suggest that in future it would be advisable for your commission to arrange a public hearing on matters as important as the three bills in question, and I have this day instructed my secretary to pay no attention to any communications received by telephone from the weighty individuals charged with the administrative activities as at present conducted by the Finance Commission.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Fifteen new fire alarm boxes were added to the fire alarm service, and one temporary box was installed at the Army Base to cover the U. S. S. "Leviathan," now in dry dock at that location.

The mechanics in the shop performed 386 jobs on motor and horse-drawn apparatus, while forty-eight jobs were performed outside the shop by department mechanics. The emergency crews responded to 250 calls, and there were 373 inspections of motor apparatus. In addition to the work mentioned above there were 389 miscellaneous jobs performed by mechanics in the shop, other than automobile mechanics.

NEW PATRIOTISM IS NEED OF HOUR.

MAYOR JAMES M. CURLEY, FLAG DAY ORATOR AT EXERCISES OF QUINCY LODGE OF ELKS, CALLS ON ALL AMERICANS TO REDEDICATE THEMSELVES TO BRINGING COUNTRY BACK TO NORMAL TIMES OF PEACE.

The Quincy Lodge of Elks observed Flag Day in Alpha Hall, Thursday evening, June 14, the orator for the occasion being Hon. James M. Curley, Mayor of Boston, who said in part:

"The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks for more than a half-century have been rendering useful service to the American Republic. The close of the Civil War found the nation rife with hatreds engendered by four years of the greatest internecine struggle known to any nation in the world's history. The trail of ruin blazed by Sherman's march from Atlanta to the sea was fresh in the memory of America south of the Mason-Dixon line, while in hundreds of thousands of Northern homes, into which the shadow of death had crept during the period of the war, hatred was general. Some great force was necessary to bind up the wounds of the nation and unity a people apparently hopelessly divided. The American flag and the Bible were chosen by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks for this purpose, a union for God and country.

Under the leadership of that great American, Vivian, founder of the order, who now rests in the peaceful shade of a Boston cemetery, the organization flourished, and upon the entrance of America into the World War becoming such a recognized potential asset for Americanism that membership was embraced by more than a million citizens. The same devoted service rendered in the hour of peace was manifest in increased measure during the period of the World War. Hospitals were provided for the government, funds for the charitable organizations, comfort for the boys at the front and aid for the dependents at home.

The national observance of Flag Day is a further evidence of the character of patriotic service rendered at all times by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. The flag is a symbol of the nation and the nation is what the people make it. Without patriotic devotion, national solidarity and national progress is impossible. Under the leadership of our War President, Woodrow Wilson, America enjoyed not only a spiritual awakening but the citizenship of America acquired a new conception of the responsibilities of citizenship. The spiritual awakening resembled that which permeated the colonies when the flag had its birth. Political party lines and party issues were forgotten and an America such as no man ever believed would be possible, an America which recognized neither race nor creed, that recognized only service and sacrifice for the preservation of the heritage of free government, had its birth.

America at the present hour of the world's reconstruction and unrest needs a new awakening, an awakening through which may be developed not only love of flag but a realization of individual obligation for the privileges enjoyed. The aim of the fathers who founded this republic and the aim of the men who preserved the nation in the hour of trial can only be achieved through a patriotism based on service and sacrifice.

Patriotism is love of and devotion to one's country and a willingness in the day of peril and necessity to give our country the best service of which we are capable to perform the duties such service calls for unselfishly and to make whatever sacrifice that call demands. This is the type of patriotism we must be inspired by in war and peace if we would serve our country well.

Perhaps more emphasis is laid on patriotism in the days of national strife and danger and on that form of service which calls quite often for the supreme test of sincerity—a willingness to make the greatest of sacrifices, our life, if need be—and all down the history of the race this type and character of patriotism has held the heart and mind of men since so many have gone out freely and joyously to seal their love of country on the battlefield with their life's blood.

Peace has its triumphs as well as war, and peace calls for as high and self-sacrificing a character of patriotic service as war. When the call to arms resounds throughout the land, when emotion is stirring in every heart, when troops are marching, flags are flying and music is filling the air, when the eyes of our countrymen are on us, when the stirring applause of the country rings in the ears of him who marches to battle and the smiles and tears and plaudits of mothers, wives and sweethearts follow the soldier and hero into the war and smoke of the battlefield, it is not difficult to be a patriot.

When the day of strife is done, when the glamor of conflict and the glory of triumph have departed when the unemotional problems of peace and the unromantic labor of reconstruction are ours to solve and do, it requires a higher courage and saner patriotism to lead our country down the gray and unattractive paths that lead to the normal conditions of peace and work.

When the guns are silenced, the flags are folded and the strife of camp and campaign are over there is little to stir the emotions of the land, little to excite the enthusiasm of them who went out to do and die for the land, when all that remains is to heal the wounds of war, to succor the wounded and maimed, to pay the price of blood, and in sweat and sacrifice build up what war has destroyed and by courage and wisdom make our countrymen understand that those who live and work for their country honestly and unwaveringly are as good patriots and true as the brave and unflinching who died on the field of honor. The patriot of peace must possess a high type of moral courage and be willing to face the misrepresentation of the demagogue, the vilification of the vicious and the denunciations of the dishonest and dishonored; and this kind of patriotism is in the end the best and most useful the country can get.

Washington was a splendid patriot in war and a more splendid one in peace. Lincoln underwent all the anguish of war without any of its glory; and yet his name outlives the armies he organized and the generals he made.

Today we need that high type of patriotism which is real and sacrificial of self; which strives to bring this land back to the normal conditions of peace, after the years of waste and extravagance; and seeks to tell our citizenship that the patriotism which can translate its activities into the homely and unromantic virtue of work and thrift is the patriotism that will make our country a fit place for men and women to live in, in peace and happiness. The patriotism which loves honor more than applause, which prefers peace and prosperity to praise and political prodigality, is the patriotism which has made Washington and Lincoln the noblest figures in the annals of our country.

Upon June 9 the Mayor approved the request of Thomas P. Glynn, chairman of the Schoolhouse Commission, for the payment of the bill of John Bowen Company for alteration work at the Brimmer School, amounting to $1,573.85. A communication from Chairman Glynn was as follows:

Boston, June 6, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,

Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners respectfully requests the approval of your Honor to the payment of bill of John Bowen Company, contractors, in the sum of one thousand five hundred and seventy-three and 85-100 (1,573.85) dollars, for alteration work at the Brimmer School building.

The School Committee desired this building to be put in readiness for the occupancy of certain of their offices, which had been in hired quarters at No. 218 Tremont street. Notice had been given the owners of the building at No. 218 Tremont street that those rooms would be vacated by April 1, 1923. It was necessary, therefore, to begin work immediately at the Brimmer School, and as it was impossible to estimate accurately the amount of work to be done, no contract could be made.

All of the items for material and labor have been checked and verified by this department, and the Board requests your Honor's approval as above, in order to comply with the provisions of the city charter and enable the City Auditor to pass the bill for payment. Trusting this will be satisfactory, I am;

Respectfully yours,

THOMAS P. GLYNN,
Chairman.

MAYOR PROPOSES TRADE SCHOOL FOR TRUANTS.

Truants should be given a chance in trade schools, rather than be sent to the State reform schools, in the opinion of Mayor Curley.

In a letter sent to Judge Hayden of the Roxbury Court the Mayor deplors the fact that some twenty-five Roxbury boys were sent to state institutions, as shown by bills coming in from the Commonwealth, charging the city approximately $12,000 for their keep, and requests the magistrate to confer with the School Committee, to see whether some arrangement could not be made by which truants should be bound over to attend a trade school part time, and the remainder in the public school.

The Mayor urges that sending a boy away from home, and in the atmosphere of a reform school, should be authorized only in case of serious offences and not simply for truancy, and argues that dis-taste for study may often be counter-balanced by training in some trade.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 307.

The commanding officer of Division 9 has brought to my attention the following meritorious police work performed respectively by Patrolmen Anthony G. Tobin of Division 9 and Martin J. Coakley of Division 10 and by Patrolman James J. Sullivan of Division 9.

Early in the morning of May 23 last Patrolmen Tobin and Coakley noticed two men in an automobile in Washington street near Cedar street, acting in a very suspicious manner, and on investigation it was found that they had come from Fall River and had in their possession a loaded revolver, a bag of cartridges and a blackjack. It was also learned that the automobile had been stolen in Fall River on the previous evening. Both men were prosecuted in the Roxbury Court on the same day for the larceny of an automobile and for carrying a loaded revolver without a permit so to do, and for carrying concealed weapons, and were sentenced, one man to the Concord Reformatory and the other to the House of Correction.

At about 2.30 a. m. on the following day, May 24, Patrolman Sullivan observed a man acting in a suspicious manner in front of a store on Warren street. As the officer watched the man suddenly broke the glass in the door with a jimmy, and putting his hand through the aperture opened the door from the inside. The officer immediately drew his revolver and followed him into the store, and although the man turned on him with uplifted jimmy, the officer compelled the man to drop the jimmy and placed him under arrest. When booked at the station house the prisoner stated that this was the fifth break he had made in that district that morning, and from investigations made there is reason to believe that this man was the perpetrator of a number of similar breaks on the division during the past month.

Such excellent police work on the part of the officers named is exceedingly gratifying, and I warmly commend them for their alertness and intelligence and for their quickness of action in apprehending these criminals.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

TROOPS FOR BUNKER HILL DAY.

Mayor Curley has received the following letter from the War Department, Washington, D. C.:

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,

Mayor of Boston:

DEAR MR. MAYOR.—Receipt is acknowledged to your telegram of June 4, 1923, in regard to securing the detail of troops for participation in the celebration to be held in Charlestown, Massachusetts, in commemoration of the 148th anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill.

As the detailing of troops for participation in ceremonies of this nature is a matter coming under the jurisdiction of the corps area commander, your telegram has been referred to the commanding general, First Corps Area, Boston, Mass., for such action as may be practicable, provided the troops are available and can be spared and that the government is involved in no expense.

As the summer training camps will be in progress at the time in question, it is not known just what troops the corps area commander may have at his disposal, but it is believed that he will do all in his power to meet your wishes and provide a suitable representation of the army on this occasion.

Sincerely yours,

JOHN W. WEEKS,
Secretary of War.

REPORT OF SOCIAL WORK CONFERENCE.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—In compliance with chapter 274, Acts of 1914, the following report of the National Conference of Social Work is respectfully submitted.

The fiftieth anniversary of the National Conference of Social Work was held at Washington, D. C., from May 16 to 23, 1923.

The topics discussed were health, industry, law and government, the church, the home, the school, and public opinion.

Secretary of State Hughes opened the meeting on Wednesday evening, May 16, at Poli's Theater. It was supposed to be the largest auditorium in the city, but found altogether too small to accommodate the crowd of people desiring to attend. It was estimated that one thousand persons were turned away, unable to gain admission. Mr. Hughes outlined the policy of government and predicted abiding peace. He assured the big audience that the clouds which two years ago darkened the far eastern sky have been dissipated without sacrificing the American tradition of freedom from alliance and the principle of opportunity. He further explained that the Washington Arms Conference had managed to scrap distrust as well as the vessels of war and to end wasteful competition, which spelled not security but suspicion.

Homér Folks, president of the National Conference of Social Work, spoke on prevention, the aid of welfare work. Mr. Folks predicted that civilization will outgrow prisons, and expressed the opinion that human beings would never learn how to manage them. The success of prevention in measures to reduce sickness, poverty and criminality was indicated by Mr. Folks. He stated: "The conditions of life have improved in America vastly more than we ordinarily think; the slums have gone, standards of living have gone forward, education is more general and more practical, wages have increased, hours and conditions of work have improved, people are happier, healthier and more useful and live longer." He further said: "The American Public Health Association declares another twenty years can be added to the average lifetime by the application of present knowledge. The school, a place where every child becomes a member of the community, is our great opportunity for discovering and correcting troubles, for teaching health, and for developing the will to health and community service." He stated also that the twelve-hour day and the seven-day week must pass away before industry will be saved for democracy.

Dr. Lukwik Rajchman, executive officer of the Health Division of the League of Nations, at Memorial Continental Hall, presented startling figures on the typhus and malaria epidemics prevailing in Russia since 1918, stating that between 30,000,000 and 40,000,000 cases have occurred in Russia since the beginning of 1918, with a death rate of between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 in that time. "Following the war," the speaker said, "Russia became one huge reservoir of infection. The condition of the Greek refugees has been one of utmost misery."

John C. Gebhard, director of the Department of Social Welfare, New York, showed how the death rate of babies and small children in tenement districts had been diminished during the last five years by the work of the Mulberry Health Center of the New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor.

Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover addressed the conference at Memorial Continental Hall, and when he entered the hall thousands of men and women engaged in relief and welfare work in this and other countries rose in tribute to his attainments in their own field of endeavor. Mr. Hoover spoke out of his vast experience acquired as head of the American relief overseas and stated that everlasting gratitude to the United States is imbedded in the hearts of the people of Europe, because ten times as many lives were saved by American relief measures as were killed in the World War. He further said: "I would rather have the American flag implanted in the hearts of the millions of people in Europe than to have added to the American navy all the battleships that could be floated in the Atlantic Ocean." He stated that during the year 1919 approximately 50,000,000 people were successfully sustained. "The American Relief Association is still caring for 3,000,000 children, in spite of the fact that last year's harvest has relieved the famine condition. By the harvest of 1923 Russia should be independent as to her food supply."

Thomas J. Mallon of London, connected with the British Charity Bureau and Health Organization of the Toynbee Hall, London, England, stated that the vocation of industry is not to fill the pockets of employers and financiers; it is to minister to the high periods of life. "The social worker," he said, "has a vision of an association in which men and women will no longer be bruised and overthrown; in which children will be cared for and good things of this life more evenly shared than they are today." He sees an association in which there will be no overwork, no underpay, no decrease of the facilities which human beings need for their reasonable extension and happiness, no avertible thing.

At a group meeting on industry, Mr. J. A. Larp, of the National Catholic Council, Chicago, Ill., stated that social insurance in the forms of workmen's compensation, mothers' pension, health insurance, old age pension and unemployment insurance would, in any state, decrease dependency and destitution by fully 75 per cent. Speaking of social insurance, he said that the mothers' pensions have been extended to forty-five states, workmen's compensation for industrial accidents has been adopted in forty-three states, and by Congress for federal employees.

Mr. Florence Kelley, general secretary of the National Consumer's League, criticised the adverse decision of the United States Supreme Court in the minimum wage case.

Miss Mary Anderson, of the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor, said that in one of the studies the Women's Bureau had used as a source of information the schedules gathered by the Census Bureau. "The question involved in the employment of women is vastly important to the human family, and I feel confident that if we all know and understand we are going to take action which will eliminate such sacrifices and hardships from the motherhood of our country."

The topic, "Law and Government in its Relation to Social Service," was the theme of the addresses which featured the programs of the main sessions and the group meetings on Saturday. Most every phase of the law and government was discussed. Miss Julia C. Lathrop, former chief of the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor, said: "Poverty can be abolished." Then she asked: "Can we abolish poverty in fifty years?" She answered by saying that it should be accomplished in twenty-five years. Miss Lathrop pointed out that mothers' pensions is one of the ways in which to bring this about. She also stressed the necessity of creating in the next fifty years a public service of such practical opportunity and such great ideals that the ablest youth may look to it as a career.

Mr. Kelso of Boston predicted that in the course of a few years every orphanage in America would be no more than a temporary shelter and its inmates placed in foster homes. He stated that the foremost child-caring agencies in the world are child-placing enterprises.

"The Church" was the theme of the Sunday sessions. Dr. William J. Kerby, of the Catholic University, presided over a luncheon at which the topic, "The Theological Seminary and Training for Social Work," was discussed at the Hotel Washington. The question, "How the Church May Relate Itself to the Social Work of the Community," was also discussed.

At the Women's City Club the topic discussed was "Social Work Under Church Auspices and Social Work Under Community Auspices."

The Sunday evening session was undoubtedly the outstanding feature of the conference. It was held at Poli's Theater, the presiding officer being Mr. Homer Folks. The chief address was made by Abbe Jean Violet of Paris, founder of the Family Dwellings' Association of France. "The right to love," he exclaimed, "seems to many the right to love how and as one pleases, with no sense of consequent responsibilities, and with no reference to the child." Hence, the unions made and broken at the dictates of caprice, and the view of the child as an obstacle. "He declared that in France, in spite of the growth of subversive doctrines, remains the home of the family, for there remains an elite which guards jealously the traditions of the past and struggles to keep alive the moral qualities which are the basis of French civilization. "Christianity," the abbe pointed out, "must have the chief part in the reconstitution of the modern family. The rules laid down by the church for her children are the rules of the natural moral law."

Mlle. Annie Noufflard, director of the social service in the tuberculous hospitals in Paris, commented on the speed with which Americans do things compared with the people of other countries. "In France," she said, "the social worker takes in charge the whole family situation. It is the same person who looks after the prenatal care, the children's welfare in the family, and who finds employment for those who are out of work. We strive to keep the family together, not to segregate. This is not a criticism. It is the reason why things are so much slower in their achievement in Europe than over here." She further said: "Above all, the most striking feature of this conference is the atmosphere in which we move. In the overthrown rooms the speaker is listened to as if he were speaking the gospel. All personal ambitions, all creeds, all sects, all nationalities are dissolved in an inspiring desire to help save human life for the benefit of humanity."

A very interesting meeting was held at the First Congregational Church, topic, "Co-operation of Social Workers with Public Authorities." Social case work was the feature at this meeting, and comparisons of records made ten or more years ago were contrasted with records of an up-to-date society at the present time, much to the disparagement of the old methods.

At this meeting Mrs. Edith Puffer Howe advocated the study of industrial standards for the wife and mother in order to arrive at a realization of the services she gives in the home. That social progress within the home has more than kept step with community progress in material matters also was asserted by the speaker, but this is not true in regard to mental or moral values, she said. A gentleman from Philadelphia stated that the present crisis in housing was declared to be a home disorganizer and attacking the physical standards of the family. "Overcrowding, the doubling up and tripling up of families within the same house, the reduction in the number of rooms, the continued increase in rentals, are threatening to nullify the accomplishments of thirty years."

A very important meeting was held at the Elbitt House in relation to mothers' aid. Delegates from most of the states in the Union and also from Canada were present. The standards, as applied in different states, were discussed and many important points brought out which undoubtedly will be helpful to the delegates in their special field.

A reception was held on the White House grounds, which were thronged with more than 5,000 delegates. President Harding received the delegates for approximately two hours. Mrs. Harding and Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall, chairman of the reception committee, looked on from the south portico. Mrs. Harding waved and smiled her appreciation of the applause of the delegates. Following the reception, President and Mrs. Harding posed for their pictures with the delegates. Color was added to the gathering by the appearance of the United States Marine Band in red uniforms.

At the business meeting of the conference, Miss Grace Abbott, chief of the Children's Bureau, Department of Labor, was elected president for the coming year, and it was voted to hold the conference at Toronto in 1924.

Respectfully yours,

FRANKLIN P. DALY,
Treasurer.

W. H. HARDY,
Secretary.

FOR PENSION SUBJECTS.

Mayor Curley has caused to be printed and posted in prominent places throughout the city departments a notice calling attention of the employees of the city to the fact that employees must join the Retirement System if they desire to take advantage of the new pension act. The notice is as follows:

NOTICE TO CITY EMPLOYEES.

The city has established a pension of $100 for employees who, after retirement, have served for not less than ten years. The pension of service does not apply to any employee unless he is a member of the Boston Retirement System.

All laborers, mechanics, janitors, scrubwomen and clerks in the city are required to join the Retirement System in order to get the benefit of this pension.

Blank forms for making application can be obtained at the Retirement Board Office, Room 22, City Hall, or at the various city yards.

Applications must be filed with the Boston Retirement Board before February 1, 1924.

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

PLANS FOR JULY 4 CELEBRATION COMPLETED.

The annual official City of Boston observance of Independence Day, on July 4, 1923, will be according to plans now being perfected by the Independence Day Committee of the Public Celebration Association, working in co-operation with the Director of Public Celebrations, representing the Mayor. Local or district features will be in charge of district chairmen.

As has been customary for the past few years the keynote of the holiday to be stressed by the director and committee is the emphasis on historical values associated with this particular holiday, and the working out of constructive features calculated to make the celebration worth while as well as enjoyable to all people of the city.

The events to be conducted by the city officially will be confined as usual mainly to the features that center at Boston Common and the immediate vicinity. The morning flag raising on the Common, the official opening of the day's program by the Mayor and party, will have the help this year of a band and company from the United States Army. Last year the Navy did the honors. The annual oration exercises will take place at Faneuil Hall.

The orator will be Rev. Charles W. Lyons, S. J. The chaplain will be Rev. Samuel J. Abrams. The reader of the Declaration, selected by the Mayor from the English High School, will be Charles C. Dogan.

In the afternoon there will be a historical pageant on Boston Common, at the Frog Pond, entitled "Heroes of Democracy," in which the main portion will be reproduction of events of the past that formed the foundation on which the nation is built, featuring the signing of the Declaration at Philadelphia, followed by the departure of the messengers to Boston, and the reading of the document on its arrival here.

In the evening, also at the Frog Pond on the Common, will be another "Community Demonstration" such as have proved such great successes the past few years. The program will include community singing, singing by special groups, dancing features by groups and individuals, band concert, and special features being arranged. Five minutes after the close of the program at the Frog Pond will take place the grand finale of the night, display of fireworks on the athletic field.

The districts are planning interesting local programs. It is the intention of the central committee and the director that in each neighborhood that has a program on the holiday there shall be a morning patriotic ceremony of simple and dignified character, each taking place at the same hour—ten o'clock in the morning—so that all over the city the people may simultaneously engage in exercises of patriotic and historical significance in thorough keeping with the holiday.

East Boston plans an extensive all day program with children's events on local playgrounds, a street parade, and climax at World War Memorial Park, Wood Island.

In the afternoon at Wood Island will take place a pageant in which the participants will be several hundred children reproducing the similar pageant which was given last Fourth of July on Boston Common, entitled "Child Lore in America," with the addition of a significant historical feature of local application to East Boston.

Roxbury is also preparing special events, including a street parade, in addition to the children's exercises and games on various playgrounds of the district. Jamaica Plain, Roslindale, Hyde Park, South Boston, Dorchester, West End, North End, Brighton, Allston, South End and Forest Hills all have district committees at work making plans which will be carried out on the Fourth.

There will be band concerts at right in some dozen locations throughout the city.

The annual municipal athletic meet will be conducted on Boston Common in the forenoon. In the afternoon will be held the annual municipal swimming carnival, with the added feature this year of the National A. A. U. championship one mile swim for women, which will be participated in by women swimmers from all over the United States. There will also be the customary events for local men, women, boy and girl swimmers, and a demonstration of life saving by the American Red Cross.

PUBLIC LIBRARY ACTIVITIES.

The librarian of the Public Library has made the following report to Mayor Curley of activities for the month of May:

During the month of May 5,948 books have been received and accessioned, while 4,615 volumes have been ordered. During the same period, 1,923 periodicals were received and recorded, and 1,489 volumes and 1,140 continuations have been received as gifts and acknowledged to 678 donors. During the month six auction catalogues have been examined and seven foreign invoices have been received—four from England and three from Holland.

The exhibitions of the month were as follows: The original oil paintings of Mr. N. C. Wyeth, supplemented by many colored prints from books illustrated by this artist, were continued well into May. The pictures attracted many visitors. During the week preceding the performance of the Moscow Art Theater and the weeks of the company's engagement there were displayed the recent series of etchings of the Russian players by Bernhardt Wall, supplemented by a collection of photographs and colored prints showing the distinguished players in the repertory which they presented in Boston.

As a part of the world-wide celebrations of "Home Sweet Home" an exhibition was arranged of library material, including facsimiles of the original melody for which John Howard Payne wrote his immortal text; the score of the opera "Clari"; pictures of Maria Tree, who first featured the song, and other singers, including Anna Bishop, Jenny Lind, and Patti; the libretto of the ballet pantomime which gave Payne the idea of his play, and other material relating to the famous song was paid by the members of the library staff choristers, who gathered on the main staircase at noon on Tuesday, May 8, the anniversary day, and sang the familiar strains.

During the visit of the Bakule School chorus there were shown, in addition to books, prints, etc., relating to Czechoslovakia, the property of the library, an interesting collection of glass, ceramics, needlework, loaned by Boston collectors.

At the request of the American Red Cross the Children's Department supplied a collection of books in Czech and Bohemian for the entertainment of the members of the Bakule School from Prague during their stay in Boston. These books were greatly enjoyed by the Czech-Slovak children, who could neither speak nor read English, and the announcement that the library was lending them the books was received with enthusiastic cheers. Beautifully illustrated American books were also lent for Mr. Bakule's special inspection, as he is deeply interested in the art of the different countries. The library was the more pleased to render this service as President Masaryk visited the Children's Room a number of years ago and was greatly attracted by the library's work with children, requesting information as to its scope and lists of children's books.

On May 15 appeared No. 8, Volume II., of "Library Life," the staff bulletin. In addition to the "Weekly Lists of New Books" added to the Boston Public Library, the following four "Ten-Book Lists" have been published:

Moscow Art Theater.

Mother's Day and some of the great mothers.

Dairying (prepared in connection with the annual Spring Ayreshire Dairy Show).

Memorial Day.

On May 18 the adjourned annual meeting of the Board of Trustees was held at the library, when Mr. Arthur T. Connolly was elected president of the Board; Louis E. Kirstein, vice president, and Miss Della Jean Deery, clerk of the corporation.

At a special meeting of the Board, held on Monday, May 28, the Library Bureau was awarded the contract for the installation of two additional floors of steel stacks in the Annex, their bid—the lowest—being $32,998.

LOAN FOR COLUMBUS PARK IMPROVEMENTS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 4, 1923.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith communication from the chairman of the Park Commission advising that an additional sum of $100,000 is required for the completion of improvements at Columbus Park, South Boston. It is desirable that this work, which has been in progress for seven years, be completed if possible during the present year, and accordingly recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, May 31, 1923.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—You are respectfully asked to make a request on the City Council for an additional appropriation of $100,000 for the special loan appropriation for Columbus Park Improvements.

Our reason for making this request is that as the work has progressed it has been found necessary to make extensive changes upon the recommendation made by our engineer and the architects in charge, among them being a changing of the proposed road surface from bitulithic to reinforced concrete pavement, which now seems to be the only practical pavement to be laid on the soft hydraulic fill. There is also recommended two large parking spaces for automobiles, to be constructed of reinforced concrete. Also the raising of the elevation of the proposed roadway approximately two feet on account of the soft soil conditions, and additional filling and loam is required for the circle near the bridge and also on the ball field. The estimate for the cost of these proposed changes and additions, is as follows:

Changing proposed roadway surface from bitulithic to reinforced concrete, 24,000 square yards at $1.75	$42,000
Two parking areas adjacent to bath house to provide space for 300 cars, 1,000 square yards at $3.75	15,000
Raising elevation of proposed road along the shore, 30,000 cubic yards filling at $0.70	21,000
Additional filling required for circle near bridge and on ball field, 10,000 cubic yards at $0.70	7,000
Additional loam required for planting trees and on ball field, 15,000 cubic yards at $1.90	28,500
Amount of present appropriation now available approximately	$176,500
Additional amount required	16,500
	$100,000

Attached please find letter from our engineer giving estimate as stated above.

Respectfully yours,
JAMES B. SHEA,
Chairman.

Ordered, That the sum of $100,000 be and hereby is appropriated for Columbus Park improvements, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

ACQUISITION OF STREET RAILWAY LINES, HYDE PARK.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 4, 1923.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I beg to submit herewith order providing for the acceptance of chapter 405 of the acts of the year 1923, entitled "An Act to Provide for the Acquisition by the City of Boston of Street Railway Lines in the Hyde Park District for the Operation Thereof by the Boston Elevated Railway Company."

The adoption of this act by the City Council and approval by the Mayor should constitute one of the closing chapters in the movement for a single fare for all portions of Boston. The adoption of a single fare should result in the development of both Hyde Park and Readville industrially because of the railroad lines centering there, and the development for housing because of the amount of low priced vacant land available in this section of Boston which, after all, is the only section where such ideal conditions obtain.

In view of the benefits that should result and as a matter of equity to the people of Hyde Park, I recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That chapter four hundred and five of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and twenty-three, entitled "An Act to Provide for the Acquisition by the City of Boston of Street Railway Lines in the Hyde Park District for the Operation Thereof by the Boston Elevated Railway Company," be and the same is hereby accepted.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

SIDEWALK ASSESSMENTS.

A communication was received from the Commissioner of Public Works relative to the cost of constructing sidewalks on Blue Hill avenue, from Morton street to River street, Ward 21, recommending the passage of the following, viz.:

Ordered, That the persons named in the schedule be and the same are hereby assessed the sums set against their respective names for their proportionate parts of the cost of constructing sidewalks as named above, the total amount being $5,880.67, and the same is ordered to be assessed and notice given to the parties aforesaid.

The order was passed.

ORDINANCE CONCERNING AIR CRAFT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Law Department, May 29, 1923.

Gentlemen:—You have submitted for my consideration the following order:

"Ordered, That the Corporation Counsel be requested to give his opinion as to the right of the City Council passing an ordinance in regard to flying in airships or other aircraft over the city limits, as during the past few days airplanes, supposedly five in number, have engaged in advertising certain products for gain to the great danger to the lives and property of the citizens of Boston."

In my opinion the City Council has no right to pass an ordinance as proposed in the above order. By sections 35 to 43, inclusive, of chapter 41 of the General Laws the Legislature has assumed to regulate the use and operation of aircraft in Massachusetts. By section 41 the Registrar of Motor Vehicles is authorized to "prepare rules and regulations, from time to time, governing the use and operation of aircraft and relative to the licensing of operators thereof. Such rules and regulations shall be subject to his approval and shall take effect in the manner provided by section six of chapter sixteen. Any person aggrieved by a regulation, ruling or decision of the registrar relative to the use and operation of aircraft or the licensing of operators may appeal as provided in section twenty-eight."

Section 43 provides for the penalty for violation of any of the provisions contained in sections 35 to 42 and for violation of any of the rules and regulations of the registrar made thereunder.

Section 38 prohibits any person from operating "an aircraft in such a manner as to endanger the lives or safety of the public by the performance of unusual or dangerous maneuvers over any massed assembly of one hundred or more persons in the pen, or other such persons be grouped in a grandstand or massed in an open field; nor shall any person throw or drop any missile or article from an aircraft in flight, except over grounds temporarily or permanently devoted to flying, or over open water."

It is thus seen that the Legislature has fully regulated the use and operation of aircraft and has placed in the hands of a state official full authority over aircraft, their use and operation. Since the Legislature has spoken on this subject the cities and towns cannot enact ordinances or by-laws pertaining to this subject-matter. If the Council is desirous of prohibiting the flying of aeroplanes which engage in advertising certain products and through their maneuvering create danger to the lives and property of citizens of Boston, they should have the matter directed to the attention of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles, who is authorized to regulate aircraft.

Very truly yours,

E. MARK SULLIVAN,
Corporation Counsel.

MINORS' LICENSES.

The President submitted reports on petitions for minors' licenses for sixteen newboys and twelve vendors—recommending that licenses be granted.

Reports accepted; licenses granted on the usual conditions.

PAYMENT TO WILLIAM J. COPPELL.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That under the provisions of chapter 380 of the Acts of 1923 the sum of $25.50 be paid to William J. Coppel, in reimbursement for injuries sustained while assisting a police officer in making an arrest; said sum to be charged to the Reserve Fund.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, the reason why I offer this order upon which I ask a suspension of the rule, is that at the last meeting of the Council the person to whom the order refers was present with his counsel and his case was stated before us. At that time we accepted the act. This order provides for payment of the sum referred to in the act. That is the reason why I ask for a suspension of the rule.

The rule was suspended and the order was passed.

Coun. HEALEY in the chair.

STREET LIGHTS, EAST BOSTON.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That the Public Works Commissioner, through his Honor the Mayor, be instructed to install additional street lights in the vicinity of the Star of Sea Church in East Boston, at Moore, Wordsworth and Byron streets.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

SEEDING CENTRE STREET PARK.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That the Park Department, through his Honor the Mayor, be instructed to grass seed the Centre Street Park on Bennington street, from Day street to Orient Heights.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

PUBLIC HEARING, HOME BUILDING.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That the Executive Committee give a public hearing on the question of the city entering into the building of homes for the use of people of modest means who cannot afford to pay the present exorbitant rents in the City of Boston, the Chamber of Commerce, the Central Labor Union, the Local Improvement Association, the Boston and Massachusetts Real Estate Exchanges and the banking interests be notified of this hearing.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. Chairman, the intention of the order is to co-operate with an order presented here by Coun. Healey and with another order later presented by Coun. Moriarty which have all reference to the Mayor and the Corporation Counsel, an answer coming in here, I think, at the last meeting. The Mayor himself felt that, the subject being one of very great importance, the Council should give public hearings, and I believe so stated. My object in presenting the order is simply to keep the matter before the Council during the summer months is perhaps the best time for us to agitate the matter and try to solve the problem, I am presenting the order at this time. The thought is that public hearings should be given upon the subject, that it should be thoroughly aired and that every organization, every individual, every citizen interested, should have a voice in the matter. The idea is that through the combined efforts of many we will find some way to solve the problem, which we all realize is of very great importance to a great number of people in the community, people who are unable to continue to pay the excessively high rates that are being charged for the use of their homes. The order is presented in the interest of those who need and must have modest homes for themselves and families. I think perhaps it would be advisable to have the order referred to the Executive Committee.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

ACCEPTANCE OF CHAPTER 471, ACTS OF 1923.

Coun. MORIARTY offered an order—That chapter 471 of the Acts of 1923, entitled "An Act Authorizing the City of Boston to Pay a Sum of Money to the Father of John A. Benaglia," be and the same hereby is accepted. Referred to the Executive Committee.

ADJUSTMENT OF TELEPHONE SITUATION.

Coun. WATSON offered the following: Whereas, There are certain well defined rumors to the effect that the telephone operators are contemplating a strike unless their demands for an increase in wages and other privileges are conceded to; and

Whereas, Such a strike would cause serious inconvenience to the operators themselves and to their employers, but most of all to the great body of citizens whose interests they are supposed to serve, and upon whom they depend for their employment and patronage; and

Whereas, A strike or a lockout although of even only temporary duration, is bound to lead to serious business and other complications; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Telephone Company and its employees be urged to every endeavor as a matter of civic duty to adjust their differences without jeopardizing the interests of the general public; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to the Telephone Company, and to the representatives of their employees, with the admonition that man's first duty is to his neighbor, and that a satisfactory adjustment of a private controversy cannot be accomplished at the expense of a public injustice.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, it may be said, and properly so, that the reason for my introducing the resolutions is purely because of the selfish interest that I have. I have somewhat of a selfish interest when I view the possibility of a temporary suspension of telephone service. I have a dear one in my family, who is an invalid, who has not walked for nearly four years, who cannot walk even if accompanied by others. When I go to my employment, she is left with my daughter, and if my daughter is compelled to go out for recreation or for other matters, she is left with a six-foot invalid in my wife's hand. In the event of her having a serious turn, or anticipating such, she will thus be left with no one to take care of her when she is alone and otherwise would be helpless if something happened. That is not my selfish interest, but it may be a selfish interest that I have, and I believe that the Council will jibe at me or criticize me because of it. There is always a group in every community who are never consulted when there is a controversy between employer and employee. We have seen that in the past in the matter of one particular strike, and we are bound to see it again. I hold no brief for either faction in the controversy. If there is a hair's difference in my interest, it is in the interest of the public. I have a greater interest, and that interest is the interest of the public who are going to be affected the most if a strike or lockout is proclaimed or brought about. I will admit that I don't know a single person concerning the merits of this controversy. I know nothing whatever concerning it. It may be that the operators' demands are just. If they are, and if the New England Telephone Company should not permit an instant to pass without granting the employees' demands or requests, the question is a very simple one. There is only one thing for the interested parties to do, and that is to give and take, at and without a temporary suspension of both interests, the workers and the Telephone Company officials, have considered those who will be affected other than themselves. The question of a strike, if it has been brought as one must think, of the danger to the public in the matter of life and death in the event of even a temporary suspension of telephone service in Boston. Have you thought of the demands made upon the hospitals for ambulances, for example, to take to the Relief Hospital or the city or other hospitals injured or dying persons, old or young, near to or far away from us? I have. Of course, no red-blooded organized labor man or employer, a man representing a union or a man representing vested interests, would for a moment attempt to justify the possibility of the loss of one life because of the suspension of telephone service. We have also the question of danger from fire. The telephone has become today a part of our life. It is a part of our life to the telephone for everything. It may be unfortunate that we have become used to doing it, but it is so. In the event of a fire the telephone is brought into action to notify the Fire Department directly or through an operator, and we all know what possibilities there may be in the case of a fire. It is through even the slightest suspension of telephone service. Who knows but what it might be one of our very own who might be affected by and would we ever forget the possibility if we were in any way responsible? Mr. President, it may be that this resolve will have no effect, but it is a resolve, and it is a thing. But it is the only way in which I can voice my protest against the possibility of the suspension of telephone service. I realize that in this body there are two of my close friends who are affiliated with organized labor, and naturally the sore spot with them is the workers' problem. I am sure that their interest even overshadows the public interest temporarily. But I want to ask them this. If once the blow is struck, don't we all know that we are no longer the interested parties, but continue as rational human individuals? On both sides they will take on somewhat of the attitude of the spectators. They will be interested because they will only think of gaining their point, feeling as I might feel if I were interested as they are. Reason will be thrown aside. I know that positively. It is so concerning those who hold the whip hand, and in this controversy the Telephone Company understands the situation. They can without a great deal of sacrifice prevent a strike. I realize that if the operators do not demand their rights and get them, they may have a little less to take away from them. That argument perhaps will be used against my position, and I will admit that that is so. But once the strike is proclaimed there is going to be great suffering not only to the workers of the Telephone Company but to organized labor as a whole. It means a suspension of service to a great extent. It will unquestionably interfere with the building trades, with the proper doing of many of our jobs, and they will see that so jobs may go forward. It will interfere with the vested interests, the business interests who, after all, in my opinion, should be considered to be considered, but who have to be considered. It will interfere with them. Once a strike is declared and brought on, as the reason is given, to the detriment of the affected parties. Their only aim is to win at any cost. In the meantime, out of a population of 800,000 in Boston, within a few boundaries, there are not more than the moment of any conditions outside of Boston—less than 5,000 will benefit, no matter what side suspension of service is declared. 800,000 will be handicapped, embarrassed and suffering. I sincerely trust that these resolutions will pass unanimously. They may have already no effect, but I believe they will meet with the indorsement of the entire community, men, women and children. They will certainly meet with the indorsement and approval of our immediate families who already—certainly that is true so far as my own family is concerned—are talking about the possibilities of a strike. In conclusion, Mr. President, that under any and all circumstances, even though the interested parties may feel that they are sacrificing some benefit that they are entitled to, they agree to some action being taken which will be in the interest of the great public. I believe that this is the only way in which the public as any body in Boston, should take the initiative, with a view to possibly averting a strike or a lockout as a result of the present controversy. I trust, if there is no objection, the rule may be suspended and that the order may pass at this time.

COUN. HAGAN.—Mr. Chairman, I was going to make a general presentation, and I think if he could carry out another thought, embodying it in them, to the effect that to this end the City Council offer to the parties concerned their services, if they can do any help in bringing the controversy to a conclusion.

COUN. WATSON.—Mr. President, I would like to agree with the council in its suggestion, but I feel in a matter of this sort that the fewer parties who are brought in to arbitrate the better. I feel that the City Council will take action and that some action will be attempted by other big civic bodies. But I don't think that the City Council as a whole should mix into it in that way. I think our statement of our position ought to be sufficient. I trust that the member will consider that I intended his suggestion. The thought is a good one, but I don't think it will add anything to the resolution, and I would rather not embody it.

COUN. MORIARTY.—Mr. President, I was going to ask the council on the other side if he would change that suggestion so as to request the Mayor to put himself in the position of bringing the action to a conclusion of that general public that is so vitally interested? He is, to my mind, the representative of the general public in the city, and he must be able to interest and bring the city conference to see if a strike can be averted.

COUN. WATSON.—Mr. President, in order to bring about the thought of Mr. Moriarty has suggested, let me say that the incorporation of that thought in the resolutions seems to me to be a good idea. I shall be pleased to incorporate it. I think it is a very good suggestion.

COUN. MORIARTY.—Of course, Mr. President, there is this to be said unfortunately at this time, that the girls who work for the Telephone Company are put in an embarrassing position. I realize that a public service corporation rides on the back of the people, not only as far as the telephone situation is concerned, but in every place where it controls, and where a strike occurs they know that they are affecting a certain number of people they will win favor from the so-called general public that has been discommoded for a certain period of time. The council had said that they might not do that. Of course, there is for the laboring class that. Yes, I suppose that that is so. So I feel that when the Legislature is considering the granting of term of service corporations of this kind the free use of the streets of all the people—not only of the general public but of the girls who are organized in the City of Boston, and when their rights are given up to the Telephone Company, to the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, to the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, there should be legislation so that those girls and employees working for public service corporations should be protected. What do you think of that? A good deal of this bunk in regard to the general public being discommoded possibly by a strike, but is there any more discommoding in that case than occurs at the present time through the action of the Telephone Company? What the operators are at work, while every employee who is in the City of Boston for the so-called general public to get a telephone installed, if they so desire? Is it possible for me to move one room in the City of Boston, to have your telephone moved or connected in another residence? Try it. It is all right for the Telephone Company to say to you, "We have no wires in the place," when the general public want to be accommodated, but because the girls, who are giving us the service, are in the City of Boston, something in the way of betterment in their employment, they holler, "In the interest of the general public you girls should not strike." Well, I don't think we are able to do that. We will not even consider giving them an increase at all. In fact, instead of even giving them an increase they are getting a decrease. It was only a few short years ago when a strike of the kind that is threatening the Telephone Company brought the scum from Chicago, brought the scum from New York and from other large cities of this country, and brought them in some of the hotels of this city to take the place of the girls who are now working for the Telephone Company. Why should I be interested in the Telephone Company? I am interested in any man here who is interested in the Telephone Company as a telephone company. I am not interested in the girls, who live among us, the daughters of some of the men and women who voted for you men and made it possible that you be here. Mr. President, I think that there is here in the girl who is working for the Telephone Company. They are girls who are well qualified, because the Telephone Company in the last few years has been putting no young ladies at all, unless they are a high school education, except in a few instances. So a girl working for the Telephone Company is a pretty intelligent girl. The strike vote is going on now. If the girls vote to strike that does not mean that they are going to strike. It only means that they are hastily going into an action. But it is the only weapon they have left if the Telephone Company turns down every request that they make. I think there is no interest in the Telephone Company. I have a lot of interest in the telephone operators' organization, the City of Boston. I had the pleasure of being present in the Boston Central Labor Union when the telephone operators of Boston organized. So I have a double interest in this matter. Of course, we all remember that wave of "law and order" that shook our city, our state and our country only a few years ago—the biggest piece of bunk that was ever thrown out. Of course, the general public will always bite for that stuff. I realize the spirit in which the member has introduced the resolutions, but will simply say that to some people it is a crime to be a member of a labor organization. I do not think there is any opportunity to get this upon the record, as bearing upon the position of city employees with reference to labor organizations. Some few years ago they organized the workers in the Boston Public Library. Two of the men there, one of whom was elected president, and one secretary, were elected. I am sure, since they took those two positions, and they are practically the only two people in the library who have not received an increase since the organization was started. I am sure because they had the courage to go ahead as they did, because they took the step that they did take. Of late years I have been going to the librarian he would say that that was not so. I am going to make a prediction. The librarian before they get through with the budget is going to get an increase of $1,500 if he has not already got it. They went across the river and dug him up. He does not belong among us. He lives in Cambridge, or did live in Cambridge. But here are these girls who work for the New England Telephone Company, the big majority of whom are residents of Boston. I think that two men who were elected officers of the organization in the library, who have always been residents of Boston, and who have not been increased because of their connection with Union activities. There are very few city employees who get an increase of $1,500. There are very few who get an increase of $100 a year. But those two fellows to whom I have referred, because they were the selection of their own group, their offices, have been penalized for being popular with their group. As I say, I realize the spirit in which the council on the other side has introduced the resolutions, but I want to say to you this. I have not talked with anybody connected with the telephone operators' organization, but I am sure that they are alert to avert a strike in Boston as any man here or as any member of the so-called general public is entitled to think that that organization will go farther to avert a strike than even some of the conservative members of this body. But if the Telephone Company is going to continually turn down every reasonable request that those young women make, then there is nothing left for the young women in the Telephone Company's employ but to cease work and come out and get a job. I think you know what the outcome will be, whether the women alone will go out or whether the men also will go out. I think that the present situation in so far as the Telephone Company and all its employees are concerned, I believe everybody should use his best efforts to adjust the thing. I think that the girls should take the whole brunt and the Telephone Company be allowed to get by without at least the most serious demands of some of the demands or requests of the young women.

COUN. WATSON.—Mr. President, I said in my introduction that I had no interest in anything concerning the merits of the controversy. I made that very plain. I will grant all that Coun. Moriarty says concerning the merits of the controversy, but in the case, I do think that the resolutions I have introduced, without treading on anybody's toes, express a very practical view of the body in Boston, and I think that we, as the legislative branch of the city government, coming direct from the people, ought at least to let in the girls who are working for the telephone suggestions and stating how we feel, representing the feelings of those who send us here. I disagree with Coun. Moriarty concerning the general public. I think they are more affected and have a right to greater consideration than either of the contending forces in the body. I believe that the Mayor be called upon to tender his services in the

FRANCE BESTOWS SIGNAL HONOR ON MAYOR CURLEY THROUGH PRESIDENT MILLERAND.

SENDS CHIEF EXECUTIVE HANDSOME GOLD MEDAL IN RETURN COURTESY FOR GOLDEN KEY AND LETTER SENT TO FRANCE WITH GOOD WILL DELEGATION. PEOPLE ACCLAIM HIM "MAYOR CURLEY OF THE UNITED STATES."

TWO VIEWS OF HANDSOME SOLID GOLD MEDAL SENT TO MAYOR BY PRESIDENT MILLERAND OF FRANCE IN TOKEN OF FRIENDSHIP OF FRENCH PEOPLE AND CITIZENS OF BOSTON.

Mayor Curley and Boston have been signally honored by the people of France as the result of his sending to that country, through Mrs. Elizabeth N. Buswell, honor member of the Good Will Delegation, a golden key to this city. The Mayor has been presented with a handsome gold medal two inches in diameter as significant of the good feeling and the lasting friendship existing between France and Boston.

The medal was presented to Mrs. Buswell, to be presented to the Mayor, just as she and the delegation were about to embark on their return voyage. On one side of the medal, which is in a beautiful leather case, is the seated statue of St. Genevieve, the patron saint of Paris, symbolic of the women of France, with one hand resting on the seal of the city of Paris, while at her knee is the cock in the attitude of crowing, symbolic of the country of the French.

Above the head of the statue rests a crown over which are the words, "Ville de Paris." At the feet of the statue are the Latin words, "Fluctuat nec Mergitur," which freely translated means, "Keep swimming, do not sink." On the obverse side of the medal, in large letters, are printed the words, "Departement de La Seine" while in the circle in the center of the medal are the words, "A la ville de Boston, la ville de Paris, 1923."

The key which the Mayor sent to France was presented to President Millerand by Mrs. Buswell through Ambassador Herriek, with the entire delegation present.

With the key was sent the following letter from Mayor Curley:

"The people of Boston have always opened their hearts to the French. As Mayor of Boston, representing these people, I present to the president of the French Nation, and through him to the people of that great sister republic, this symbol of our mutual sentiments of welcome and hospitality. May our reciprocal friendship never be broken! May time never efface from the memory of the world the realization of the sufferings endured by our country for the cause of civilization nor the remembrance of the nobility which she has shown during recent years!

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

As the result of the sending of the key, according to Mrs. Buswell, Mayor Curley is better known in France than is President Harding, and he is not spoken of by the people of France as the Mayor of Boston but as "Mayor Curley of the United States."

In addition to the medal, Ambassador Jusserand, at Washington, was instructed by his country to write a letter of appreciation to the Mayor. Ambassador Jusserand's letter was as follows:

"DEAR MR. MAYOR,—My government informs me that when he had the pleasure of meeting the Good Will delegation, the president of the French Republic received from them a most charming letter written by yourself, as well as a golden key, as a symbol of hospitality and welcome.

"President Millerand asks me to convey to you his heartfelt thanks for this gift and for your letter. He sincerely appreciated both, and says that your words of friendship and your good wishes for the "auld ally" of the United States have touched him deeply.

"Believe me, dear Mr. Mayor,

"Very sincerely yours,

"JUSSERAND."

MAYOR HYLAN TO BE COLUMBUS DAY SPEAKER.

Mayor Curley has received positive assurances from Hon. John F. Hylan, Mayor of New York, that he will be very pleased to be the guest of the City of Boston upon Columbus Day, October 12, of the present year. Mayor Hylan is one of the most interesting and forceful characters in the political life of the United States.

He was born upon a farm at Hunter, Green County, New York, April 20, 1868, and orphaned in his early childhood. After education in the public schools, and by reason of great sacrifice, he was graduated from the New York Law School and was admitted to the bar of the State of New York in 1897, and established practice in Brooklyn, N. Y. Immediately after his service at the bar began he built up an immense clientele, and was elected city magistrate in 1906, serving for a term of eight years. He was subsequently elected judge of the County Court of the Queens County Division.

Mayor Hylan was elected Mayor of New York City, his term beginning January 1, 1918, and was subsequently re-elected by a plurality of over 400,000, notwithstanding the fact that President Harding had carried the State of New York by a plurality of 1,250,000 in the presidential election of 1920.

Mayor Hylan is the chief executive over one of the great cities of the world, comprising the Boroughs of Manhattan, Bronx, Brooklyn, Richmond and Queens, with a total population of 5,839,738. He has recently attracted national attention by frank admission that the administration of so large a city by one individual leaves much to be desired, and that the charter of New York City should be so revised as to provide for the election of a deputy mayor, to whom the chief executive might relinquish a portion of his many overwhelming problems that confront the chief executive.

Mayor Hylan has been one of the leading forces of the Tammany Society in New York for many years, and also a prominent figure in national party councils.

PAYS GLOWING TRIBUTE TO ELKS' ORDER.

MAYOR CURLEY HONORS "SONS OF DEMOCRACY DEDICATED TO HUMAN LIBERTY," IN ADDRESS AT DEDICATION OF BRONZE ELK ON THE MOHAWK TRAIL AT GREENFIELD.

Address delivered by Mayor James M. Curley at the dedication of the bronze elk on the Mohawk Trail at Greenfield, Sunday afternoon, June 17, 1923, was as follows:

"Man may find no nobler place in God's world to raise a memorial to his dead than high upon some mountain slope, in the silence and serenity of peak and pine, far from the rush, the riot and the reek of the city. Here among the hills, green and everlasting, where the whispering winds make music in the forest and brooks take up the chorus of praise that rises in a constant ecstasy to heaven, there is a hush, a promise of peace, a sense of rest unknown in the crowded lives of men.

"Here upon the heights, whence we gain vistas of green meadows and silver streams in the lands below, men may come to dream for an hour, to sit in the silence with their souls and mayhap catch a glimpse of those verticities which are the unrealities of the living and the realities of the dead; and here, as we have done, we may set up a monument to keep green the memory of our dead, above the smoke of industry and the clamor of the town, far from the travail of our daily tasks and the sordidness of our customary surroundings.

"Here in these eternal hills, at the heart of the beauty of the world, you have chosen wisely a spot to place a memorial to your heroic dead, and more wisely in selecting the emblem of your fraternity to commemorate those who dared and died that human freedom might endure, a bronze effigy of one of the wild creatures that once roamed these woods and uplands free and unafraid.

"What normal man can stand here in the days to come unmoved? Lifted above the work-a-day world, surrounded by all the evidences of nature's dignity and perfection, with the sunlit skies above him, the kindly fields below him and the hush and harmony of the Creator's handiwork all about him, none but the tenderest emotions can animate him and put him in touch with his God.

"Here, if anywhere, may a man sit and recall in tender thoughts those who in life were his brethren, and who in their fellowship, in their brotherhood of charity and mercy and their community of good works, were knit to him in a kinship of the soul; and here recalling their valor and virtue he can come to understand the futility of material things, the ephemeracy of life, and, dreaming of what they were and how they dared, realize that our brethren have not died in vain and this memorial will help to perpetuate an example for unborn generations to emulate.

"It will tell to our children and our children's children that it is better to die greatly in a great cause than to live in ignoble struggle in ignoble days. Out of their struggle and sacrifice new days and new hopes have come to this old world; and with the knowledge of what these our brethren have taught us by their heroic and triumphant deaths may we not ask:

"What are the lessons your Kingdome teach?
And what is the test of your proud commanders?
Out of the confusion, darkness, search
With the scroll of a deed, with the word of a story
Of one man's truth and all men's glory.

"The men and brethren we commemorate in this splendid bronze effigy were Americans, sons of democracy dedicated to human liberty and government of the people. They lived in the traditions of human freedom and died in the preservation of its principles. Time the inexorable may dim their names, but the glory of their sacrifice will never fade, and their glory will be the glory of this nation while the republic endures.

"Many men will pass this way in the years to come; and they will pause a moment at this scene of beauty and restfulness to view this monument with admiration and speak with tenderness and pride of the men who died and in whose honor we have set it up here in the everlasting hills.

"They who die greatly achieve greatness and their names are written in that golden scroll which men must die to read:

"Great men grow greater by the lapse of time;
We know those least whom we have seen the latest;

And they, amongst those whose names have grown so dim
Who worked for human freedom, are greatest."

The permanent pavement was laid in this street by James Doherty, under contract dated July 30, 1918, with a guaranty for five years, which expires on October 5, 1923, and to preserve this guaranty the work of repaving over this trench should be done by the original contractor.

Your permission is respectfully requested to increase the total of the contract to the latter figure.

Respectfully yours,

WARNS AGAINST ENGAGING IN ANY MORE FOREIGN WARS.

MAYOR CURLEY TELLS CONVENTION OF DELEGATES OF VETERANS IT IS TIME EUROPE USED HER OWN MONEY AND HER OWN MANHOOD FOR EXPLOITING HER OIL AND ORE FIELDS.

Mayor Curley delivered the following address at the opening of the Convention of the veterans of Foreign Wars in the Gardner Auditorium, State House, Boston Friday, June 15:

"I know of no more inspiring or patriotic site that might be chosen for the opening of the convention of an organization of patriotic citizens than this particular auditorium dedicated to commemorate the memory of a great and worth while Massachusetts citizen, Hon. Augustus P. Gardner.

"I had the very great privilege of serving with him as a member of Congress, where I had opportunity that is given few men to know him intimately. I have a profound appreciation of the character of his patriotic devotion, and you will have that same profound appreciation when I assure you that Augustus P. Gardner was more than fifteen years beyond the age when it was required he might serve. His service was voluntary and he made the supreme sacrifice for the preservation of the honor and dignity of the government of the United States of America.

"He made a contribution that was an inspiration to his associates in Congress, a contribution and example to the youth of the entire country that added honor to the name of Gardner and luster to the Commonwealth that bore him; and so it is fitting to hold this convention in the Gardner Auditorium, a convention in the seat of government of this Commonwealth, located near the Hall of Flags, flags that have been carried at the head of Massachusetts columns in every war in which the Commonwealth has participated from the beginning of our government.

"Many of the flags are tattered; many are spattered with the blood of the men who carried them and the men who defended them; but, thank God! let it be said to the credit of Massachusetts soldiers, sailors and marines that in the Hall of Flags there is no flag missing that they took out with them when they started out in defence of country and principle.

"It is an inspiration to come here and find seated on the platform one of those gallant old souls that are rapidly becoming a memory in American life, but a memory as dear as the memory of one's mother; a memory as tender as the words of 'Home, Sweet Home' and as inspiring as the 'Battle Hymn of the Republic' to the millions from the North who responded to this country's call, men of higher character no country has ever known or probably will know, marched forth in those stirring days, that every state be retained in the Union and every star in the American flag, under the inspiring leadership of Abraham Lincoln.

"This man, State Commander of the G. A. R., and his associates performed a signal service in that hour of the nation's trial. They have performed equal patriotic service in the hour of peace. They have preached and practised a doctrine of patriotic devotion to country and love of American institutions. They have been living examples of the best character of American citizenship. We regret that they are leaving us. As Americans, mindful of our country's future, we rejoice that your organizations which have rendered equally devoted service in the hour of trial are to fill the place of the rapidly thinning ranks of the veterans of the Civil War. I have a profound realization of how difficult a task it is to secure the fullest possible measure of justice for the men who served during the period of the World War.

"I cannot forget during the period of the World War how profuse everyone in America, from the highest to the lowest public official, was in promises, and I realize how slow our representatives have been to make good the pledges then made. But no man should be discouraged. It was not until 1912 that the Dollar-a-day Pension Act was passed for the men who served ninety days or more in the Civil War, and it never would have become a law then were it not for the devoted service of that great American soldier, Brigadier General Sherwood, who enlisting as a private, served through all the years of the Civil War, and returned to private life with the rank of brigadier general.

"He never forgot his comrades and as a Congressman was the father of the Dollar-a-day Pension Act. They were required to wait until forty-seven years after the war was over before they secured a reasonable measure of justice.

"So far as devotion in the ranks of the men who fought in the World War, I would like to see every man who served in the World War enrolled in some military organization, because the man who stands ready to risk his life in the hour of trial is the man we should have for guidance in the hour of peace. So I say to you, close up your ranks, increase your membership and give your country in peace and private life as high a character of patriotic service as you gave in the hour of trial. The problems of the republic in the hour of peace are fully as important and difficult of solution as the problems in the hour of trial. We have in America a crowd of internationalists who call themselves intellectuals.

"They preach in the forums of the university, in the pulpits of Christian churches and from the public platforms throughout the land their dangerous doctrines, for these men are more interested in Europe that they are in the United States of America. Your organization bears the rather significant name, 'Veterans of Foreign Wars.' I believe it is about time that we stopped engaging in foreign wars for the benefit of foreign rulers. They have nothing in common with us. Seventy thousand lads, the flower of our youth, sleep beneath the soil of France and Flanders, which in life they honored and in death they glorify.

"Nearly fourteen billions of American money still remains in Europe; it does not pay interest; it probably never will and every ruler is looking around for fertile fields of investment for those unpaid billions, and internationalism with its oil fields and ore fields will profit through exploitation and sacrifice, of the youth of America and the money of America. If they must exploit their oil fields and ore fields let them do it with their own manhood and with their own money.

"Our obligation is to furnish the example, the example of what is possible under free government, of what is possible when the only right recognized is the right of personal liberty. The Revolutionary War was fought to destroy the theory of 'Divine right'; the Civil War was a war for the divine rights of humanity; a war fought to determine the right of the individual without regard to race, creed or color as written into the Constitution; to preserve the principle established by the Revolutionary War, the principle restated and maintained by the Civil War, the right of the individual to the free exercise of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness without regard to race, creed or color.

"Our obligation to our country, to our flag and to humanity demands we put our own house in order; and our first thought at all times must be to our own land and our own government and to the best flag in the whole world, the Stars and Stripes."

Gentlemen,—Subject to confirmation by your honorable body, I appoint James Graham, 37 Billerica street, Boston, to the position of Constable of the City of Boston, for the term ending April 30, 1924.

Memo-Office Hours Registry of DEEDS.

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 11, 1923.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I beg to inform herewith, in compliance with the order of the City Council adopted upon approval of June 4, which order provides that the office of the Registry of Deeds be closed on week days, except Saturdays, at 4 p. m., from July 2 to September 1, 1923, inclusive.

In view of the demand recently made by the Registry of Deeds that he be supplied additional help on order that his records may be brought up to date and that the public might receive the character of service necessary at the Registry, it is difficult to understand why an order of the character approved by your honorable body should be so interpreted.

Positions in the Registry of Deeds Department are attractive, the work is congenial, the atmosphere of the office is inviting and the salaries paid are not unduly small.

In view of these facts I do not believe there is serious danger of many resignations being submitted in the event that the employees are required to labor in accordance with schedules now in operation in various departments of the city.

My personal opinion is that seven hours of the character of work that is performed in the Registry of Deeds Department is not an undue burden on the health of the worker, and that a less number would be injurious to the City.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

REGULATION OF THEATER TICKETS.

The following was received:
City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 11, 1923.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I beg to inform herewith of your honorable body, the question of regulating the sale of theater tickets with a view to preventing the circulation of unfair and unwarranted prices by speculators, either during or after the performance of a theatrical production.

I beg to submit herewith a report presented by the Corporation Counsel, as to the rights and authority of the city in the matter of regulation.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Law Department, June 8, 1923.
Hon. James M. Curley,

Sir:—After further consideration of your communication of November 16, 1922, concerning the drafting of an ordinance prohibiting the sale of theater tickets by speculators in connection with Mr. John M. Casey, chief of the Licensing Division, Mayor's office, I respectfully submit the following report.

It is necessary to regulate the sale of theater tickets by the City of Boston for the purpose of preventing the circulation of unfair and unwarranted prices by speculators, either during or after the performance of a theatrical production. The first of these is the right of the City of Boston to regulate the sale of theater tickets by speculators. The first of these is the right of the City of Boston to regulate the sale of theater tickets by speculators. The first of these is the right of the City of Boston to regulate the sale of theater tickets by speculators.

credit with the agent who acts as their broker. Such agencies are established in various hotels and department stores throughout the city.

The other type of theater ticket agency is that represented by Nacey's Drug Store at the corner of Eliot and Tremont streets. Such agencies as this do not deal in tickets of all theaters but confine themselves principally to those theaters which at the time are playing "capacity" shows. They deal very extensively also in tickets representing the lower priced seats to shows playing capacity houses.

I interpret the order of the City Council, referred to in your Honor's letter to me of November 16, 1922, as being aimed at this latter type of agency. Because of the provisions of the United States revenue laws, requiring sellers of amusement tickets to stamp the time, etc., on purchase, these tickets are not sold upon the streets. The method employed is to place solicitors in the immediate vicinity of theaters, who distribute the agency's cards to prospective purchasers, directing them to the place or store where tickets may be purchased—and always at a price higher than that paid at the box office of the theater.

The various theater managers deny any connection between them and this latter type of agency. However, it is not beyond the bounds of reason to suppose that if the City Council desires to eliminate this form of agency its elimination could be effected by ordinary diligence on the part of the theater managers. I do not believe, however, that your Honor has any authority by which you can actually prevent the sale of agency tickets to their various houses. I do not believe, however, that your Honor has any authority by which you can actually prevent the sale of agency tickets to their various houses.

The Revised Ordinances of the City of Boston, chapter 40, section 10, provides in part as follows: "No person shall . . . distribute to persons on a street handbills, cards, circulars or papers of any kind except newspapers."

The diligent enforcement of this ordinance by the police would prevent the distribution on the street in the vicinity of theaters of advertising cards by persons representing the theater ticket agency.

Beyond this there is no authority given to you or to the City Council to interfere in the manner in which theaters shall merchandise their tickets.

Chapter 748, Special Acts of 1915, provides in part as follows:

"The mayor of Boston . . . shall grant a license to theatrical exhibitors . . . upon such terms and conditions as he deems reasonable."

The mayor and the police commissioner of Boston and the chief justice of the municipal court of the city of Boston, by their order, may revoke or suspend any such license at their pleasure.

Two of my predecessors in the office of Corporation Counsel have given conflicting opinions respecting the meaning of the words "shall grant" in one. John A. Sullivan says, under date of January 9, 1917, that the words "shall grant" are mandatory and that the Legislature in passing this act intended them. In the opinion of Arthur D. Hill, Esq., under date of May 16, 1921, says that the words "shall grant" are permissive and mean "may grant."

My personal opinion is, and I so give it herein, that the Legislature cannot be presumed to have intended to interfere with the theatrical exhibitions beyond what was reasonably necessary for the protection of the morals of the public and the safety of property. In the issuing of liquor licenses the Legislature presumed to impose a numerical limit upon the license that may be granted in any community. With respect to theaters in the City of Boston, they have said:

"The mayor of the city of Boston shall grant a license for theatrical exhibitions . . . upon such terms and conditions as he deems reasonable."

The words "such terms and conditions as he deems reasonable" do not mean such as satisfy his personal opinion or caprice but such as may be justified by sound reasoning and a broad understanding of local conditions. The words of the act do not revocations upon the basis of their pleasure," do not mean that revocations may be made according to the whim or caprice of those in charge of the officials. Other than this, the words would be speaking in broader terms than the constitutional power of the Legislature itself.

Theaters are private property and in no sense public or quasi-public enterprise, and as such may be conducted as any private business is conducted, subject to those reasonable regulations which the Legislature, in the exercise of its police power, may impose.

People v. Flynn, 114 N. Y. App. Div. 578.
Collister v. Hayman, 183 N. Y. App. Div. 100.
Greenberg v. Western Turf Assoc., 140 Cal. 357.
Bunzee v. Newport Amusement Co., 29 R. I. 23.

People v. Ericson, 346 N. Y. 326.

The price which a theater may directly or indirectly, or permit others to, place upon their tickets of admission has no legal relation with those matters which rightly are the objects of the state, namely, the moral character of the show or amusement to be exhibited in said theater and the health and safety conditions surrounding the theater; and any ordinance or law not strictly confined to these objects would be unconstitutional.

Our Legislature has not yet presumed so far as to attempt to regulate the price even of necessities of life, for the reason that it is conscious of no constitutional authority in this field. Much less, then, is its right either by its own direct legislation or its delegated powers to cities, acting by ordinance, to regulate the price of theater tickets. Several efforts have been made during the past years to regulate this matter by legislative enactment.

See House Bill No. 710 (1922).
See House Bill No. 1171 (1922).
See Senate Bill No. 256 (1922).

Respecting such suggested legislation, the Attorney-General of the Commonwealth has said: "The power to license cannot be invoked in order to impose by indirect restrictions or regulations that which would be unconstitutional if directly imposed. Such use of the licensing power could be made as efficient as direct regulation to deprive the citizen of those rights of liberty and property guaranteed to him both by the Constitution of Massachusetts and by the Fourteenth Amendment."

See Opinion of Attorney-General Allen, April 4, 1922, and cases cited.
See also IV. Op. Atty. Gen. 207.

"The Legislature has certain powers of regulation and has not certain other powers of regulation, and the distinction between these two sorts of powers remains the same whether the Legislature in direct statutory prohibition by means of conditions in licenses is merely a method of enforcement and does not go to the root of the question of legislative power."

See IV. Op. Atty. Gen. 207.

The suggested ordinance has nothing to do with the health, morals or general welfare of the public. It is only an attempt to dictate to a licensee the manner in which he shall conduct a private business where the sale of tickets and the fixing of prices is a matter exclusively within the control of the licensee.

It is my opinion, therefore, that the suggested ordinance would be invalid and unconstitutional.

Respectfully submitted,
E. MARK SULLIVAN,
Corporation Counsel.

FIRE HOUSE, EAST BOSTON.

The following was received:
City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 6, 1923.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I beg to present herewith report of the Fire Commissioner relative to the immediate necessity for the construction of a fire house at East Boston to house Engine Company No. 40 at Summer Street (Deane Street).

The present fire quarters have been in use for upwards of half a century and the condition of the house is such that there is a possibility that the Building Commissioner may condemn it at any time. There is sufficient land in the control of the department at this particular point to provide a site for a new house and necessary accommodations for reserve apparatus.

I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $60,000 and be hereby is appropriated for the erection of a new building for Engine No. 40, at Summer and Orleans streets, East Boston, to be expended by the Fire Commissioner, so that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

PLAYGROUND, COLUMBIA ROAD.

The following was received:
City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 11, 1923.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I beg to submit herewith petition received from the master of the Quincy Dickerman School, with a report of the City Planning Board, submitted to my predecessor on April 9, 1919, and later endorsed by the City Planning Board in April of 1922, as to the advisability of the city establishing a playground in this particular locality.

A hearing on an application for a garage upon that portion of the premises has been held before the Street Commissioner and on this one of the few areas available for playground purposes in a congested center of the city. I respectfully recommend the taking of the same for playground purposes and the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.
(Annexed were papers referred to.)

Ordered, That the sum of $50,000 be appropriated to be expended by the Park Commissioners for playground at Columbus street and Ceylon street, in the Dorchester district, and that to meet said appropriation, the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized, to issue from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

RESURFACING, COMMONWEALTH AVENUE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 11, 1923.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith communication received from the chairman of the Park Commission, requesting an additional appropriation of $35,000 for the resurfacing of Commonwealth avenue, from Washington street to Sutherland road, and respectfully recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, June 9, 1923.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—You are respectfully asked to make a request on the City Council for an additional appropriation of $35,000 for the Maintenance Appropriation, F-12, Special Items, Contracts for Construction, Commonwealth Avenue Pavement. The reason for making this additional appropriation is that in our budget request we asked for the sum of $133,200 for the purpose of placing a permanent pavement on Commonwealth avenue, from Harvard avenue to the Newton line. We were allowed $80,000 to do such work as could be done for this sum. After advertising for proposals, bids were submitted to do such work in excess of $100,000, which must be reduced in order to come within the amount allowed in the appropriation.

As the work has progressed, however, we find that it is urgently necessary to continue the work from Washington street to Sutherland road, and this additional amount is asked for this purpose. The cost of laying a concrete pavement on Commonwealth avenue, from Washington street to Sutherland road, and the additional cost of grout-jacking gutters and gravel for foundation of the section from Warren street to Washington street is estimated by our engineer as follows:

2,300 cubic yards roadway excavation at $1.90	$4,370
12,000 square yards macadam foundry, reshaped, at $0.20	2,400
1,200 square yards gutters, repaved and grouted, at $2.50	3,000
1,400 cubic yards cement concrete surfacing, at $13.50	20,850
50,000 pounds steel reinforcement, at $0.35	2,750
12 manholes raised, at $10	100
800 cubic yards gravel, furnished and spread, at $2	1,600
Total	$35,070

Respectfully yours,
JAMES B. SHEA,
Chairman.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer:
From the appropriation for Soldiers' Relief Department, F-8, $1,000, to the appropriation for Relief and Bazaar, $35,000, to the appropriation for Park Department, F-12, contracts for construction where money is derived from taxes as per Schedule B, $35,000.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—You are respectfully asked to make a request on the City Council for a transfer of the sum of $3,067.02 from the Special Loan Appropriation, Gymnasium, South Boston, to the Special Loan Appropriation, Christopher J. Lee Playground, Improvement and Extension of. We asked in our original request for the sum of $100,000, and an appropriation of $75,000 was made. Later, we asked for an additional appropriation of $25,000 from the Special Loan Appropriation, Christopher J. Lee Playground, Improvement and Extension of. We find, as the work is now nearing completion, that we will need this transfer of $3,067.02 which is no longer needed in the appropriation, Gymnasium, South Boston, in order that the work on the playground may be brought to a proper completion.

Inclosed please find estimate for this work submitted by the engineer of the department.

Yours very truly,

City of Boston,
Park Department, June 11, 1923.
Mr. James B. Shea,
Chairman, Park Commission:

Dear Sir,—The following changes and additions at Christopher J. Lee Playground, South Boston, are recommended for your approval:

1. Brick wall instead of concrete wall at northeast corner of playground, 50 cubic yards at an additional cost of $30 per yard, equals	$1,500
2. Make seats of bleachers of 2-inch by 12-inch instead of 2-inch by 10-inch hard pine, additional cost	$350
3. Remove nosings and overhangs of concrete step	200
4. Tooled finish instead of smooth finish and concrete walls on street	500
5. Extra steps to rear of concrete bleachers	200
6. Water supply for additional drinking fountains	250
Total	$3,000

The proposed change from concrete to brick wall at the northeast corner of playground is necessary on account of the wooden abutting on playground being only 6 inches from the property line.

Office of the Mayor, June 11, 1923.
To the City Council:
Gentlemen,—The Radistone Company of New York, under date of April 27, submitted a communication, a copy of which I beg to here present. At the present time the city possesses plaques of nineteen men who have held the office of mayor out of a total of thirty-nine who have either served as mayor or as acting mayor during the 100 years the existence of Boston as a city.

It would, in my opinion, be, as a matter of justice, proper to accord recognition to each individual who has held the office during this period of time, and that their services may be permanently perpetuated, I respectfully recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I beg to submit herewith communication received from the chairman of the Street Commission, the same being in reply to order adopted by your honorable body under date of April 6, 1923, relative to consideration of the advisability of prohibiting the trucks the use of Boylston street, between Tremont street and Copley square, and of Tremont street, between Boylston street and Scollay square, and of Washington street, between Boylston street and Adams square, during the hours from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Street Laying-Out Department, June 6, 1923.

Hon. James M. Curley,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—This Board has given a public hearing on the advisability of excluding through commercial traffic from Washington street, between Boylston street and Cornhill, Tremont street between Boylston street and Scollay square, and Boylston street, between Tremont street and Copley square, daily, between the hours of eleven o'clock a. m. and five o'clock p. m.

After having given this matter a careful consideration, I beg leave to report that this Board is of opinion that it would not be feasible to adopt such a regulation at this time.

Very respectfully yours,

JOHN H. L. NOYES, Chairman.

NEW STREET, UPHAM'S CORNER.

The following were received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 11, 1923.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I beg to submit herewith report submitted by the Street Commissioners in answer to order adopted by the City Council under date of April 23, 1923.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Street Laying-Out Department, May 24, 1923.

Hon. James M. Curley,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The Board of Street Commissioners have carefully considered the question referred to in the enclosed order from the City Council and would say, that the question of opening the new street on the corner of Upham's Corner has been considered by them for a great many years. The most feasible plan would be the Ceylon street extension proposition which would cost approximately $275,000. We who are conversant with the financial conditions of the city know that it is impossible to secure such an appropriation within the debt limit, and very improbable outside the debt limit.

My own personal opinion is that if the money were available it could be spent to much better advantage in other ways for the relief of traffic congestion, as this project is at best a pure experiment and of rather doubtful value.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN H. L. NOYES, Chairman.

Placed on file.

BOSTON SOON TO BOAST OF HAVING LARGEST POLICE STATION IN WORLD.

CORNER STONE OF NEW STATION 2 STRUCTURE LAID FRIDAY WITH ELABORATE CEREMONY, WITH MAYOR CURLEY OFFICIATING — COMMISSIONER WILSON ALSO TAKES PART — BUILDING AT CORNER MILK AND SEARS STREETS.

BOSTON'S NEW POLICE STATION FOR DIVISION 2.—THE CORNER STONE OF WHICH WAS LAID FRIDAY—LARGEST BUILDING OF KIND IN WORLD.

With the laying of the corner stone Friday of the new Police Station 2 building with elaborate ceremonies, work was begun on what Boston citizens may point to with pride as the largest police station in the world. City officials led by Mayor James M. Curley and police officials led by Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson took part in the ceremonies.

Ten stories and a basement, occupying 60,000 square feet of floor area, will be provided in the building being erected at the corner of Milk and Sears streets for the police of the second division in City Hall avenue, the traffic squad and the property department.

The architect is James Purdon; the engineer, Burtis Brown; and the contractor M. Seretto.

Though the location of the new building may not be in the heart of the downtown district, it was acceptable to the late Police Commissioner, Edwin U. Curtis, and meets with similar approval by the present commissioner, Herbert A. Wilson.

The building, including land, which will cost approximately $650,000, will be of steel construction, with brick and granite walls, concrete floors and roof and terra cotta partitions.

In the basement there will be a gun range, oil-burning boilers, machine rooms, seized liquor storerooms and the janitor's quarters. The first floor will be occupied by the Station 2 police, the quarters embracing a guard room, cell room with fifteen cells; signal room, special officers' rooms, kitchen, a four-car garage and lavatories.

The second to fourth floors, inclusive, will contain bedrooms for eight superior officers and sixty bedrooms for patrolmen. The fifth and sixth floors will be occupied by the traffic division, bedrooms being provided for two hundred men. The seventh to ninth floors, inclusive, will be for the property department, and the tenth floor will contain the drill hall.

At 11.30 a. m. the traffic band of the Police Department, with a detail of patrolmen from Division 20, Capt. Bernard J. Hoppe commanding, marched from the quarters of the traffic squad, in the Faneuil Hall Market, through Dock square, Brattle square, Brattle street and Scollay square to Pemberton square, and thence escorted Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson and Superintendent Michael H. Crowley with a detail from police headquarters to City Hall.

Here the procession was headed by a detail from Station 2, under Capt. Perley S. Kneeland, and a detail from the property department under Capt. Charles W. Searles, as escort to Mayor Curley and Superintendent of Public Buildings Fred J. Kneeland.

Thence the line of march was: School street to Washington, to State, to Broad, to Milk, to Sears street.

The ceremonies began at noon with the singing of "America," led by the band, and continued with introduction by Superintendent Kneeland, invocation by Rev. Donald B. Aldrich, St. Paul's Cathedral, and an address by the Mayor, who at the close of his remarks laid the corner stone. The program closed with response by Commissioner Wilson and "The Star-Spangled Banner."

MAYOR CURLEY SEVERELY SCORES THREE SOUTHERNERS WHO PROTEST HIS CHOICE.

CALLS CHARLOTTE, N. C., CITIZENS TO TASK FOR AN OFFENSIVE AND IMPERTINENT LETTER IN WHICH THEY PROTEST NAMING OF CHARLES C. DOGAN TO READ DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

Mayor Curley has severely rebuked the three citizens of Charlotte, N. C., who sent a letter of protest to him recently against his choosing of Charles C. Dogan, a colored boy, to read the Declaration of Independence from the balcony of the Old State House on July 4. The letter of protest was signed by Thomas F. Armstrong, J. Frank McLelland, and Frank Dalton. Their letter to the Mayor and his reply follow:

The letter from the Southerners reads:

JAMES M. CURLEY,

Mayor of Boston.

SIR,—The Boston Post of June the 5th carries the announcement that you have selected Charles C. Dogan, honor pupil at the English High School, to read the Declaration of Independence from the balcony of the Old State House in connection with the July fourth exercises.

Being former Bostonians and still residents of Boston in spirit if not body, and further knowing the negro as we know them we protest such an appointment on the grounds of a deliberate insult to the Boston schoolboy and the average Bostonian.

The South would not allow such an appointment to be made, and we believe, knowing both sides as we do, that what this section of the country will not tolerate should not be accepted by the city of our birth.

We make the above protest aware that the question of race has never been settled, but we feel as all here do in the supremacy of the white race.

May we not have the honor of hearing from you.

Respectfully,

THOMAS F. ARMSTRONG.

J. FRANK MCLELLAND.

FRANK DALTON.

Charlotte, N. C., June 17, 1923.

Mayor Curley sent the following reply.

(Charlotte, N. C.)

Your extraordinary letter of June 7, 1923, has been received and its contents noted. You object to the selection of Charles C. Dogan, a negro boy, to read the Declaration of Independence from the balcony of the Old State House on the Fourth of July; you assume that such a selection is a "deliberate insult" to the children of the English High School, of which he is an "honor pupil"; and you protest that what Charlotte, N. C., refuses to tolerate Boston should not accept.

I have seldom received a letter from any source so lacking in good manners, so devoid of Americanism, so destitute of all knowledge of the principle and practices of our government and so offensively and stupidly impertinent. It is some satisfaction to know that this ill-mannered effusion was not written by any native Carolinian; for while Massachusetts and Carolina may differ profoundly upon the race question, both are as one in recognizing the necessity of practicing politeness and observing the conventions of decent society in correspondence and social relations. You do not speak therefore for the town you live in, Charlotte, or the state of North Carolina, so they must be acquitted of the offensive, ill-breeding and unwarranted meddling in the affairs of Massachusetts and Boston exhibited in your letter. When men claiming birth and former residence in Boston are guilty of the gross discourtesy you have committed, and its bad manners are emphasized by a betrayal of the principles and the insult to the traditions of their birthplace, they become at once deserving of scorn and contempt.

I refuse to accept you as the spokesmen of the state and the children of the men who fought and died for human freedom on King's Mountain.

Charles C. Dogan was selected for the honor conferred on him for excellent reasons; he has shown a competence and capacity in the generous rivalry of school life to make him a worthy choice; he is an "honor pupil," that is to say a pupil of more than ordinary attainments; his choice has the approbation of his fellow pupils; and his selection to read the immortal Declaration of Independence is an expression of our recognition of the services of his race in Massachusetts to human freedom and democratic government. One of his race died in the streets of Boston in defense of human rights—Crispus Attucks—and Boston has raised a monument to his memory on Boston Common; and thousands of his race fought and died to preserve the Union in the War of the Rebellion, and to make the world safe for democracy in the World War. Any man of any race, color or creed, who is willing and worthy to serve the flag and die for the republic is worthy to have his place in the sun of American democracy.

Let me commend to you three men the wisdom of reading and remembering the principles embedded in the Bible, the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States and the Massachusetts Bill of Rights. The Scriptures tell us that God made man in His own image, be the envelopment in which he enshined his soul, white, black, brown or yellow.

Let me also commend to you the desirability of moving out of Carolina and going further afield to regions where men of your viewpoint may find a congenial atmosphere which I am sure is not to be found in North Carolina, and should be impossible to find in any portion of America.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor.

CITY TO PROVIDE HOMES FOR 200 FAMILIES ON EASY PAYMENT PLAN.

Mayor Curley received the following communication from Mr. M. Douglas Flattery, chairman of the Boston Conservation Bureau, outlining the plan of the Bureau for building and financing houses for people of limited means in the City of Boston:

The City of Boston through the Conservation Bureau has obtained an option on a large tract of land in Dorchester. This land is in a good location near one of the playgrounds and within a short distance of all grades of public schools. The ground is high and dry and is admirably situated for the purpose of building homes. An option has been obtained at a price of about 5 cents a foot and it may be said that this land would, under ordinary circumstances, be held by a speculator at 35 cents a foot. It is proposed to build four blocks of houses, each block containing eighteen houses and each lot of land measuring 24 feet by 150 feet, making an area of 3,600 square feet.

The city will lay out streets 60 feet wide and there will be a passageway in the rear of each block 12 feet wide. The houses will be constructed of brick and all materials will be first-class.

The Conservation Bureau has appointed a committee consisting of two bankers, two real estate men, two architects and two engineers and contractors, and plans have been drawn which show a two-family house containing five rooms, alcove and bathroom on the ground floor, and six rooms with a bathroom on the second floor. The basement will be divided into two parts with a separate heating unit for each dwelling. Contracts will be placed for the digging of the cellars by steam shovel and for the building of the basement cellars of concrete. The brickwork, plumbing, hardware, trim, etc., will all be placed under separate contracts and if possible no contractor will be awarded more than one block.

All parts of these buildings will be standardized so that baths, basins, bowls, window frames, doorknobs, lock, etc., will be purchased in carload lots at the mill. The architects' plans and specifications will also be standardized so that one set of plans will cover every dwelling. Owing to these economies and this method of purchasing and contracting, the Bureau believes it will be able to sell these houses, including the land and two small garages to each house, at about $6,500.

It is hoped to be able to interest one or more of the large insurance companies in taking the mortgages at the rate of 6 per cent for ten years, and as each purchaser will have to pay 20 per cent of the purchase price in cash the mortgage will be well secured and the purchasers will have the advantage of cheap money.

Under present conditions it is estimated that the ordinary building speculator would have to spend at least $3,000 for each house more than the above estimate, and an individual purchaser of such a house would have to pay at least $12,000, so that the plan practically proposes to make a present of at least $5,000 to $6,000 to each of the fortunate citizens who are able to secure a deed to one of these houses. The Bureau will probably insist that not more than a maximum rent of $480 per year for each flat be charged, but this would be at least 35 per cent or 40 per cent below the current rent for similar suites in the better suburbs of Boston.

Therefore, if the owner of a house rented one floor for $480 per year and charged himself with rent at the rate of $480 a year for the other suite, also renting the two garages each for $10 a month, he would have credited himself with a total income of $1,200 a year. His taxes would probably be $150 a year, insurance $10, interest on $5,000 at 6 per cent, $300, making total expenses of $460. This would give him under the best circumstances a net income of $740, and if he paid all of this toward reducing the mortgage he would own the property free and clear in less than seven years.

By building 100 houses the city would gain to the extent of $15,000 a year in additional taxes, and would be creating 200 homes as well as giving 100 of its citizens a substantial stake in the community and putting them in a way of creating a fortune which under ordinary circumstances would be entirely beyond their hopes.

It is proposed to award these homes to the most deserving citizens, and a method of marking has been devised along the following lines (but which are all subject to modification): A scheme of marking has been devised, and a man with six children (alive) who had served in the army or navy and had been a resident of Boston for ten years would start with a perfect score, and it is proposed to adjust each of these qualifications in some way that will be reasonably scientific, the principal idea being that it is the object of the city to help those who have given their lives to the service of the city, not necessarily as employees but as good citizens.

Respectfully submitted,

M. DOUGLAS FLATTERY,
Chairman, Boston Conservation Bureau.

PROTESTS BLOW AT BOSTON'S OCEAN TRAVEL BUSINESS.

Mayor Curley has addressed the following letter to Mr. Frank S. Davis, Director of the Maritime Association of the Boston Chamber of Commerce:

"I desire to invite your attention to the inclosed clipping from the Boston Globe, stating that by reason of a new ruling of the immigration authorities aliens arriving by transatlantic steamers at the Port of Boston on Sundays will not be examined on that day, but will be obliged to remain on the vessels until Monday.

"This is a reversal of the policy which I am informed has existed at this port for the past twenty-five years, and which has resulted in Boston being favorably known among shipping interests as the port where transatlantic passengers are most expeditiously handled. The former policy of immediate examination of passengers, whether arriving on Sunday, a holiday, or week day, has been the cause of the diversion to this port of large passenger liners which would otherwise have been compelled to wait several days at New York before their passengers could be debarked.

"With this new rule in effect at Boston, delays and expense to the steamship companies will ensue, and I feel it will cause a number of steamers now scheduled to come to Boston to cancel their call at this port, and proceed direct to New York, as New York being their ultimate destination, there will be no advantage in their calling at Boston where they are subject to the same delay as at the former port.

"I am referring this matter for your consideration and possible protest to the Secretary of Labor at Washington against the evident handicap which the ruling places upon the Port of Boston."

ASSESSMENT FIXED.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners in which it was voted, on advice of the Law Department, that in the matter of Thomas F. Reddy et al., petitioners for revision of betterment assessments levied upon parcels of land on Cushing Hill, Dorchester district, for the laying out and construction of Hill Top street, said lots being numbered 31, 36, 37, 38, 39, 44, 45, 46, 47, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 61, 110, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 100, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 30, 29, 28, 27, 22, 21, the Board resolves and reduces said assessments to the sum total of $1,000 flat, and consents that the Corporation Counsel agree to judgment in said case on the terms stated.

MAYOR OFFICIATES AT DEDICATION.

Mayor Curley delivered the principal address at the laying of the corner stone of the Swedish Evangelical Lutheran Vasa Church Sunday afternoon at Talbot avenue and Argyle street, Dorchester. Nearly 300 communicants, led by the Rev. S. G. Hagglund, pastor of the church, were present.

The Mayor eulogized the industry and loyalty of the Swedish-Americans, and declared that there could not be too many churches in the United States, as at the present time only one quarter of the population belonged to any denomination, or even believed in a God. He was followed by Mr. Hagglund.

North Eastern Construction Company, $1,845.33; Walter Curley, $2,053; R. J. Connolly, $2,208; William N. McKenna Company, $1,185.

Incident to the award the following explanation was given by Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynne.

"The last-named bidder, William N. McKenna Company, submitted a bid through error and misunderstanding. They so notified this office at the time bids were being opened, and also by letter. The difference between their bid and the bids of the other contractors is so great it is very evident that a mistake was made. Furthermore, I know that the work could not be done for the price mentioned in their bid. I have, therefore, rejected the bid of William N. McKenna Company, and respectfully request your Honor's permission to award the contract for altering and installing shower baths at the quarters of Engine Company 32 to the next lowest bidder, the North Eastern Construction Company, 230 Medford street, Charlestown, for the sum of one thousand eight hundred forty-five dollars and thirty-three cents ($1,845.33)."

This company, however, in submitting its proposal, removed from the cover obtained in this office the specification attached thereto to furnish by this department, and substituted a specification of its own, which was inserted in the department cover and submitted. For this reason, the proposal not being in accordance with the specification furnished by this department, the Board has voted, subject to the approval of your Honor, to award the contract to the other bidder, the Petroleum Heat and Power Company, in the sum of $35,385.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts, awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do the work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Upon June 23 the Mayor approved a contract with the Murray Engineering Company for repairs to Fireboat Engine 31. A communication from the Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn was as follows:

Boston, June 21, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—I respectfully request your Honor's permission to make a contract without advertising, with the Murray Engineering Company, 61-65 Sumner street, East Boston, in the total amount of twelve hundred eighty-three dollars and eighty-six cents ($1,283.86), for repairs to Fireboat Engine 31.

The reason for making this request is as follows:

On April 20, 1923, the United States inspectors of the Department of Commerce ordered certain work to be done on this fireboat before a certificate of inspection would be issued. Without this certificate the boat could not be operated. The Murray Engineering Company agreed to do the work required for the sum of $297.93, and the work was ordered.

After the fireboat was in dry dock the United States inspectors made another examination and ordered more work to be done. The Murray Engineering Company agreed to do the work included in the second order for the sum of $985.93.

The work consisted of machining crank shaft and parts of circulator; babbitt crank shaft bearings for dynamo; machine crank shaft connecting rod bearing; machining pins for dynamo engine; re-setting scotch body and valve, machine rods and bush glands for air pump; calking and copper sheathing on bottom; removing old propeller blades and making new blades and replacing same; removing and replacing rudder, and renewing lead sleeve for same; new pintle.

The work required by the second order could not be foreseen, and if we delayed the work in any way there would be extra charges for lay days in dry dock, hauling, etc.

Yours very truly,

THEODORE A. GLYNN,
Fire Commissioner.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS DEPARTMENT.

Upon June 25 the Mayor approved a contract with Frank Ferdinand, Inc., for furnishing linoleum for the Election Department. A communication from Fred J. Kneeland, of the Public Buildings Department was as follows:

Boston, June 25, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—I wish to advise you that I have recently remodeled the quarters occupied by the Election Department on the first floor of City Hall Annex, removing partitions, etc. This has necessarily compelled me to relay in some places, and patch in others, the linoleum on the floors. It is going to be a tedious job to do same and nobody could estimate the cost with any degree of accuracy.

I feel however, that it will cost between $1,100 and $1,200 and I respectfully request permission to award a contract for doing same to Frank Ferdinand, Inc., in excess of $1,000, without the usual form of advertising.

Respectfully yours,

FRED J. KNEELAND,
Superintendent of Public Buildings.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Artificial Stone Sidewalks).

Upon June 25 the Mayor approved a contract with Carmine LeChiatto for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Joseph A. Rourke, Commissioner of the Public Works Department, was as follows:

Boston, June 25, 1923.

To the Mayor of Boston:

Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Carmine LeChiatto, 37 Sheafe street, Boston, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance, but by the abutters; and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

Upon June 21 the Mayor approved a contract, without advertising, for insuring boilers in the public schoolhouses, to the Travelers' Indemnity Company. A communication from Thomas P. Glynn, chairman of the Schoolhouse Commission, was as follows:

Boston, June 21, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,

Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners respectfully requests the approval of your Honor, under the provisions of section 30, chapter 486 of the Acts of 1909, to awarding a contract, without advertising, to the Travelers' Indemnity Company, Hartford Conn., for insuring the boilers in the public schoolhouses of the City of Boston for the period from the 15th day of June, 1923, to the 15th day of June, 1926, for the sum of $9,405.59.

The reason for making this request is that the amount for which this company agrees to perform the contract is the standard price of all insurance companies authorized to do boiler inspection under the laws of the state of Massachusetts. The Board is therefore of the opinion that no benefit would result to the city from advertising this work, and consequently recommends that your Honor approve the awarding of the contract to the above mentioned company in the sum of $9,405.59, as stated.

Respectfully yours,

THOMAS P. GLYNN,
Chairman.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners upon request of Joseph A. Rourke, Commissioner of Public Works, for the following construction work:

A sanitary sewer of 10-inch earthen pipe in Warren avenue, between 170 feet northwest of Summit street and a point 90 feet southeasterly, in the Hyde Park district, at an estimated cost of $720.

A surface drain of 10-inch, 12-inch, 15-inch, 20-inch and 24-inch earthen pipe and 8 catch-basins in Grayfield avenue, from Corey street 1,220 feet southwesterly; Corey street, between Vermont street and Grayfield avenue; Vermont street, between private land and Corey street, and private land off Vermont street, near Corey street, in the West Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $17,984.

ASSURES PROVINCE STREET WIDENING.

Despite the efforts of ten citizens, by action before the Supreme Judicial Court to block the widening of Province street, between School and Bromfield streets, Mayor Curley is confident that his loan order for $500,000, given its first reading by the City Council last Monday, practically assures the reconstructed street.

Boston citizens, the Mayor and the Street Commissioners are pleased with the decision of the trustees of the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank to grant to the city the five-story bank building on School street, in lieu of the assessment of any betterments.

This building is sixty-five years old and is assessed for $55,100. On part of this property stood the first Roman Catholic Church, erected about 1788.

The entire section of the Province street widening involves several historic sites. In 1817 the Second Universalist Church was built nearby. Rev. Hosea Ballou was ordained there in 1817.

For the second time the Old Corner Bookstore will have to move, its first eviction being from the store at the corner of School and Washington streets to the present location.

George U. Crocker, trustee of the property, has offered the building to the city on the same conditions as those of the bank. The property is assessed for $50,000.

Chairman John L. Noyes of the Street Commission has submitted the following table of assessed valuations on land and buildings, which will be taken:

George U. Crocker et al., trustees, 5,384 square feet of land, $359,895; buildings, $50,000, total, $409,895.

Massachusetts General Hospital, 2,094 square feet of land, $83,760; total, $83,760.

Olympia Realty Company, 1,704 square feet of land, $68,110; total, $68,110.

Boston Five Cents Savings Bank, 3,278 square feet of land, $334,356; buildings, $55,100; total, $389,456.

R. H. Gardiner et al., trustees, 360 square feet of land, $86,000; buildings, $5,000; total, $91,000.

EXTRA WORK UNDER CONTRACT.

Samuel J. Tomasello has been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for constructing Breck avenue, Boulevard terrace, Commonwealth terrace and Holton street. Items ordered: Relay house drains at Nos. 22 and 26 Breck avenue; price to be paid, the sum of $210—at an estimated cost of $210.

Samuel J. Tomasello, has been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for constructing Homes avenue, Kingman road and Pasadena road. Items ordered: (1) Prepare the site on Westville street and Dakota street where asphalt pavement is to be laid on macadam base as an approach to Kingman road and furnish extra binder where directed, to be paid for by force account; (2) prepare the site on Columbia road where asphalt pavement is to be laid on macadam base as an approach to Pasadena road, to be paid for by force account; the "Preparing Site" item was omitted from contract for laying asphalt pavement on macadam base and a change of grade, made after the concrete was laid, required the use of binder—at an estimated cost of $220.

B. E. Grant Company have been directed to perform the following extra work under contract for repaving South Market street and Merchants row. Items ordered: Relay granite block pavement and regulate edgestone, sidewalks, etc., in Commercial street, from State street to Clinton street; prices to be paid the same as those bid in contract for repaving South Market street and Merchants row—at an estimated cost of $9,500.

PENSION ACT MAY BOOST TAX RATE SIXTY CENTS.

The Boston Retirement Board, acting under the provisions of section 24 of the Boston Retirement Act, has certified to the Mayor that a total appropriation of $997,128 will be necessary from the city for this year to meet the requirements of the pension system.

The normal contribution, which is the amount the city supplies to match the contribution of the members, amounts to $311,533. The remainder, $685,595, is the amount required to provide for the past services of the employees and is called the accumulated liability contribution.

To meet the total appropriation the sum of sixty odd cents per thousand will have to be assessed, and possibly it may mean an increase in the tax rate. In view, however, of the benefits already apparent from the administration of the pension system, especially since the adoption of the $480 minimum, I am satisfied that the money is well spent both from the standpoint of the city service and the taxpayer.

THANKS MAYOR FOR SOUTH BOSTON IMPROVEMENT.

Mayor Curley has received the following communication from the South Boston Citizens' Association:

SOUTH BOSTON, June 21, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,

Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR:—At the last regular meeting of this association it was voted that the secretary write and thank your Honor for the completion of the granolithic walks along the Strandway from K street to the Mt. Vernon Street Railway Bridge.

While we appreciate that this is part of the larger development of this spot, we have been fighting for the past four years for this particular feature, which is a great one for many mothers with baby carriages, and we are very pleased to see these walks finished.

Sincerely yours,

SOUTH BOSTON CITIZENS' ASSOCIATION,
by F. O. WATT, Secretary.

AIDS MILITARY TRAINING.

Mayor Curley has directed that eleven municipal buildings be opened for use as subrecruiting stations for the August camp at Devens of the Citizen's Military Training Camp movement.

These buildings have been opened every day for a week, and an army officer on duty in each with literature and application blanks. Nearby doctors made physical examinations free of charge. Neither will the Citizens' Training Camp cost young men anything.

MAYOR INVITES GENERAL GOURAUD TO BOSTON

Mayor Curley sent the following telegram Thursday, inviting General Gouraud to be Boston's guest on his American visit.

BOSTON, June 28, 1923.

HON. J. J. JUSSERAND, Ambassador of France, 2460 Sixteenth street, N. W., Washington, D. C.:

MY DEAR AMBASSADOR,—I desire to extend a very hearty invitation to General Gouraud, the lion of the Argonne, to be the guest of the City of Boston during his American visit. I know of no greater pleasure which could come to General Gouraud than the opportunity of renewing his old acquaintance with the soldiers of the Yankee Division now living in Greater Boston. After you confer with him upon Saturday upon arrival in New York I sincerely trust I may be honored by your acceptance and that we may also have the pleasure of entertaining you in Boston.

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

POPULATION BY GEOGRAPHICAL DISTRICTS, UNITED STATES CENSUS.

East Boston (i. e., Wds. 1 and 2, including the island) 63,051 or 2,629 less than in 1915; Charlestown (Wds. 3 and 4) 34,272 or 5,329 less; Boston Proper (Wds. 5, 6, 7 and 8 and northern corner of Wds. 12 and 13) 170,637 or 25,663 decrease; South Boston (Wds. 9, 10 and northern part of Wd. 11 to Howell St.) 64,144 or 5,601 decrease; Roxbury (most of Wds. 12, 13, 14, 15 and all of Wd. 16) 135,024 or 7,341 increase; Dorchester (most of Wd. 11, Wds. 17, 18, 19, 20, 21 and part of 24) 157,932 or 19,813 increase; West Roxbury (including Jamaica Plain and Roslindale, i. e., Wds. 22 and 23) 63,190 or 7,119 increase; Brighton (Wds. 25 and 26) 41,724 or 6,942 increase; Hyde Park (most of Wd. 24) 18,086 or 628 increase. According to these unprecedented census returns, the five districts constituting the most densely inhabited part of Boston (i. e., from the northern boundary to Franklin Park, including Roxbury and South Boston) showed a net decrease from 1915 to 1920 amounting in all to 31,881, while the other four districts showed an increase of only 34,502. In the preceding five years, 1910-1915, the same five districts increased by 16,373 and the other four by 58,481, a total increase (omitting the 15,936 gained by annexation of Hyde Park in 1912) of 58,918, or more than 22 times the increase from 1915 to 1920 as shown by last U. S. Census.

MEASLES CASES INCREASE.

Health Commissioner Francis X. Mahoney made the following report to Mayor Curley on activities of his department in May:

BOSTON, June 11, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—I have the honor to submit herewith the report of activities of the Health Department for the month of May, 1923, in accordance with instructions contained in your letter of March 13, 1922.

MEDICAL INSPECTION.

Reported cases of measles far exceeded reports of any of the various other communicable diseases during May, with 1,278 cases reported in comparison with 914 for April. This disease seems to be quite prevalent in certain sections of the city. In a city like Boston we do not see such wide fluctuations in the prevalence of measles, taking Boston as a whole, as is seen in small places where epidemic of measles recur every four or five years as a new crop of children susceptible to measles comes into existence; but the recurring outbreaks of measles in certain sections of the city is comparable with these periodic epidemics found in smaller places.

One reason why so many cases of measles appear in a city like Boston is that anyone who is exposed to measles is almost sure to contract the disease if he has never had it. Another reason is because measles is contagious before a person who is coming down with it is even suspected of having it, and such a person usually has the disease in a contagious stage two or three days before the rash appears. No precautions are taken with the beginning cold which usually precedes measles, but when the rash appears attempts to protect others is of not much avail as contacts have by that time been infected if they have not already had the disease.

A decided decrease appears in the number of cases of whooping cough, 170 cases being reported as against 344 the preceding month.

Scarlet fever continues to increase slightly. During May 397 cases were reported, an increase of 50 cases over April, but there is no occasion for alarm over these figures.

Cases of diphtheria also increased slightly over the month of April.

Influenza has been diminishing so that there was but one case reported during May.

FOOD INSPECTION.

Early in May a shipment of 336 crates of celery was received from Florida, which showed upon examination a dangerous amount of spray which had been used apparently to overcome worms found in large numbers on the vegetable. The shipment was seized and condemned.

Two fires which occurred in the wholesale district on State street within a short time damaged huge quantities of food-stuffs stored there. One hundred twenty tons of nuts were condemned at the storehouse of one company, and of these, sixty tons were permitted to be shipped out of the state for mechanical purposes, with the consent of the federal authorities. At another wholesale house, damaged by fire, more than 78,000 pounds of miscellaneous canned goods, cereals and groceries were condemned; a portion of this, however, was permitted to be disposed of as hog feed.

Upon notification by the Federal Bureau of Chemistry asking the department to hold a car of oranges shipped from Florida, alleged to be "dry stem" oranges, the car in question, shipped from Maryland after hold tags had been placed on it by the State Board of Health, was located in South Boston and held. Samples taken from the car indicated that the oranges were affected with "dry stem." This is a condition which leaves the outward appearance of the fruit normal, but upon pressing down the stem end firmly crunching of the dry pulp cells is audible under pressure. The dryness of the pulp begins at the stem and extends for various distances through the orange. The car was held and the federal officials notified.

LABORATORY WORK.

There were 5,075 routine bacteriological examinations during May; 4,239 of these were in duplicate and 836 in quadruplicate.

Examination of swimming pools for sanitary and bacteriological conditions has been resumed, and expected to be continued throughout the summer months.

A bacteriological study has been made of the water from Meridian Street and Warren Street Bridges, where the Park Department contemplated establishing floating baths. A report of the study made was forwarded to the Park Department.

SANITARY INSPECTION.

No single feature of the work of sanitary inspection is especially worthy of comment for this month. The usual routine of inspection and examination has been carried on.

VITAL STATISTICS.

In comparison with the month of April, decreases were noted in practically all of the reported cases of communicable diseases.

During the same comparative period decreases appeared in deaths from all communicable diseases. The total deaths from all causes showed considerable decrease, as well as did the deaths from infantile causes of death.

PERSONNEL.

The deputy commissioner, Medical Division, acted as Health Commissioner in the absence of the latter from May 15 to May 20, on official business; four nurses were made permanent; one nurse was newly appointed, one clerk was newly appointed; one rat catcher was newly appointed, and two leaves of absence were granted on account of military duty.

Respectfully,

F. X. MAHONEY,
Health Commissioner.

THE FINANCE COMMISSION DIS-CUSSES STUART STREET DAM-AGE AWARDS.

The Finance Commission has sent to Mayor Curley the following dissertation on awarding of damages on Stuart street:

BOSTON, June 21, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

SIR: The extension and widening of Stuart street was first authorized by the Legislature by chapter 329 of the Special Acts of 1917, subject to the approval of the City Council within one year. The City Council did not approve this act.

Again, by chapters 312 and 465 of the Acts of 1920, the Legislature authorized the Street Commissioners, with the approval of the Mayor, to borrow the sum of $2,500,000 outside the debt limit for the extension of Stuart street from Tremont street to Huntington avenue. These acts did not require the approval of the City Council and provided that the extension and widening of this street should be made in accordance with the provisions of chapter 393 of the Acts of 1906, as amended by chapter 536 of the Acts of 1913, and acts in amendment thereof or in addition thereto. In 1921 the Legislature increased the amount that the city might borrow for this street improvement from $2,500,000 to $3,- 100,000. (See chapter 407 of 1921.)

The Street Commissioners on August 30, 1921, voted to take the land necessary for the extension and widening of Stuart street, awarded damages to the owners for the land taken, and assessed betterments upon the land fronting on the street as extended and widened. The Mayor gave his approval to these votes on September 8, 1921, and they were recorded with the plan of the new street in the Registry of Deeds for Suffolk County on September 16, 1921.

The total amount of damages originally awarded for land taken was $2,391,068.25.
The total amount assessed as betterments upon land abutting on the new street was $2,369,936.95, thus making the net cost to the city for taking land to make this street improvement $21,131.30.

The taking of land for the widening and extension of Stuart street became effective upon the recording of the votes of the Street Commissioners on September 16, 1921, but the damages awarded for the land taken could not be demanded or collected, or court action brought by the owners, until the city, through its proper agents, started the work of constructing the street in accordance with the votes of the Street Commissioners.
If the city for any reason did not start the work of construction within two years from the 16th of September, 1921, the taking made by the Street Commissioners would have become null and void.
The city entered to construct the street on November 16, 1921. Thereafter all damages awarded for the taking of land could have been accepted and payment demanded. And if the city did not then pay, the award would bear interest at 4 per cent from the record date of the votes of the Street Commissioners until payment was made.

Of the fifty-five owners awarded damages for land-taking, twenty-six accepted the original awards, amounting to $1,- 200,224, more than one half the total amount awarded. Twenty-five of the other twenty-nine owners who were entitled to damages have had their awards increased. Two awards were increased during Mayor Peter's administration to the extent of $6,824, and twenty-three awards have been increased during the present administration to the extent of $196,786.50. All of these increased awards required the approval of the Mayor. Within four months of your Honor's taking office you approved eight increases, amounting to $99,174. Two of these eight cases call for special comment.

Several small parcels of property fronting on Eliot street and Tremont street, but excluding the corner, were owned equally by J. Murray Howe and Samuel Lebowich, although carried in the name of William J. Stober, who had no interest in the property. Mr. Howe has been in the real estate business in Boston for forty-six years. He has been called to court as an expert in many cases, and by the City of Boston itself. Mr. Lebowich has been in the real estate business about twenty years. The Street Commissioners awarded $124,370 damages for the taking made of this property.

After this award was announced in September, 1921, Messrs. Howe and Lebowich presented to the Street Commissioners all the facts at their command that would justify increasing this award, but no increase was made by the Street Commissioners. According to the testimony of Mr. Howe before the Finance Commission, he and his partner believed that the award was satisfactory, but thought that they could probably convince the Street Commissioners that it ought to be increased $10,000 or $15,000.
Mr. Lebowich testified before the Finance Commission that he thought it ought to be increased by not less than $50,000. In January, 1922, Mr. Howe testified, he believed the award would not be increased and was in favor of accepting it, while Mr. Lebowich maintained that they would fare better with the incoming administration. Mr. Howe also testified that Mr. Lebowich intended to handle the matter himself under the new administration and was certain that he would procure an increase. Finally, toward the end of January, 1922, Mr. Howe was ready and willing to accept the award of the Street Commissioners, and testified that he proposed to Mr. Lebowich that they go to the Street Commissioners and accept the award. Mr. Lebowich then offered to buy Mr. Howe's share of the claim on the basis of the award. Mr.
Howe accepted and was paid by Mr.
Lebowich one half of $124,370, the amount of the award by the city. Thereafter Mr. Lebowich filed a suit against the city and, without presenting any new evidence before the Street Commissioners, was awarded $160,000 on April 22, 1922, an increase of $35,630, which amount was paid on May 1, 1922, with the approval of your Honor.

If Mr. Lebowich had been compelled to pursue his remedy in court, as he had chosen to do when he brought suit, the fact that he had purchased of his associate, Mr. Howe, his interest in their joint claim against the city on the basis of the original award would have been disclosed at the trial, and it is inconceivable that a jury would have fixed the damages to Mr. Lebowich on any other basis than that on which he bought his partner's share. There was no reason why the city should have hurried this settlement through as it did. The award was not bearing interest. It is clear that the city's side of the case was not fully prepared when the settlement was made.
Before the case would have been reached for trial the city would have had ample time to prepare the case fully. In the opinion of the Finance Commission the settlement of this case by increasing the original award by over $35,000 was in flagrant disregard of the city's interests.

The other case was that of Mr. Job E.
Gaskin. The city took 4,725 square feet of his land with the buildings on Church street and Grenville place. The Street Commissioners awarded him the sum of $90,340 in September, 1921. He was dissatisfied with the award and employed John F. Doherty, Esq., to represent him before the Street Commissioners. Upon the coming in of the present administration Mr. Doherty was discharged and Judge Thomas P. Riley of Malden was employed. A hearing was held before the Street Commissioners and the case presented by Judge Riley with the aid of two experts, and on April 12, 1922, the Street Commissioners awarded the sum of $125,089, an increase of $34,749, or over 38 per cent. No suit had been brought, no interest payments were running against the city, and the Law Department had not been consulted. This award was paid with your Honor's approval on May 17, 1922.

Mr. Job E. Gaskin testified before the Finance Commission that in accepting the increased award of $125,089 for 4,725 square feet of land and the buildings thereon he had suffered a loss of several thousand dollars. Yet in the same month that he had suffered this loss because of the city's alleged inadequate settlement of his claim Mr. Gaskin purchased of George F. Whitcomb both his claim against the city for property taken at the corner of Broadway and Mahan place, and also about 324 square feet of land. Title to the land was taken in the name of Mr. Gaskin's nephew, Lloyd G. Taylor, a student at college. Notwithstanding that Mr. Gaskin was the real owner of this property, he appeared before the Street Commissioners as a real estate expert, without disclosing his ownership of the property. The city had awarded George F. Whitcomb, the owner of record when the land was taken, $27,340. Mr. Gaskin testified that he paid Mr. Whitcomb about $30,000 for the claim and for the 324 feet of land. In December, 1922, the city settled with Mr. Gaskin for $42,000, an increase of $14,660 or 54 per cent. Mr. Gaskin's counsel was Joseph Lundy, Esq.

Again, in September, 1922, Mr. Gaskin purchased of William Hoag et al., trustees, property at the junction of Columbus avenue and Grenville place, taking title in the name of Frederick M. Durkee. The city had awarded $38,400 for this taking. Mr. Gaskin paid $39,900 for it, and in December, 1922, the city paid him $50,000.

The evidence in this investigation compels the conclusion that the city officials gave too great weight and credence to the suit set up by claimants for the property taken. It is equally clear that the claimants accurately gauged the city officials in this regard. Mr. Gaskin went so far as to buy claims in the names of other persons and to appear before the Street Commissioners as an expert for these other persons. He wrote the Street Commissioners on June 10, 1922, ten days after he bought the George F. Whitcomb claim in the name of Lloyd G. Taylor, and stated in his letter: "I have been requested to appraise the value of the estate 30-36 Broadway which was formerly owned by the Whitcomb estate." He further stated: "The minimum price for this land per square foot should be $20 per square foot." When he made this statement he had just bought, at a net cost of $8,250 per square foot, the remaining portion of the Whitcomb land at the corner of Broadway and Stuart street.

He further testified that he did not regard it as his duty to tell the Street Commissioners when he appeared as an expert on the Whitcomb estate that he was in fact the owner of it.

Mr. Gaskin succeeded so well in impressing the Street Commissioners as an expert in this case that later, when he bought the claim of William Hoag in September, 1922, taking title in the name of Frederick M. Durkee, he testified that he "went down there [to the Street Commissioners] as an expert and convinced them." It appears that there was no city official sufficiently vigilant to ascertain that when Mr. Gaskin thus presented himself a second time as an expert he was in fact the owner of the property, and it was not difficult to establish this fact.

In the opinion of the Finance Commission the city's interests are in jeopardy when parties buy land suits against the city for speculative purposes and succeed in those purposes without having to try their cases in court. The two owners sold their claims for a trifle more than the city had awarded them to one who was willing to speculate and who in a short time procured from the city a 54 per cent increase in one case and a 28 per cent increase in the other over the original awards. Ordinary diligence on the part of the city authorities would have revealed the true ownership in these cases. These claims, presented by persons who were not owners at the time of the land-taking, should have been looked upon with great suspicion. Certainly a trial in court would have saved the city the humiliation of having enriched speculators by paying thousands of dollars more than the original owners were willing to accept.

On May 24, 1923, the Finance Commission asked your Honor to substantiate five charges which you had made concerning the payment of damages to Nathan Matthews, trustee, for property taken by the city in extending Stuart street from Oxford terrace to Huntington avenue. Your Honor's reply indicated that you had no evidence to support your charges. The Finance Commission has been unable to find the slightest evidence to support any of them.

Your Honor's first charge is that the manner in which the award of $392,117 was paid to Nathan Matthews on November 16, 1921, for his property taken in connection with the Stuart street widening was illegal. The commission finds that the property referred to was not owned by Mr. Matthews personally, as your charge indicated, but that Mr. Matthews held the property as trustee; that his interest in the property was only one fifth of the whole; that the acceptance of the award was made at the direction of the owners of the other four fifths; and that the manner of paying the award, as well as the payment itself, was legal.

Your Honor's second charge, that "Men were held up on the highways and byways, and on threats to sell all property for unpaid taxes, money was forced into the treasurer's office to pay Nathan Matthews the amount of damages awarded him," is without the slightest evidence to support it. Moreover, the commission finds that no money collected from taxes was used to pay this award, or any other award that was made on account of the widening of Stuart street. There is sufficient documentary evidence in the auditor's office at City Hall to establish this fact, and this evidence was available to your Honor at the time you made these unwarranted charges.

Your Honor also charged that for the first time in its history the treasurer's office remained open after hours or until five o'clock in order that sufficient money might be raised to pay the damages awarded Nathan Matthews. The commission finds no evidence to support this charge. On the day when the city paid the award to Nathan Matthews, trustee, an assistant corporation counsel, the assistant treasurer of the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank, Mr. Matthews and his counsel, the City Auditor and the City Treasurer, met at one o'clock p. m. for the purpose of accepting the award, receiving payment from the city, and discharging the mortgage on the property held by the Five Cents Savings Bank. This time was fixed to suit the convenience of Mr. Peters, who was then Mayor, but he was unexpectedly called away. The parties remained in attendance in the auditor's office, which regularly remains open until five o'clock, and closed the transaction before that hour.

This was not an unusual occurrence, in view of the amount of money involved. Mr. Mitchell, who was auditor of the city at that time, testified that many times the office of the auditor, with the attendance of the treasurer therein, has been kept open after hours for the purpose of closing a transaction. Not only did this happen many times during Mayor Peters' administration and during your Honor's first administration, but in one case in your Honor's first administration the auditor's office was kept open after hours and as late as half-past six o'clock in the evening to complete the payment for some fire apparatus.

Your Honor further charged that the payment made on November 16, 1921, to Nathan Matthews was illegal, because a sufficient number of bonds of the Stuart street loan had not been issued on that date. This charge is wholly unwarranted. The commission finds that the Mayor had given authority on that date to take money from another loan to make this payment on account of Stuart street, in the same way that your Honor did within one week after coming into office in February, 1922, when you authorized the City Auditor and City Treasurer to take $1,000,000 from another loan account to pay obligations of the Stuart street widening. In both cases such action is authorized by chapter 192 of the Acts of 1893, and was perfectly legal. Your Honor had done this a number of times during your first term as Mayor of the City of Boston, and must have been very familiar with the practice.

The Finance Commission believes that the opposition to giving the present administration the opportunity to carry out a comprehensive plan of street widening in the city is due, in some degree at least, to the unwarranted statements made by your Honor since you took office in February, 1922, concerning the awards of damages in the Stuart street widening, while at the same time your Honor was approving enormous and unjustified increases in the unpaid awards, such increases aggregating approximately $200,000, and allowing speculators who had bought awards practically at face value to receive later from the city increases from 28 per cent to 54 per cent over the awards.

The commission recommends:

1. That in future street widenings the Board of Street Commissioners hear the owners of land to be taken on the question of damages prior to making the awards.

2. That the Street Commissioners, having given the parties interested an opportunity to be heard, and having awarded damages, shall thereafter make no changes in the awards.

3. That all owners of property taken who refuse to accept their awards made by the Street Commissioners be left to their remedy in court.

Respectfully submitted,

THE FINANCE COMMISSION,
by MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN,
Chairman.

MAYOR CALLS FINANCE COMMISSION LETTER "NATHAN MATTHEWS' WHITEWASH."

HON. MICHAEL H. SULLIVAN, Chairman, Finance Commission, Boston:

DEAR SIR,—I beg to acknowledge the receipt of the labored and uninteresting drool submitted by the Finance Commission in defence of its own existence and its failure to safeguard the city from the acts of one Nathan Matthews, Jr., during the administration of my predecessor, the Honorable Andrew J. Peters.

Your communication, I assume, was forwarded to me either through a mistake or as a matter of courtesy, presumably the former, since under the law it is the duty of the Mayor to approve awards made by the Street Commission after favorable recommendation of the Law Department, and this provision of the statute was complied with in every case.

Your elaborate contribution of ten full portions of Nathan Matthews, Jr.'s whitewash summed up in three small fillers at the conclusion is so stupid in character as to deceive no one.

I beg to congratulate your commission upon the latent sense of humor disclosed in the three recommendations, more particularly in the third one. "That all owners of property taken who refuse to accept their awards made by the Street Commissioners be left to their remedy in court," which, if followed in the case of the Stuart street widening after the precedent established in the Nathan Matthews, Jr., settlement, would have undoubtedly represented an increased cost to the city in the matter of the Stuart street awards greatly in excess of the amounts expended.

The settlement made in the Nathan Matthews, Jr., case, establishing, as your commission is fully aware, a standard of values nearly 100 per cent in excess of assessment, made it absolutely impossible for the city to permit any case where settlement could be made on a lower basis.

The settlement was made in the Nathan Matthews, Jr., case without protest from the Finance Commission during the administration of my predecessor, the Hon. Andrew J. Peters.

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

DAMAGED BRIDGE REPAIRED.

At an early hour Friday morning, June 22, fire took place at the Chelsea South Temporary Bridge, a greater portion of one entire fixed span on the Chelsea side being destroyed. It will be necessary to close the bridge to public travel until such time as the span has been replaced.

The Commissioner of Public Works arranged with the Rendle-Stoddard Company who are doing work for the city at the ferries to drive the necessary piles and to make the necessary repairs. The bridge forces worked night and day so that the bridge was opened Monday. In the meantime the public was required to use the East Boston Ferry or travel via Sullivan square and Malden in order to reach Chelsea.

MAYOR APPROVES BENAGLIA CLAIM.

Mayor Curley has approved the acceptance by the Council of the special statute permitting the city to pay the father of the late John L. Benaglia a sum not in excess of $5,000, but his approval limits the payment to $2,500, the same amount given in the case of Robert Sheehan. Benaglia lost his life at Franklin Field in 1919 when the airplane being exhibited swept down, beyond control, on the crowd of spectators.

CITY HOSPITAL TRUSTEES ASK MAYOR FOR RELIEF OF OVERCROWDED CONDITIONS.

MAYOR CURLEY STARTS WORK TO GRANT REQUEST BY ASKING COUNCIL FOR $180,000 APPROPRIATION FOR ARCHITECTS' FEES IN $3,000,000 PROJECT.

The letter of the Boston City Hospital Trustees to the Mayor reads:

BOSTON, June 22, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR:—As a result of the conference on June 4 between your Honor, the trustees and members of the staff of the City Hospital, we transmit the following letter which we hope will be presented to the City Council in order that they may understand the situation at present existing in our hospital.

During the past twenty years the number of beds at the hospital has increased 12 per cent while the population of Boston has expanded about 48 per cent. The number of people who seek hospital treatment has grown in much greater proportion and will probably continue to do so. The factors producing this disproportionate growth are various; some are perhaps temporary, but an immediate emergency faces us. The rise in rents has caused the erection of many apartment houses with suites of only two or three rooms. Normally crowded, they become impossible in times of sickness, and the invalid must seek institutional care. The high cost of supplies has compelled other large hospitals, dependent on private charity, to limit their number of free patients, and the overflow can only find refuge in a hospital conducted at public expense. The number of admissions for alcoholism has also increased in the last two or three years to numbers which have exceeded all our previous experience. Arrangements are under consideration to care for these patients at the Haymarket Square Relief Station and at the Smallpox Hospital on Southampton street. This may be only a temporary relief, as an epidemic of smallpox would compel their return to the hospital wards. Certain changes which are local to our hospital have also served to greatly increase the number of our patients, for six years ago an obstetric service was established to meet a demand of the public and one year ago a pediatric service was also established. Their appreciation by the public has been amply shown by a demand for admission to these services which has taxed the capacity of the wards far beyond the limits of safety. The popularity of the hospital, as shown by the appreciation of the public of the treatment accorded them, has become embarrassing.

The normal capacity of the main hospital is 777 beds, which is the limit of the number of patients who can be given a proper amount of air and space and can receive adequate care, with our present plant and personnel. Even with this number our supply of nurses and attendants is proportionally below that of many other of the larger hospitals, and necessitates greater effort on the part of the individual attendant. The number of patients in the wards during the past twelve months has varied between 742 and 897, the average being 828.5; and so far this year wards which normally contain thirty-two patients have been made to receive forty-eight, by crowding the beds together and filling the space left vacant and the aisles with cots. This overcrowding is present in all departments of the hospital and is not confined to any one service, though it is perhaps most marked in the obstetrical wards. It has therefore become necessary to try to arrange that our overflow shall be cared for in other institutions.

Our present force of house officers, nurses, and attendants is wholly insufficient to care for this large number of patients; and the risk of infection carried from one case of acute disease to another, lying in close proximity, is always present and its occurrence at times is inevitable. That no serious accidents of this sort have so far happened has been due to the self-sacrificing efficiency of our administrative staff and of our nurses and attendants; but luck has been a factor and it cannot always remain favorable. The possibility of an outbreak of fire is always present, and with crowded wards and crowded corridors, the difficulty of removing the patients might lead to loss of life; while in the case of a public calamity like a great fire or a large railroad accident the hospital could give little help owing to lack of room. The hospital needs immediately 250 more beds, but with the present rate of increase it will probably require, within the next five years, 600 or 800.

An increase in the number of beds alone would not solve our difficulty, for a corresponding increase in the number of house officers, nurses, and attendants will be required. The trustees believe that so long as the hospital maintains its present number of beds the public welfare would be best served by limiting the admissions, both from the standpoint of the patient seeking admission, and from that of those with whom he seeks to be associated. The difficulty of refusing a deserving applicant is, however, so great that the trustees recommend for immediate construction buildings which will accommodate 500 more patients, an addition for nurses to connect the present Vose House and Nurses' Home, and a building to accommodate at least 125 house officers.

The functions of a municipal hospital have been recently broadened so that it becomes its duty not only to care for the sick, but to devise means of preventing sickness by research into its causes and methods of transmission. The City Hospital has already gained an enviable position for work of this kind; it can only maintain it by increasing our facilities for performing it. We there recommend, in addition, that the Pathological Building be enlarged to a size proportionate to the importance of the work done there.

For making these additions the trustees are confident that $3,000,000 at least will be necessary and we would suggest to your Honor that the next Legislature be requested to grant the city permission to borrow that amount outside the debt limit. The trustees have given the matter much thought and are acquainted with the general needs of the hospital as given above, but a detailed plan for spending so large a sum of money cannot be presented without mature consideration under the guidance of a competent architect trained in hospital construction who could furnish us with his conclusions after he has studied the situation and become conversant with our needs. We therefore make the further suggestion that the City Council be requested to make an appropriation of $180,000 for architects' fees. We hope that this will receive the attention of your Honor and the City Council at the earliest possible moment in order that a detailed plan may accompany our petition to the next Legislature.

Yours respectfully,

JOSEPH P. MANNING,
President Board of Trustees.

The Mayor has acted as requested.

SEEKING DRAUGHTSMEN.

The Mayor has approved the request of the chairman of the Schoolhouse Commission, Thomas P. Glynn, for permission to advertise for draughtsmen. Incidental thereto the following communication was received:

BOSTON, June 22, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR:—On account of the large amount of work to be done by this department under the increased appropriation for land and buildings for schools made by the School Committee, we are in need of an additional electrical draughtsman and an additional heating and ventilating draughtsman. The Civil Service Commission has at present no eligible list of applicants for such positions, and therefore we are allowed to make provisional appointments. The salary in each case is one thousand five hundred (1,500) dollars per year. At present we are unable to find any persons to fill these positions, and we therefore request your permission to advertise for persons to fill these vacancies under provisional appointments until the establishment of an eligible list.

Respectfully yours,

THOMAS P. GLYNN,
Chairman.

MAYOR PRESENTS TENNIS TROPHY.

Boston's first municipal lawn tennis championship, open to any resident of the city who is not a member of any private tennis club, will begin Monday at 5:30 o'clock at the Franklin Field courts, and the winners of the singles and doubles tournaments will be sent to St. Louis to engage in the national municipal championships which start August 8.

The champion's name will be inscribed on the trophy each year.

Mayor Curley presented the bowl to William P. Long, deputy commissioner of the city Park Department, who will aid in conducting the tournament. Present at the mayor's office were George W. MAYOR BRINGS PEACE TO WARRING TRADES AND STARTS $140,000,000 BUILDING BOOM.

With the signing of a wage agreement in the building trades in Mayor Curley's office Saturday after a three months' dispute, both employers and workers predicted an immediate building boom in Boston.

By the terms of the agreement, common laborers accept a compromise wage of 65 cents an hour, over the 55 and 60 cents previously paid, and the skilled laborers accept 70 cents an hour, as against the former rate of 60 cents. This settlement is to continue until July 1, 1925.

Building of various notable enterprises which had been held up pending a settlement of the controversy are already under way as a result. The settlement affects about 30,000 workers, of whom 5,000 are common laborers, and new construction totaling $140,000,000 in Boston alone. The boom started Monday morning.

Among the pieces of construction held up pending the controversy are the new $9,000,000 Statler Hotel to be erected in Park square, the Ambassador Theater and Hotel, the new Boston Chamber of Commerce building, the Elks' Home, the new Keith Theater, and new buildings for the First National Bank and the Fourth Atlantic National Bank. Some of these structures are already under way, while others were halted by the building trade deadlock upon completion of the plans.

The dispute has been on since March 5.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 311.

It has come to my notice on more than one occasion within a few months that when a police officer has found it necessary to be absent from roll call for some reason he has delegated some person other than himself to do the telephoning to the station.

Paragraph 4 of Rule 38 states that when a police officer is injured or sick so that he is unfit for duty he shall immediately report to his commanding officer. Should he be unable on account of such disability to report in person, he shall send word to the station house as soon as possible and the commanding officer shall immediately investigate the case.

I have found that some of the officers feel that this rule means that in any instance they may delegate the duty of telephoning to some other person who in turn relays the message to the station. Unless it becomes impossible through injury or sickness for the officer to telephone directly to the station and not through the intervention of some third person, there is no reason why a patrolman cannot telephone directly to the station as well as telephone to some third party and have him convey the message. This practice must be discontinued for the reason that it makes it possible for the persons acting in this capacity to have misunderstood the message or to have conveyed it incorrectly or perhaps not at all, and thus put upon the officer the burden of proving a legitimate absence.

It is not a difficult matter for an officer to obtain permission to leave the city on legitimate business, and as the provisions of Rule 38 must be complied with, it behooves the officers to take advantage of this privilege, which is always granted on reasonable grounds.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

General Order No. 312.

A trial board consisting of Captains Harriman, Fitzgerald and Perry having heard by reference a complaint against Patrolman Roy Clifford of Division 14, charging him with conduct unbecoming an officer, has reported to the commissioner a finding of not guilty. In accordance with which it is hereby ordered that the complaint against the said Patrolman Roy Clifford be dismissed.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

General Order No. 313.

The resignation of Patrolman Charles E. Donnellan of Division 14 having been presented, it is hereby accepted, to take effect Saturday, June 23, 1923, at 7.45 o'clock a. m., seven days' notice waived.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

General Order No. 314.

A trial board consisting of Captains Harriman, Bowley and Perry having heard by reference a complaint against Patrolman Jeremiah J. Shine of Division 9, charging him with conduct unbecoming an officer, has reported to the commissioner a finding of not guilty. In accordance with which it is hereby ordered that the complaint against the said Patrolman Jeremiah J. Shine be dismissed.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Placed on file, and the transfer of John McCloskey approved, to take effect on the date stated.

REPORT ON TRIAL BOARD.

A communication was received from the Trial Board, under date of June 7, 1923, to whom was referred at the meeting of Apr. 16, 1923, a communication from the Schoolhouse Custodian reporting an injury to one of the boilers in the Aaron Davis School-house, because of low water, reporting that that Board conducted three hearings on this matter—April 25, April 26, and June 7, 1923—which were attended by the custodian concerned, James J. Tansey; by the Schoolhouse Custodian; and the first hearing by L. E. Jones, Outside Superintendent of Heating of the Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners.

The basis for this complaint against the custodian rested upon a report from the boiler insurance company to the effect that the damage to the boiler was occasioned by low water, for which the custodian was responsible.

At the hearing given by the Trial Board on April 25, the representative of the Schoolhouse Commission expressed an entirely different opinion, and in consequence a further report was obtained from the insurance company which contradicted the first report and stated that the cause of the damage was a shrinkage crack in the casting when cooling in the foundry.

It therefore plainly appeared that the custodian was wholly free from fault in the matter.

FINDING—That the damage to the boiler was due to no fault or negligence on the part of the custodian.

RECOMMENDATION—That the matter be placed on file.

Placed on file, and the recommendation adopted.

(2) When the annual gross compensation of the janitor or custodian is less than $1170, his regular compensation shall be determined as being his gross compensation.

CITIZENSHIP, BOTH SEXES, ALSO FAMILIES.

Native white citizens, 246,816; foreign born whites naturalized, 102,822; Negro citizens, 12,066; total citizens, 361,724. Foreign born whites remaining aliens, 118,214. Only 56.30 per cent of the citizens registered for voting purposes in 1920 (for City Election) and of the 203,666 who did register only 30.53 per cent voted. Coming to the final facts to be remembered, only 17.2 per cent of the citizens of Boston took part in electing the three members of the City Council and two members of the School Committee in 1920, these five candidates taking office at the will of only 8.3 per cent of the citizens, which was more than sufficient to elect. On the question of permitting Sunday Sports and Games, 10.9 per cent of the citizens voted in favor and 4.3 per cent against, 7.7 per cent being more than sufficient for a majority in favor. The City Election of 1920 reveals the most flagrant case of minority rule ever noted in Boston, not more than one-ninth of the women citizens being interested enough to vote.

Total families in 1920, 164,785 or 3679 more than in 1915. As this shows a larger increase of families than of persons (i. e., 2,621 since 1915, here is another discrepancy that discredits the 1920 Census. As 463 represents the average number of persons to a family, 3,679 families would contain 17,034 persons. The U. S. Census of 1920 shows a net increase of only 2,621 persons since 1915.

BOSTON CELEBRATES INDEPENDENCE DAY SAFELY, SANELY AND SOLEMNLY — MAYOR'S PUBLIC CELEBRATIONS COMMITTEE ENTERTAINS THOUSANDS.

MAYOR CURLEY AT FLAG RAISING ON BOSTON COMMON WARNS AGAINST PROPAGANDISTS WHO WOULD UNDERMINE PATRIOTISM — FR. CHARLES W. LYONS, OF BOSTON COLLEGE, AT FANEUIL HALL, PLEADS FOR PRESERVATION OF LIBERTY IN ORATION, URGING TOLERANCE AND BROTHERLY LOVE — LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR LUNN OF NEW YORK, AT EAST BOSTON, URGES INDUSTRIAL PEACE.

With the flag-raising exercises on the Common, at which Mayor Curley delivered the address, Boston officially celebrated Independence Day, July 4, in the most successful way ever known in the history of the city. Hundreds of thousands shared in the exercises and events provided by the Celebrations' Committee which ended with a fireworks display at eleven o'clock.

Besides the flag raising and patriotic exercises on the Common, the time-honored program at the Old State House and in Faneuil Hall, there were festivities in each of the numerous city districts, those in East Boston predominating. For each program there were thousands of spectators.

The day's program began with the flag raising on the Common at nine o'clock, Mayor Curley making an address. A company of Coast Artillery and a band from one of the forts accompanied the Mayor and the committee from City Hall. From the Common the parade moved to the Old State House where Charles C. Dogan, honor student of the English High School, read the Declaration of Independence, standing on the same balcony where Boston people first heard the Declaration in 1776. Troop 9, Colored Boy Scouts, of Cambridge, was present. From there the Mayor and the committee marched to Faneuil Hall, where the Mayor presided, Rabbi David M. Shohet offered prayer, the audience sang "America." Charles C. Dogan again read the Declaration of Independence and Rev. Charles W. Lyons, S. J., of Boston College, gave the oration.

Other attractions arranged by the city included a regatta in the Charles River basin, an athletic carnival on the Common, swimming races in the basin, a sunset ceremony on the Common, a community demonstration at the Frog Pond, a patriotic pageant on the Common, and fireworks.

The Common community demonstration, included mass singing by the audience, group and solo dancing and patriotic features. The address was by Wilfred F. Kelley, instructor in history in the Public Latin School. Judge Leveroni presided. The director of the program was Frank Chouteau Brown.

East Boston enjoyed the greatest celebration. A military and horrors parade, flag raisings, athletic games and band concerts were included in the program. In the parade there were 5,000 uniformed soldiers, sailors and marines and numerous floats and decorated automobiles. Timothy W. Kelley was chief marshal.

Lieutenant Governor Lunn of New York spoke at World War Memorial Park, his subject being "The Message of Independence Day."

Band concerts were given at eight o'clock at Orient Heights and three other points in East Boston; Edward Everett square; Brighton at Wilson Park; Dorchester at Franklin Field; Roslindale at Fallon's Field; West Roxbury at Billings Field; South End at Blackstone square; Roxbury at Mission Hill Playground at Dunmore and Magazine streets, at Ruggles and Cabot streets, Dacia Street Playground; Neponset Playground, Metropolitan Hill, Jamaica Pond; Allston at William Smith Park. In addition there were band concerts at Marine Park, South Boston, North End Park and Forest Hills Park. There were patriotic exercises, games and sports and distribution of ice cream on twenty-five playgrounds and open-air motion pictures with patriotic features and community singing at Ronan Park, Dorchester.

MAYOR CURLEY CALLS FOR RENEWAL OF FAITH IN MONROE DOCTRINE BY AMERICA.

DELIVERS PATRIOTIC ADDRESS AT FLAG RAISING ON BOSTON COMMON TO INAUGURATE CELEBRATION OF INDEPENDENCE DAY, CALLING FOR RECONSECRATION TO IDEALS OF FOREFATHERS—PLEADS FOR PRESER- VATION OF MONROE DOCTRINE.

Mayor Curley called the citizens of Boston and the United States to a rededication of themselves to the principles of sound Americanism and the Monroe Doctrine in his speech at the flag raising on Boston Common, Independence Day, July 4, 1923. He spoke as follows:

One hundred forty seven years ago the ideals for which humanity had struggled and sacrificed for nearly eighteen centuries found expression in what was termed the Declaration of Independence.

The Declaration of Independence was a challenge to the divine right theory in government for the consummation of whose priceless boon of liberty and equality the women and men of the thirteen colonies stood ready to make the supreme sacrifice. The Declaration of Independence with its promise of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness to all men without regard to race, creed or color was the inspiration that made possible the courage and self-sacrificing spirit necessary for the continuance of a war lasting seven long, weary years against the mightiest power at that time extant in the world.

The termination of the Revolutionary struggle with victory for the colonial forces and the later adoption of the Constitution of the United States made America the mecca for the pure womanhood and hardy manhood of every clime in the world and resulted in the America of our day becoming the freest, most powerful and most prosperous nation in the world.

Patience for human frailty, refusal to accept discouragement and defeat, and the resolution to have and to hold what wisdom had framed and courage had achieved, transformed colonialism and weakness into independence and strength; and the same integrity of political purpose, fidelity to the traditions and teachings of the fathers and founders, and an unswerving allegiance to the ideals of freedom and democracy, united with a sleepless vigilance to preserve our liberties, are as urgent in this hour of our life as in those hazardous days of revolution and political construction, when America was led out of darkness into light by Washington and his associates.

The Declaration of Independence was a challenge to a world of kings and castes, a call to the blind Samsons of humanity to pull down the pillars of the temple of the false gods of privilege and power and the establishment of the American Republic was the answer to that challenge and call. Despite the fact that America is great and powerful, the continual existence of kings and empires and the knowledge that the sword is still the argument of freedom's foes warns us that we still have work to do to preserve the heritage of liberty and independence bequeathed us by the fathers.

Eternal vigilance is still the price of freedom. A wise distrust of the Greeks who come bearing gifts, an enlightened scepticism of the counsel and cozening of the bankrupt militarists of Europe and a face of flint and a fist of steel for the enemies of democracy born and bred upon our own soil, who remain colonists and kingsmen in spite of bitter experience, and who would betray this republic into the hands of false friends, are still the paramount duties of American citizens.

For ages Europe has been engaged in war and aggression in conquest and confiscation, in wicked activities in which the peasant and his toil were the possessions of some overlord, who believed that only kings and their kind were born to rule the world and the common man ordained to be the chattel of a master, who plundered him in peace and sacrificed him in war. The king could do no wrong; his word was law; war was his sport; and the man at the bottom his to dispose of as he saw fit. A slave or soldier, a serf or conscript, the terms changing with the times, the conditions the same forever, the common man had no rights save those his master permitted him. The course of the American Republic and strange doctrines it taught were a new revelation to the exploited humanity of Europe and disturbed the slumbers of the kings and courts. The French Revolution, the Reign of Terror, the Napoleonic era, the wreck of kingdoms and the banishment of kings, the revolutions in South America and the republics set up there, were the fruits of the seeds sown by the Declaration of Independence.

The bold declaration of the Monroe Doctrine and the manner in which America has defended and sustained it against monarchial Europe is a lesson that should never be forgotten. Growing in strength and power with the years, Napoleon the "little" and France attempted to set up an empire in Mexico when we were battling for our life in civil strife. When America sent Sheridan and 100,000 men to the Rio Grande and a polite note to France to get out, she speedily returned to Europe. England and Germany attempted a policy of occupation in Venezuela and Japan in Lower California; but all halted and retreated when the Monroe Doctrine was invoked.

Europe still looks with greedy eyes from her bankrupt territories to the rich lands of America; her methods have changed but not her morals; her courage is not equal to her greed; and what she may not gain by sword and slaughter she seeks to clutch by false pretences. Her propagandists are in the fields and cities her soldiers dare not invade; falsehood and flattery have taken the place of fire and fury. Europe no longer ships her Hessians here to struggle for liberty; she buys her mercenaries on American soil and recruits her hirelings from bench and bar, press and pulpit, college and counting room, to preach the gospel of colonialism and anti-Americanism, to poison the sources of education and knowledge, and teach insidiously the failure of democracy, the absurdity of freedom, and the glory of internationalism. The tribe and teaching of Judas are not dead; they still thrive on American soil; and under the guise of a false humanitarianism, a fake fraternalism and a spurious community of race and religion, our modern Benedict Arnolds preach a league of nations, an international court, and other thinly disguised methods of allying America to the European plunderbund, that her fate and her fortune may be wasted in imperialistic wars waged to destroy democracy and liberty, and give the earth and its people over to death and destruction and the rehabilitation of kings and courts and class and caste.

Let us say to the plotters abroad and the traitors at home that the Declaration of Independence still lives; that America is still vital and vigilant; that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth. Let us tell them that the glorious spirits of Washington and Lincoln still stand guard about the altars of liberty. Decadent Europe and her mercenary American allies must understand that the Monroe Doctrine is as potent and palpitating today as when Munroe formulated it, and Lincoln and Cleveland and Roosevelt thundered it to the emperors and empires, and warned them that whether they came like Greeks bearing gifts, or invaders bearing arms, the Monroe Doctrine stands like a lion in their path.

On this glorious and historic anniversary let us renew our allegiance to our flag and country, to the teachings of the fathers and to the principles that have made America free. Let us pledge ourselves anew to eternal vigilance against the plotters and the plunderers. America can only remain great, prosperous and free as she keeps herself free from the politics and alliances of Europe; and it is our sacred duty to preserve our heritage sweet and clean from the contamination of a continent and its policies as bankrupt in morals as in purse. Let us pay no heed to the parrot cries of the tribe of Judas who speak incessantly of war, isolation and American duty. No one will war on America as long as we are prepared and vigilant. Europe has learned that lesson. We never were and never will be isolated from the world as long as commerce, trade and the peaceful intercourse of humanity endure.

The duty of America is to guard and preserve America, her honor, her integrity, her principles and her heritage; to live at peace with all nations, and in alliance with none; to make her policies and politics such that the world will emulate her example and follow her methods if it wishes to rid itself of war and waste and caste and privilege.

Only as we stand alone politically, dealing with all men in honor and justice, mindful of our traditions and the teachings of them who cradled this republic and conducted it along the paths that have made it prosperous without plunder, free without folly, and powerful without wrong-doing, will America endure, the hope of humanity.

On this, the birthday of American freedom, let us, under the providence of God, reconsecrate ourselves to our country, rededicate our energies to its perpetuation and pledge ourselves to the rejection of the overtures and temptations of Europe and her schemes, and the removal of the traitors within our household, no matter how exalted the stations they hold, the names they bear, or how pleasing the heresies they preach.

Our heritage was achieved by the sword, and preserved by the sword, and a recourse to the sword may again be necessary for its preservation. Our obligation to posterity is that should that hour eventuate we shall not be lacking in the essentials for the safeguarding of our liberty. The need of the hour is the development of American national spirit and a program of national defence that will serve as a guaranty to posterity of the privileges and blessings made possible through the service and sacrifice of them in whose honor we this day assemble.

TOLERANCE URGED IN JULY 4 ORATION BY FATHER CHARLES W. LYONS AT FANEUIL HALL.

Father Lyons was the Independence Day orator at Faneuil Hall, taking for his text, "The American Mind," said that "there are times when it seems fitting and proper to pause from the whirl of incessant activities and let the mind run sweetly and lovingly over a treasured past, over the memories of 147 golden years, lived only that her children might grow, from eternity the Creator had destined them to grow, in the full security of rights that are inalienable.

"Today our beloved country turns to us children of a later generation, and pleads that we follow this generous impulse of nature, and tarry for a moment, while she lives over again the thoughts and emotions and heroic sacrifices that gave her birth.

"They were not new thoughts or unknown emotions. As John Quincy Adams so well remarked in his scholarly discourse on the Jubilee of the Constitution: 'The Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States are parts of one constant whole, founded upon one and the same theory of government, then new, not as a theory, for it had been working itself into the mind of men for many ages, but it had never before been adopted by a great nation.'

Father Lyons traced the germ of true liberty and equality from Moses, as narrated in Deuteronomy, charging the judges of Israel, "There shall be no difference of persons," down through Aristotle, the Magna Charter, the medieval councils, the military orders, the guilds, "followed centuries after by the contract of the Pilgrim Fathers, made in the cabin of the 'Mayflower,'" as well as the charters of the Providence plantations, Virginia and Maryland.

The schoolmen, as Sidwick tells us, taught that "Governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed," the orator continued.

"Every Constitution," says Nicholas of Cusa three and a half centuries before the Declaration of Independence, "is rooted in natural law and cannot be valid if it contradicts it. For if by nature men are equally powerful and free, true and ordered power in the hands of one can be established only by the election and consent of the others, just as law also is established by consent."

"These thoughts and emotions, expressed and recessed by the writers, philosophers and political leaders of their day, had seeped down through the ages unacted—mere themes for academic speculation—until they filtered into the minds and souls of those simple, yet truly great men who in signing the Declaration of Independence gave birth to the nation we so rightfully cherish and so lovingly serve.

"In a letter to his friend, Henry Lee, dated May 8, 1825, Jefferson as if in confirmation of what we have just heard, notes that the object of the Declaration of Independence was 'not to find out new principles or new arguments, never before thought of, nor merely to say things which had never been said before, but to place before mankind the common sense of the subject in terms so plain and firm as to command their assent and to justify ourselves in the independent stand we are compelled to take.'

"Neither aiming at originality of principle or sentiment, nor yet copied from any particular or previous writing, it was intended to be an expression of the American mind and to give to that expression the proper tone and spirit called for by the occasion. All its authority rests then on the harmonizing sentiments of the day, whether expressed in conversation, in letters, printed essays or in the elementary books of public right, as Aristotle, Cicero, Locke, Sidney, etc.'

"What then, was this American mind, that amid problems vexed and theories varied, had sifted the wisdom from the folly of the past, discerning the true from the false, and of which Jefferson was pleased to say 'The Declaration of Independence was intended to be an expression?' And what, again, was the proper tone and spirit called for by the occasion that the Declaration of Independence was to give to this expression of the American mind.

"If we look closely at the type of man whose united action founded our Nation, the answer to this question will not be far to seek. They, like many of us here today, were either immigrants or the immediate descendants of immigrants. They differed in origin, in education, in race and in creed. They had the traditions, the affections, the prejudices of their times and of their peoples.

"Yet in common they had left home and country, led on by a vision or an ideal that made a fitting basis for the union that was to come. They would break away from an effete civilization; they would start life anew, freed from the tyranny of unjust laws; they would enjoy liberty to worship their God according to the dictates of their own conscience; they would exercise, without unwarranted interference, the natural inalienable right to the pursuit of happiness.

"Crossing, as they did, the same unknown seas, buffeted by the same winds and waves, their difficulties, their interests, their common foe, drew them together in mutual helpfulness, in united enterprise, and in common defense.

"Thus they came to know one another, thus they learned to bear with one another, thus they grew to love one another, and understanding, and tolerance, and brotherly love developed the American mind. So that, when the occasion arose, in proper tone and spirit, it expressed itself in the immortal Declaration of Independence that solved the speculative problems of the past, secured full enjoyment of liberty for its people and gave hope and inspiration to all mankind and for all time.

"And shall we mar the beauty of their gift? Shall we, forgetting our common interests, our common enterprises, our common foes, destroy the unity of purpose and of action that is essential for individual and national prosperity? Shall we, by misunderstanding, by intolerance and hatred, sully the lustre of our heritage, breaking the bondage of brotherhood?

"Ours is a most responsible trust. We must hand it down to posterity sacred and intact. Capital must make true with labor; labor must make pact with capital; each must measure even in the scales of justice.

"The rights, the inalienable rights, of man to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness must not be infringed. The rights, natural and civic rights, of property must not be denied. Class prejudice, racial pride, assumed superiority, must be dislodged from the minds of men, that justice may function and equality and the dignity of human nature be sustained.

"The home must be safeguarded, and its sanctity preserved, that our children be protected and grow—as nature destined them to grow—in wisdom and grace before God and man.

"The school, the private and the public school, free as speech and the press are free, must be encouraged that our citizens may understand the Constitution and our laws, and in the full development of their intellectual faculties realize the burdens as well as the privileges of representative government.

"The church, the House of God, must have its place of respect, that our children may continue moral and grow in reverence for authority and for the divine and human law.

"As Hamilton wrote to Washington, on the occasion of his farewell address, 'In all those dispositions which promote political happiness, religion and morality are essential props.'

"This, I take it, is the message our beloved country would send us today. That we be men of American mind, the mind that expressed itself in the Declaration of Independence, the mind that was born of understanding, tolerance and brotherly love, the mind that didn't hesitate to say, in the closing words of the great document that gave to us our Nation, 'For the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor.'"

MAYOR CURLEY RESENTS INSULT TO AMERICAN PATRIOTISM.

ORDERS CHARLES F. READ, OF THE BOSTONIAN SOCIETY, REMOVED AS HISTORICAL ADVISER AT PUBLIC CELEBRATIONS FOR ATTEMPT TO HAVE DELETED COPY OF DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE READ JULY 4.

Removal of Charles F. Read, clerk and treasurer of the Bostonian Society and custodian of the Old State House in Boston, from these positions was requested of Grenville H. Norcross, president, and members of the organization by James M. Curley, Mayor, Thursday, following the celebration of Independence Day, on the ground that Clerk Read had handed Charles C. Dogan, a Boston high school pupil, a copy of the Declaration of Independence with passages deleted.

At the same time, Mayor Curley directed J. Philip O'Connell, director of public celebrations, to notify Clerk Read that he had been "removed" from the position of historical adviser of public celebrations for the city.

The Mayor's letter to the Bostonian Society reads:

MR. GRENVILLE H. NORCROSS, President
Bostonian Society, Old State House,
Boston, Mass.:

DEAR SIR.—I beg to direct your attention to certain facts in connection with the observance of Independence Day at the Old State House on Wednesday, July 4, 1923.

With a view to providing against a lapse of memory in the reading of the Declaration of Independence I requested the young man who had been selected to read the Declaration, Mr. Charles C. Dogan, to procure a copy that I might follow him and if necessary prompt him. A copy of the Declaration pasted upon the fourth page of the Boston Gazette of March 12, 1770, was secured by Mr. John J. Morgan, chairman of the exercises at the Old State House, from Mr. Charles F. Read, secretary and treasurer of the Bostonian Society, who served in the capacity of historical adviser for the Public Celebrations Committee. Mr. Morgan informed me that a copy had been secured from Mr. Read and stated that provision had been made therein to eliminate certain passages. I had no knowledge as to the particular passages at the time but stated most emphatically that there would be no eliminations. The copy as submitted to the boy by the secretary-treasurer of the Bostonian Society if read as outlined and penciled would be not only valueless but meaningless, as substantially every derogatory reference made to Great Britain in the Declaration of Independence had been deleted from the document as submitted.

I have no means of determining the source prompting the action of the secretary-treasurer of the Bostonian Society and am unwilling to accept his statement that he revised the Declaration of Independence as written by Thomas Jefferson to save time in the reading. In view of the fact that there was no occasion for hurry and everyone had ample time it was as reasonable to eliminate portions of the Declaration of Independence as it would be to eliminate portions of the Lord's Prayer.

The entire proceeding in my opinion warrants investigation by your society and unless more satisfactory reasons can be presented by Mr. Read I believe drastic action should be taken and some individual placed as custodian of the historical treasures of the Commonwealth and Nation who is sufficiently in sympathy with the history of the United States if necessary to waste, as he terms it, a few minutes in fulfillment of his duty.

I beg to forward herewith the original copy as submitted by the secretary-treasurer of the Bostonian Society, Mr. Charles F. Read and John H. Morgan, chairman of the Independence Day Committee at exercises held at the Old State House.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Mayor Curley sent the following letter to J. Philip O'Connell, director of public celebrations:

DEAR SIR.—You are hereby directed to notify Mr. Charles F. Read, who has held the position of historical adviser of public celebrations, that he is this day removed.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

MAYOR FIGHTS FOR NAVY YARD.

Mayor Curley sent the following telegram to Vice President Coolidge, Secretary of War Weeks, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and Speaker Gillette of the House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.:

"A delegation representing mechanics employed at the Boston Navy Yard waited upon me this day and requested me to intercede through you with the Secretary of the Navy to prevent the enforcement of a wage scale submitted on Saturday last and to become effective immediately, which represents a reduction in excess of fifteen per cent. In view of the accepted policy throughout the country of increasing wages in industry, an injustice of this character should not be permitted. The Boston Navy Yard has suffered the rankest character of discrimination in the allotment of work during the past two years and I trust in view of the influence that the representatives of your party should find it possible to wield at Washington that justice may be speedily secured for the workers at the Boston Navy Yard.

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

BOSTON TO GREET GENERAL GOURAUD.

Boston will have a chance to greet Gen. Henri Gouraud, according to present plans, and his ambition to shake the hand of Gen. O. Kinsley, once commanding lieutenant of the American Motor Corps, will not be frustrated.

Maj. Hugh W. Ogden, judge advocate of the Forty-second Division, who is in charge of the general's itinerary while in this country, responding to the Mayor's invitation says, "We now believe that it will be possible to arrange for the general to spend two days, or parts of two days, in Boston, some time between August 8 and August 11."

General Gouraud's Fourth French Army engaged in some of the fiercest fighting of the first few years of the war, in the region of Chalons sur Marne. The American ambulance section, S. U. 13, commanded by Kinsley, distinguished itself by carrying wounded soldiers from the front line trenches under Mont Cornier, the "deadliest corner" in the French front. Over improvised bridges and through a sector labeled in military maps impassable for man, beast or vehicle, American drivers took disabled soldiers to safety and a hope of life in the rear.

The automobiles having been put out of commission, the drivers borrowed guns from the French and joined in the fight. All of Kinsley's outfit of twenty-three men were wounded within two weeks. But it had a record of 50,000 wounded men carried to the rear.

CHARTER COMMISSION COMPLETED.

Following the appointment by Mayor Curley of the two members of the Boston Charter Commission created by the last Legislature there was a meeting in the State House when the Commission organized with Senator Wellington Wells as chairman and Representative Davis B. Keniston of Boston as vice chairman. Of the thirteen members, all were present except George R. Nutter.

The Commission is composed of thirteen members: Senators Wellington Wells and George W. P. Babb, Representatives Davis B. Keniston, Martin Hays, William D. Lancaster, John I. Fitzgerald and Richard M. Walsh; Mrs. William Morton Wheeler, James B. Noyes, George R. Nutter and Jacob Wasserman appointed by Governor Cox, and Joseph F. O'Connell and John A. Sullivan, appointed by Mayor Curley.

The first public hearing will be held in Room 370 at the State House, on Wednesday, July 11, at 11 a. m.

This extension is in addition to a previous extension dated December 30, 1922, and makes a total of 196 days and is occasioned by the fact that the lateness of the open weather delayed starting this work again this spring, and the excavation is mostly solid ledge.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

The Davis Foundry Company have been granted an extension of time for completion of contract for furnishing cast-iron special castings to the High Pressure Fire Service from May 15, 1923, to December 1, 1923. This extension is requested because this concern has had labor troubles and has found it difficult to obtain raw materials.

MAYORS' CLUB ENJOYS SAIL.

Members of the Mayors' Club of Massachusetts left Eastern Avenue Wharf Saturday afternoon, June 30, on board the city steamer "Michael J. Perkins," intent on having a good time.

As guests of Mayor Curley, twelve active mayors and nineteen former mayors, with their families, sailed around the harbor cheering everybody and everything, ate hot dogs, sang "In the Good Old Summer Time," and comported themselves generally as human beings.

The active mayors on the outing were:

Curley of Boston, Quinn of Cambridge, Webster of Somerville, Beal of Waltham, Bates of Quincy, Whittemore of Beverly, Mahoney of Lawrence, Donovan of Lowell, Cashman of Newburyport, Coughlin of Taunton, Chisholm of Everett and Remington of New Bedford. The former mayors were: Rockwood, Good, Wardwell and Thurston of Cambridge, Carter of Chelsea, Lynch of Lawrence, Asa Marshall of Lynn, Richards of Malden, Shaughnessy, E. F. Brown and McCarthy of Marlboro, Hopkinson of Newburyport, Carter and

Hall of Beverly, Harvey of Waltham and Davis, Linscott and Johnson of Woburn.

Mayor Quinn of Cambridge with his "LaPaloma," calling for a chorus of all the mayors, easily won the vocal honors.

The trip around the harbor included a visit to the Navy Yard and a demonstration of the city fire boats which brought the congratulations of everyone to Fire Commissioner Theodore Glynn and Chief John O. Taber, who with Dr. David J. Johnson, acted as guides for the party.

MAYOR CURLEY REPLIES TO EDITOR OF INSULTING SOUTHERN NEWSPAPER.

REBUKES WILMINGTON, N. C., "NEWS" FOR EDITORIAL IN WHICH CHIEF EXECUTIVE AND BOSTON CITIZENS ARE INSULTED BY ITS VITUPERATIVE DEFENCE OF THREE CHARLOTTE MEN WHO WROTE PROTEST AGAINST CHOICE OF HIGH SCHOOL BOY TO READ DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

The Wilmington, N. C., News, in an editorial entitled "Skunk Cabbage" attacked Mayor Curley in the following language:

"Not since the attacks upon the character of Jefferson Davis, shortly after the Civil War, has an utterance so ignorantly contemptible fallen from the lips of a man in public life, than those of Mayor James M. Curley, of Boston, in his reply to the protest of three Charlotte citizens against the selection of a negro student to read the Declaration of Independence from the steps of the Old State House on July 4.

"His 'Honor's' statement reads in part:

"I have seldom received a letter from any source so lacking in good manners, so devoid of Americanism, so destitute of all knowledge of the principle and practices of our government, and so offensively and stupidly impertinent. It is some satisfaction to know that this ill-mannered effusion was not written by any native Carolinian; for while Massachusetts and Carolina may differ profoundly upon the race question, both are as one in recognizing the necessity of practicing politeness and observing the conventions of decent society, in correspondence and social relation. You do not speak, therefore, either for the town you live in, Charlotte, or the state of North Carolina, so they must be acquitted of the offensive, ill-bred and unwarranted meddling in the affairs of Massachusetts and Boston exhibited in your letter. When those claiming birth and former residence in Boston are guilty of the gross discourtesy you have committed they become at once deserving of scorn and contempt.

"I refuse to accept you as the spokesman of the state and the children of the men who fought and died for human freedom at King's Mountain.

"Let me also commend the desirability of moving out of Carolina and going further afield to regions where men of your viewpoint may find a congenial atmosphere which I am sure is not to be found in North Carolina; and should be impossible to find in any portion of America."

"So far as we are concerned, Mr. Curley is at liberty to form a battalion of the black scholars in Boston and listen to them recite by the hour and week, but we are inclined to believe Mr. Curley would feel even more at home with a certain beautiful but malodorous quadruped more or less common to the woods of North Carolina, and whose chief claim to distinction comes from his latter qualifications rather than from his former.

"No, Mr. Curley, you are wrong. You are a victim of your assinine conceit. Neither Massachusetts nor North Carolina believes you, and neither will give any grave concern to your words. Your colossal ignorance of the racial relations both north and south of the Mason and Dixon line make your vituperative bellow a bray instead of a roar.

"But you happen by some freak of fate to be the chief executive of one of the fairest of American cities. We therefore want your manner improved for the sake of American honor. We suggest that you hurry to one of the public libraries for which your city is famous and delve into that part of natural history dealing with the mephitis and his various peculiarities."

Mayor Curley sent the following letter in reply to the article in the Wilmington News:

Editor of Wilmington News, Wilmington, N. C.:

SIR,—I have your paper of June 29, 1923, and have read your editorial carrying the caption "Skunk Cabbage," which appears to exemplify the best traditions of the "Eatonsville Gazette," made famous by Charles Dickens in the "Pickwick Papers," which by this time may have penetrated the sanctum of the Wilmington News. It is quite possible I may be giving you and your paper credit for a taste and intelligence you do not possess and a literary knowledge you have yet to acquire; but certainly the Wilmington News seems to have the passion for evil smelling language, personal vilification, and tawdry assertion that marked the Eatonsville Gazette.

The Mayor of Boston has a profound respect for the Constitution of the United States and the laws based upon it; the editor of the News treats both the letter and spirit of that document with contempt, and seems to believe that his absurd prejudices concerning the negro and his Constitutional status are superior to both the laws of the United States and the laws of God, who made man in his own image.

Ignorance and intolerance, such as the Wilmington News and its editor typify, have done vast injury socially, morally, politically and commercially to the South; and there is little hope for any improvement, any attempt to get abreast of the Americanism and civilization of the twentieth century in any Southern community which permits its life and fortunes to be dominated in this age by a leadership which imagines vituperation, indecency and offensive blackguardism are evidences of strength and calculated to impress sane American opinion.

In spite of your bad manners, bad taste, bad temper and deplorably shallow mind, I am not going to believe that Carolina, North or South, should be measured by you and your rather silly deliverances. Boston and its government are not going to lose much sleep over the opinions and utterances of editors and papers which go into the gutters for their language and to unclean places for their logic; those are evils that must be corrected by the decency and propriety of your fellow citizens; and I am certain that the three persons of Charlotte, N. C., claiming to be natives of Boston, to whose defence you have so valiantly and malodorously rushed, must wish to be saved from their friends.

Meantime, the negro boy will read the Declaration of Independence tomorrow—July 4th—from the balcony of the Old State House, with the consent and approval of the citizens of Boston, a document of which he has a more intelligent knowledge and a finer appreciation than the editor of the Wilmington News, who appears to be more on terms of intimacy with that curious piece of fauna he quotes and exploits—the mephitis Americana.

Trusting that time may bring you better sense, experience, better knowledge, and some study of social Carolina, better manners.

PUBLIC LIBRARY SITUATION GRAVE—NEEDS FUNDS FOR RESEARCH BOOKS:

The Boston Public Library's great resources and reputation as a scholars' library is endangered, according to the trustees in their annual report unless private citizens aid it with gifts. "The time has come," the Board says, "when the library either must lose its scholarly standing or must fail to serve the great reading public in its call for recreational reading and the less solid books of non-fiction."

Without an increased income from trust funds, it will soon be quite out of the question to round out and maintain collections that have been in the past of so great service to scholars and research students not only in Boston and vicinity, but throughout the world.

Signers of the report, which covers the fiscal year to January 31, 1923, are Dr. Alexander Mann, now bishop of Pittsburgh; Mgr. Arthur T. Connolly, Louis E. Kirstein, Judge Michael J. Murray and Guy W. Currier. Discussing the subject of "Private Aid for the Library," the trustees make the following comment:

"The Public Library is the only source to which the great masses must turn for their reading. An examination of the table of trust funds printed as a part of this report will show how small is the possible income to be derived therefrom. The last fiscal year it amounted to $23,523.14. It will be noted that there are only eight funds in excess of $25,000.

"Attention may well be called to the fact that the income from one of the two largest funds of $100,000 each has not been available for any year since its receipt. This is the 'Children's Fund,' under the will of the late Josiah H. Benton, the income of which is available only in years when Boston appropriates for the maintenance of the library at least three per cent of the amount available for department expenses from taxes and income in the said city. In the years when such amount is not appropriated, the income goes to the poor of the City of Boston.

"For many years this institution has held a high position among the libraries of the country because of its scholarly collections, many of them unique, and in some respects unexcelled. It is apparent, however, with the development of the library and the extension of its service through branches, reading rooms and deposit stations in all sections of the municipality, the growing and reasonable demands for the more popular books of both fiction and non-fiction, that the financial burden cannot be met by the city alone, generous as it has been in the past.

"Other big cities can boast of large gifts of money made to their libraries by private individuals. On this score Boston, holding a distinguished place for its culture among American cities, has comparatively little in the way of memory with which to thrill its citizens with civic pride. What a city gives for the conduct of its public library indicates to the outside world its interest in things aside from the mere physical necessities of life.

"The trustees urge, therefore, upon private citizens who have been able to provide splendidly equipped home libraries for their own families the crying needs of Boston's thousands who hunger for good reading, denied them because unable to provide such for themselves, and the great service they may render their fellow-citizens and posterity by private benefactions, the income from which will effectively help meet the ever-increasing demand upon the central library and its agencies. Surely, Boston, with its traditional pride, needs but to know the situation in which this great library now finds itself, in order to come generously to the rescue."

MAY SAVE PORT BUSINESS.

Mayor Curley received the following letter from F. S. Davis, manager of the Maritime Division of the Chamber of Commerce:

DEAR MR. MAYOR.—Acknowledging your communication of the 28th instant, which has been carefully noted; previous to the publication of the item referred to in the Boston Globe of last evening we had already taken up the matter referred to with the steamship lines and the immigration authorities and there are good prospects that we shall be able to consummate within a day or two an arrangement that will prove satisfactory to all interests involved.

In the meantime, third class Sunday passengers arriving here next August on the five steamers expected from European ports will be examined, Commissioner Johnson having agreed to perform this service as an emergency measure. We intend to press the matter vigorously to the end that proper consideration may be given to the requirements of the Port of Boston, and I shall be very glad to keep you promptly informed of developments.

Your interest in this important matter is very helpful and we may find it necessary to call upon you for support in any measures we may finally take should the present negotiations fall through.

Yours very truly,

F. S. DAVIS, Manager.

AREA OF BOSTON.

Area to ward lines (26 wards), 30,598 acres (i. e., 47.81 square miles), 2,944 acres being filled land, 1,143 acres water area and 1,484 acres flats. Land area only 27,971 acres (i. e., 43.70 square miles). Included in the latter are 154 acres of filled flats added to the land area of South Boston in 1919 and 1920 and 133 acres to that of East Boston. Original Boston contained about 780 acres of land. Of the twelve leading American cities, eight are larger in land area than Boston, viz., Los Angeles (365.7 sq. miles), New York (318), Chicago (199.4), Philadelphia (129), Baltimore (91.9), Detroit (80), Cleveland (56.6) and St. Louis (61.25). The only city in Massachusetts with larger land area is Taunton (50 sq. mi.).

If Boston should expand by annexations as New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and others have expanded, its total area, in case of including the 39 cities and towns within the 15-mile radius, would exceed the largest, viz., Los Angeles, the present land area of "Greater Boston" being 409.5 square miles.

REDIVISION OF BOSTON INTO WARDS.

Chapter 630, Acts of 1914, required the redivision of Boston, by the City Council, into not less than 24 nor more than 36 wards, so arranged as to contain as nearly as could be ascertained an equal number of voters in each ward. On December 28, 1914, the City Council enacted as an Ordinance, by vote of 6 to 3, the plan submitted by its Committee on Redivision of Wards. This plan describes the new boundaries of the 26 wards. (See Municipal Register for 1921, pages 196-207.) The changes effected by the redivision of wards were mainly these, viz. Wards 1 and 2, East Boston, are divided by Prescott and Princeton streets instead of as before; Charlestown has two wards (3 and 4) instead of three; Ward 5 covers the old Wards 6, 7 and 8; Ward 6 in place of old Ward 9; Ward 7 in place of old 10; Ward 8 in place of old 11; Wards 9 and 10 cover the old South Boston Wards 13, 14 and 15 mostly; Ward 11 takes in the northern half of old Ward 16 and western end of old Ward 15; Ward

MAYOR CURLEY SAVES CITY OVER $300,000 IN TRADE SCHOOL BUY.

GETS ALREADY COMPLETED BUILDING IN FENWAY FOR LESS THAN HALF COST OF NEW STRUCTURE—SAVES THREE YEARS' TIME AND PROVIDES ACCOMMODATIONS FOR A THOUSAND PUPILS AT ONE STROKE.

NEW HOME FOR GIRLS' TRADE SCHOOL BOUGHT BY MAYOR CURLEY AT GREAT SAVING TO CITY.

Mayor Curley established a laudable precedent, saved the city over $300,000 and three years' time as well as drove a good bargain when he, through the School-house Department, purchased the apartment house at 56 Fenway, for school purposes at a cost of $366,500.

When fully equipped and ready for use it will represent an investment of $400,000 and will be used as a home for the Trade School for Girls, Miss Florence E. Leadbetter, master, now located at 616 and 620 Massachusetts avenue, near Washington street.

To build an adequate high school for 1,000 pupils, which the new building is expected to accommodate, would cost the city $625,000 and three years of time.

This is the first time a building occupied as a residence at the time of purchase has been taken over for school purposes in Boston.

The first floor of the building will be used temporarily as an overflow for the Girls' Latin School, while the building on Massachusetts avenue will be occupied as an annex for the Girls' High School, thus making it possible to give up the lease on the building at 100 Beacon street, formerly the home of the Noble and Greenough School, now used as an annex.

The building is one of the finest apartment houses of its kind in Boston. It was built about twenty years ago and cost about $400,000. It is five stories high and contains 75 rooms, not including halls and bathrooms. These were divided into five housekeeping suites of 20 rooms each. The smaller of two boilers is adequate to heat the entire building, and there is storage space for 200 tons of coal. There is a great deal of marble flooring, and where marble is not used hardwood is. Hardwood paneling and marble are used extensively throughout the building. A beautiful chapel on the upper floor with stained glass windows will be used as an auditorium. The entrance hall is unusually handsome.

The house is admirably adapted to the work of the school. Each department, such as dressmaking, millinery, machine operating, will have a floor to itself. The catering department will occupy the kitchen and dining rooms of the suites, located one above the other, and will have the advantage of home equipment and surroundings. It is planned to serve luncheons to the pupils, each kitchen caring for the students on its floor.

Bounded on two sides by a park and on one by a street, the building is provided with an abundance of light and air and the park will serve for recreation purposes. A small room in the building will be set aside for indoor play in inclement weather.

The building as originally planned is occupied at this time for school purposes and contains one office and salesroom, four academic and lunch rooms, ten kitchen and laundries, one sewing room, five machine rooms, seven stock rooms, thirteen locker rooms, three public dining and serving rooms, fourteen classrooms, one principal's office, one business office, one library, one nurse's room, three show and sales rooms, three offices and fitting rooms, three rest rooms. The building accommodates at this time 655 pupils and has room for growth of 300 pupils.

MAYOR ENTERTAINS S. W. V. AUXILIARY HEAD.

Mayor Curley entertained distinguished officials of the Ladies Auxiliary of the United Spanish War Veterans organization Thursday in honor of Mrs. Lucille E. Dragon, of St. Louis, president general of the Auxiliary of Spanish War Veterans. A luncheon was served the visitor and guests of the city in the crystal room of the Parker House. After the luncheon the guests were taken on a tour of the park system in automobiles. They were entertained also with a trip along the North Shore.

Those present at the luncheon and on the tour were: Lucille E. Dragon, president general, St. Louis, Mo.; Elizabeth L. McNamara, past president general; Commander Rice of the United States Navy; State Commander George W. Pratt of the G. A. R.; Mrs. Walter Duncan of the Volunteers of America; Col. J. R. Kean of the United States Army; Jennie R. Dix, past department president, Massachusetts; Carrie E. Bancroft, past department president, Massachusetts; Mrs. Agnes Mildrum, department president; Mattie E. Green, senior vice department president; Mary E. MacNeill, junior vice department president, Nora V. Eveleth, department secretary, Massachusetts; Mary E. McDonald, chaplain, department Massachusetts, and Elizabeth Sanford, chief of staff.

MAYOR ASKS GOVERNOR TO CALL JOINT CONFERENCE ON STRIKE.

MAKES MOVE LOOKING TO SETTLING TELEPHONE CONTROVERSY BY ASKING CENTRAL LABOR UNION TO LAY ALL FACTS ON SITUATION BEFORE STATE'S CHIEF EXECUTIVE.

Mayor Curley received the following letter from Governor Cox dated July 10:

I am directed by Governor Cox to thank you for your letter of July 9 enclosing a letter from Mayor Sullivan of Worcester, together with your reply to it.

I am further directed to say that Governor Cox has been following the telephone strike with the closest attention and that he is ready at any time to do whatever may be necessary to protect the public.

Very truly yours,

H. A. MacDONALD,
Secretary to the Governor.

Mayor Curley sent the following letter to Governor Cox in reply to the above:

I beg to acknowledge receipt this day of your communication with reference to the telephone strike. I am pleased to be informed that you are not adverse to publication of the letter which you have this day forwarded me.

I appreciate that the interests of the public have ever been your first consideration and I am forwarding a copy of your letter to President Ernest A. Johnson of the Central Labor Union with the suggestion that he lay before you the facts as submitted by the striking telephone operators, so that in the event you deem it necessary to arrange a conference with the Governor of Rhode Island for joint action on this matter, which is essentially a New England project rather than a purely local one, you may be in possession of all facts that in the opinion of the striking operators are essential to a proper consideration of their case.

Very truly yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

The Mayor also sent the following to Mr. Ernest A. Johnson, President of the Central Labor Union:

MY DEAR MR. JOHNSON,—I beg to submit herewith correspondence which has passed between his Excellency and myself and which may serve as a means of opening negotiations at once, beneficial to the public, the telephone operators and the Telephone Company.

Sincerely yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

The work required under the original contract was completed within the time specified (eight days), with the exception of a small painting item which was impossible on account of weather conditions and which was delayed until some later date when the boat should be hauled off. The extension of time was necessary on account of additional work required by the steamboat inspectors after the stability test was made. The painting item was completed on June 15.

* Awarded contract on Schedule C.

Incident to the award a communication from Frank P. Rock, Superintendent of Supplies was as follows:

"Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract to the City Fuel Company, the lowest bidder at a price of $8.04 per ton. This department asked for bids on three different schedules and the City Fuel Company were the low bidders. Schedule A called for 2,000 tons of coal to be delivered on or before September 30, 1923. Schedule C, which I recommend accepting, calls for delivery of 14,000 tons on or before May 1, 1924.

"Prices were submitted by the City Fuel Company for furnishing coal to nine districts in the City of Boston. The average price before October 30 was $7.69 per ton and after that date $8.65 per ton, while their bid on the whole city on Schedule C was $8.04 per ton. This proposal is the one that I recommend for acceptance.

"This department advertised for bids on this supply of coal on April 18, and the lowest price received at that time was about $9.20 per ton. Therefore by re-advertising for this supply of coal, approximately $16,000 was saved."

Upon July 9 the Mayor approved a contract with the Linscott Motor Company for furnishing one Reo speed wagon, with dump body attached, to the Institutions Department, Infirmary Division.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts, awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do the work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Upon July 9 the Mayor approved a contract with the Gamewell Fire Alarm and Telegraph Company for furnishing and equipping the new fire alarm central office. A communication from Theodore A. Glynn of the Fire Department, was as follows:

BOSTON, July 9, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,

Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—I respectfully request your Honor's permission to enter into contract without advertising, with The Gamewell Fire Alarm Telegraph Company, 200 Devonshire street, Boston, to furnish the equipment for the new fire alarm central office, in a sum not to exceed two hundred seventeen thousand (217,000) dollars. This contract is to include all apparatus, excepting power board and the installation of same, including wiring of apparatus.

I desire to make this contract without advertising for the following reasons:

The Gamewell Fire Alarm Telegraph Company are the only specialists in the country in this line of work. I believe there is no other company which could fulfill the contract in a satisfactory manner. The company is thoroughly reliable and will furnish a guarantee for five years.

Practically all the municipal fire alarm stations in the country, both large and small, have been equipped by the Gamewell Company, and prompt and reliable service has been secured. For over fifty years the City of Boston has used Gamewell apparatus almost exclusively, and I believe it is of vital importance to standardize on this make.

It will require 300 working days to complete the contract and therefore the contract should be made at once in order that the equipment may be ready when the building is finished.

The equipment will include all the latest devices known to the state of the art, and have been approved by the Boston and National Boards of Fire Underwriters. Ample provision will be provided for the future growth of the city. With the completion of this contract I believe the City of Boston will have a fire alarm system unequalled in the world.

Yours very truly,

THEODORE A. GLYNN,
Fire Commissioner.

PARK DEPARTMENT.

Upon July 9 the Mayor approved a contract with R. A. Bossi Company for tearing down and rebuilding a party wall at the Cherry Street Playground. A communication from Chairman James B. Shea of the Park Department was as follows:

BOSTON June 19, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,

Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Your authority is respectfully asked to award a contract, without advertising, to R. A. Bossi Company, 40 Humphreys street, Dorchester, to tear down a partition wall, which is a party wall, and to rebuild another in order to protect the building at the Cherry Street Playground, South End.

The Law Department advises the Board that it devolves upon the city to protect the building from any injury caused by our tearing down the building adjoining.

Under the circumstances I recommend that the work be done on a cost plus 10 per cent basis, for the reason that I am advised that this is the only way in which the work can be done intelligently.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES B. SHEA,
Chairman.

PRINTING DEPARTMENT.

Upon June 30 the Mayor approved a contract with the Premier & Potter Printing Press Company, Inc., for one GO Premier Press. A communication from William J. Casey, Superintendent of Printing, was as follows:

BOSTON, June 29, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,

Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Your Honor's permission and approval is respectfully requested to allow this department to purchase, without advertising, from the Premier & Potter Printing Press Company, Inc., one (1) GO Premier Press. The new press is to take the place of an old one which is about fifteen years old and now mechanically defective. It has been repaired several times without satisfactory results and it is in the interest of economy and efficiency to replace it with a new and up-to-date press.

We have three other presses of this size and type in the plant and it is advisable that the new press be of the same size and make so that we might have rollers, chases, etc., interchangeable. The Premier & Potter Printing Press Company, Inc., are the manufacturers and sole agents for the Premier Press. The price of new press is $5,300; the price allowed for the old press taken in exchange will be $1,850; net cost to the city, $3,450.

Provisions have been made in the current year's budget for this exchange.

Respectfully yours,

WILLIAM J. CASEY,
Superintendent.

SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

Upon June 28 the Mayor approved a contract with John A. Gerrity for performing certain alteration work at the Girls' Trade School, 55 Fenway. A communication from Thomas P. Glynn of the Schoolhouse Commission was as follows:

DEAR SIR,—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners respectfully requests the approval of your Honor to the employment of John A. Gerrity, 370 Centre street, for performing certain work of alterations, in an amount exceeding one thousand (1,000) dollars, in the building lately acquired for the Girls' Trade School at 56 Fenway. It is the intention of the School Committee to hold a summer school in this building from July 5 to August 24, and they ask that the work be done in such manner as will least interrupt the ordinary procedure of the summer term and will guarantee completion of the work before the beginning of the fall term. It is necessary therefore to begin work at once, without the delay of preparing specifications, advertising, etc. The Board therefore, as above stated, requests your approval of this method of taking care of the matter.

Respectfully yours,

THOMAS P. GLYNN,
Chairman.

DEAR SIR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract, without advertising, to the Worcester Pressed Steel Company of Worcester, Mass., for furnishing to the Public Works Department, Water Service, High Pressure Fire Service, 300 hydrant hoods at a price of $6.50 each, making the total amount of contract $1,950. This concern has been making these hoods for the Public Works Department since 1913, at which time they made and have kept the original patterns for these hoods. It would be impossible to secure as low a price from any other concern on account of the expense entailed in the making of these patterns, and I therefore recommend that the contract be awarded to them.

ADVANTAGES OF OIL FUEL FOR SCHOOLS.

JAMES J. MAHAR, OF THE BOSTON SCHOOLHOUSE COMMISSION, ADDRESSES JANITORS' ASSOCIATION CONVENTION.

James J. Mahar, of the Schoolhouse Commission, delivered the following address on the advantages of oil fuel for school buildings before the Massachusetts Janitors' Association Convention:

During the spring of 1917, his Honor Mayor Curley, at a conference held in his office, called attention to the condition that faced the City of Boston in regard to obtaining the winter supply of fuel for its municipal buildings, and pointed out most clearly the seriousness of the situation and the possibility that such necessary plants as the pumping station, City Hospital and school buildings might be compelled to close for lack of fuel. At this conference it was shown that coal concerns would not bid on the advertised requirements for coal fuel, and the city was obliged to go out and buy coal and pay the price asked. Two thousand tons of coal were bought at $10.50 per ton, and the city was fortunate in receiving this, even if the coal was of an inferior grade.

The gravity of the situation led his Honor the Mayor to appoint a committee to investigate the advisability of installing oil-burning equipment in many of the municipal buildings. This committee made a complete investigation and reported at length advocating the replacing of some of the coal-burning plants by oil-burning apparatus. Incorporated in this report was a report which was subsequently made to the School Committee on the advisability of installing oil-burning equipment in thirteen high schools. It was determined that by installing oil-burning equipment in the thirteen high schools that year, about $33,000 could be saved between the cost of coal and the cost of oil as a fuel.

Everything was in readiness to go ahead with these installations, but owing to the uncertainty of the delivery of oil, caused by the scarcity of tank steamers and tank cars, most of which were in the government service for war work, the plan of installing oil-burning equipment that year had to be abandoned.

You will recall the conditions that existed during the winter of 1917-18. In New England here the lowest temperatures for a number of years were experienced, and the winter was of long duration, lasting from early in December until the first of March. In Boston many school buildings were without fuel and were compelled to close for weeks at a time. Custodians in charge of some of the older buildings were in a position where the fires had to be put out and the systems drained of water; and even that was not sufficient to protect the heating apparatus during that severe winter. Heating and plumbing systems were damaged to the extent of $125,000 and several buildings were delayed in reopening in the spring until this damage could be repaired. Similar conditions existed in other municipal buildings.

The experience of that winter alone was sufficient cause for his Honor the Mayor to advocate that during 1922, the first year of his second term, the question of equipping several municipal buildings with oilburning equipment should be taken up; and in that year a real start was made, so that by the winter months of 1922-23 oil-burning apparatus was in operation in the City Hospital, City Hall Annex, several fire houses and five school buildings.

As you gentlemen are particularly interested in the oil-burning equipment in school buildings, I shall attempt to give you the experience of Boston and what we believe are the advantages of oil burning in public school buildings. It is my personal opinion that oil is the best and most efficient fuel for boilers in public schools.

First, it is clean. It eliminates the coal dust from sidewalks and lawns. By its use the outside brickwork and granite or limestone trim are kept cleaner and freer from soot and stains. It eliminates the damage caused by coal dust inside of buildings. As you gentlemen well know, no matter how much care is taken inside of a building, the coal dust is certain to find its way from the coal room to the various classrooms through the ventilating system, thus damaging the painting and tinting inside the building. A glance at the condition of the interior painting of a building will show whether the boilers are being operated by coal or oil fuel.

Another advantage is the elimination, both inside and outside of the building, of dust caused by the removal of the ashes. Much money has been spent on air washers and dust removal apparatus for buildings, while the nuisance of coal and ash dust emanating from the boiler room and passing the building has been allowed to go on.

Second, the loss due to banking of fires is eliminated. Each year large quantities of coal are used in the banking of fires in the school buildings. The usual procedure in a high school, for instance, with day and night sessions, is as follows: Fires are started in the morning and operated until the close of the day session. The fires are then banked, and remain so until the opening of the evening session, when they are opened up again; the apparatus is operated for two or three hours, and the fires are again banked for the night.

During the milder weather of the fall and spring the fires are started as usual in the morning, a steam pressure maintained sufficient to remove the chill from the class rooms, the fires are then banked or run very low during the remainder of the day. During Saturday and Sunday and on several other days during the spring and fall the fires remain banked during the entire day in readiness for sudden drop in temperature.

Thus in schoolhouse plants we have periods of intermittent firing, together with frequent banking, which is wasteful in the use of coal fuel. Several hundred tons of coal are annually used for banking purposes alone, which must necessarily mean a dead loss of heat units. It seems fair to assume that with the use of oil fuel this yearly loss of heat units could be eliminated by operating the oil burners in about the same manner as the ordinary gas burners, or at times when actually required for use.

Third, uniform boiler pressure is maintained. Considerable fluctuation of pressure occurs in coal fired boilers of school buildings, due to the constant opening of fire doors for the introduction of fuel, and also to the absence for short periods of the operator in charge while attending to other duties about the building. With the use of oil fuel, uniform boiler pressure can be maintained, as the oil is fed automatically to the burners to meet the requirements of light loads as well as heavy overloads. The opening of fire doors is eliminated and a better furnace condition is obtained, both in furnace temperature and air supply requirements.

Fourth, reduction of fuel storage space is gained. As oil can be stored in half the space usually set aside for coal storage, great economy in this regard is experienced by the use of oil fuel. This means considerable in the initial cost of a building, in view of the fact that first-class constructed school buildings today are costing 50 per cent per cubic foot, and every foot of space saved in the basement of a building, with its heavy walls and foundations, helps to keep down the initial cost.

Fifth, the fire hazard is reduced. Frequently fires occur in school buildings from spontaneous combustion, due to the storage of coal. When this happens, it is quite costly to remove the coal from the building. With the use of oil fuel this danger is removed, because the oil is stored in a tank and never takes fire from spontaneous combustion. Then, again, in case of accident to a boiler plant or fire in the building, the oil supply can be immediately shut off.

Sixth, greater economy is shown in the use of oil fuel. By the use of oil fuel, expensive ash hoisting devices, with their annually recurring expenses for water or electrical current, are eliminated. Ash cans, renewals of grates and fire tools, and the constant repairing of boiler settings are also done away with.

Seventh, there is a reduction of the labor cost of firing. In large industrial plants the number of firemen can be reduced and a great financial saving made by the use of oil fuel. I know of one plant, for example, which operates for twenty-four hours per day. It reduced its firing force from twelve firemen to three by changing over from coal to oil fuel. In school buildings, of course, no such saving can be made, as the ordinary firing force in such buildings is one or two men, depending on the size of the building. This can be said, however, the time hitherto spent by the janitor or his assistant in attendance on fires and removal of ashes, where coal has been used, can be devoted to other duties about the building by the introduction of oil-burning apparatus.

These then are some of the many advantages obtained by the use of oil fuel in school buildings. They are not advanced because of the claims made by the many manufacturers of oil-burning equipment, but as a result of our own experience in Boston during a year's trial in five of our school buildings. We can state, without fear of contradiction, that in these buildings a substantial sum of money has been saved by the elimination of fire-banking losses, that the buildings are cleaner, both inside and outside, that more uniform boiler pressure and better results in the heating have been obtained, that the fire hazard has been reduced, and that the annually recurring expense of ash cans, grates, settings, fire tools and ash-hoisting devices has been eliminated.

It may be of interest here to cite the case of one of the five buildings in question, and to tell you how the general heating conditions and comfort of both pupils and teachers have been improved since the introduction of oil burning in this building. The boiler plant consists of three horizontal tubular boilers 60 inches in diameter, each containing seventy four 3-inch tubes. These boilers furnish steam to the radiation distributed throughout the building, as well as to two large groups of primary heaters and two engines which operate two ventilating fans. The boiler pressure required for the operation of this system is thirty-five pounds.

When coal was used as a fuel in this building, it was impossible to maintain this pressure constantly and run both engines up to the required speed in cold weather, even with so large a boiler plant. The result was that constant complaints of inadequate heating and low temperatures were made by both pupils and teachers. During the past winter—and I need not tell you it was a severe one—no trouble was experienced in running the engines up to speed, maintaining a uniform temperature of 70 degrees throughout the building, with only two of the three boilers in operation. And I have the word of the headmaster that at no other time in his connection with the school has the building been so comfortably heated as it has been during the past severe winter. I might cite instances of the excellent results obtained in the other four buildings, but time will not permit.

It might be well here to inject a word or two about the thermal efficiency of oil fuel as compared with that of coal fuel. The question is often asked—and it is a natural one—how many gallons of oil are equivalent to one ton (two thousand pounds) of coal. The answers to this question show wide differences of opinion among those familiar with the burning of fuel oil. Oil-burning equipment manufacturers claim one hundred and fifty gallons to be equal to one ton of coal. Others say this figure is too low, and place it as high as one hundred and eighty gallons to one short ton of coal. From our own experience we believe that one hundred and sixty gallons is a fair assumption.

In order to determine whether it is desirable to install oil-burning equipment in any school building, it is necessary, before any other steps are taken, to ascertain whether there is an oil-filling station located in or near the city in which the school building is situated. If it is necessary to transport the oil in cars a great distance, the cost of freight adds considerably to the original price of the oil and may cause it to become almost prohibitive.

Last year in making the experiment—and experiment it was, as far as we were concerned—of changing over from coal to oil fuel in five school buildings, considerable investigation was made, including visits to other cities, inspection of different types of burners, consultation with users of the different kinds of apparatus, obtaining their opinions on the economy and efficiency attained by the use of oil-burning equipment. From this investigation and from the experience we have had during the first year's trial, we feel that oil is the proper fuel to use in school buildings; and from the many advantages mentioned, we feel justified in proceeding each year with the changing over of a certain number of plants from coal burning to oil burning.

MAYOR OPPOSES CARNIVALS.

Mayor Curley sent the following letter to Fletcher Ranney, Esq., chairman of the Licensing Board of the City of Boston:

"The granting of licenses for outdoor amusements as today conducted constitutes a menace to the morals of the community and in addition a nuisance to the neighborhood in which they are permitted to operate.

"During my previous term as Mayor I found it in the interests of morality to refuse in every case applications for the identical character of outdoor amusement privileges that the Licensing Board is permitting to operate at the present time. I have conferred with the Police Commissioner and with the chief of the Licensing Bureau of the City of Boston, and they are in accord with me in the opinion that the best interests of the city require that permits to conduct these outdoor amusement enterprises in future be refused.

"I sincerely trust your Board will share the opinion that is common in every neighborhood where these enterprises have been permitted to operate, and agree on a policy that will exclude them in future."

All persons having any knowledge of the accident will be examined and the facts brought out by such examination included in the report.

(b) The Board of Inquiry will report in each case whether damage to apparatus was due to defective construction, lack of proper lubrication, inferior quality of supplies, such as oil, etc., recklessness, carelessness, lack of attention on the part of officers, or inexperience or neglect on the part of chauffeurs or others.

(c) Each report will include such recommendations as the Board may think proper.

Officers having control of apparatus will be held strictly responsible for its proper care and operation; they will hold chauffeurs and other members of their commands strictly responsible for its cleanliness and thorough lubrication.

Attention of officers is called to the fact that on practically all of the apparatus now in service the officer rides alongside of the chauffeur, when possible, and is therefore primarily responsible for its operation.

BOSTON'S SCHOOL BUILDING PROGRAM BIGGEST EVER KNOWN TO CITY—$14,000,000 TO BE SPENT.

The Schoolhouse Commission, which is the official body having charge of the construction and maintenance of all schoolhouses for the City of Boston, has brought about several desirable changes in connection with the schoolhouse system. There has been for years an increasing number of pupils in excess of the capacity of the schoolhouses, necessitating the use of portable wooden schoolhouses, of which there are at present in the city enough to accommodate nearly 15,000 students.

This year, for the first time since the department was organized, it is not building any new portables, but is building new schoolhouses to meet the demand and assuring the pupils better accommodations in new buildings. Also, for the first time in many years, the cost of moving these portables from place to place has not increased, and this notwithstanding the increased cost of nearly everything having to do with building operations.

Another innovation of the Schoolhouse Department is in the purchase of existing buildings. The city has just purchased the apartment house at No. 56 Fenway, a structure which when finished was one of the most complete and elaborate apartment houses outside of New York. The Schoolhouse Department purchased this outright and it is to be used at once to house the Girls' Trade School, for which it is admirably adapted. The price at which it was purchased means that the city, as compared with the cost of a new structure, saves about $300,000 in money and at least two and one half years in time, besides getting really a much more elaborate building than would naturally be built for school purposes. This is considered a very wise innovation and the Board has in contemplation another building of the same character which can be purchased at considerable saving to the city and be available at once to supply an urgent need.

Another new departure of the Schoolhouse Department is in the purchase of sites for schools. The Board has, in conjunction with the Park Department, taken over two large sites for school buildings which were parts of playgrounds or park systems but which had ceased, because of changes in location, to answer their purposes as parks while admirably adapted to use as schoolhouses. In this way, without increasing the burdens on the city at all, the Board was able to obtain excellent sites, avoiding all litigation and delay, ousting tenants, etc.

Two such sites have been taken in East Boston.

Still another new departure of the Board is in the serious attempts which are being made to standardize construction of the smaller schoolhouses. A reputable architect has been employed by the Board to make a special study of this work, and a typical eight-room schoolhouse is being developed, every detail of construction and arrangement being most carefully studied and considerations of cost and administrative efficiency being most carefully considered.

Two new schools will be built from the plans when completed, one in the Robert Gould Shaw District and one in the Blackinton-John Cheverus District, and it is already evident that by standardizing the plans and requirements a saving of from 20 to 25 per cent can be effected with really better results than under former methods.

The Board has also voted a change which will be appreciated by every pupil and teacher. Heretofore black slate has been used very extensively for urinals and for sinks. Aside from the looks, which is not prepossessing, the slate is decidedly not sanitary, and the Board after careful consideration has decided to abandon slate entirely and to use porcelain. This is in accordance with modern practice and hygiene and the difference in cost is negligible. The Board is also doing away with the use of old-fashioned cisterns, latrines and chain-and-pull water-closets, substituting instead flushing valves of the most modern type, which will effect not only a saving in first cost but will also save a great deal in water and be in every way more sanitary and efficient.

The Board has at present twenty schoolhouses under contract besides six schoolhouses upon which architects are at work on the plans. In addition to this there are seventeen schoolhouses for which appropriations have been made by the School Committee aggregating nearly $8,000,000, making a total number of schools for the entire program of forty-three schoolhouses, representing an outlay of over $14,000,000, the largest school building program Boston has ever had.

The building program during the war was necessarily held in abeyance and the city is behind in its school accommodations, but the program as now outlined by the present Board will greatly improve the situation and give the school system what it so sorely needs.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ACTIVITIES.

Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn has made the following report to the Mayor on department activities for the month of June:

BOSTON, July 5, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,

Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR:—I submit below an account of the activities of the Boston Fire Department during the month of June, 1923:

High pressure station No. 1 was in operation during the month for three hours and twenty minutes, the pumps having been started in response to twenty alarms of fire.

High pressure station No. 2 was in operation during the month for two hours and twenty-seven minutes, the pumps having been started in response to seven alarms of fire.

One new fire alarm box was installed, opposite No. 270 Amory street.

On June 26 Engine Company No. 7 moved into its completely rebuilt quarters on East street, city proper. This was one of the oldest fire stations in the city and was not fitted to accommodate the present company stationed at that location.

In accordance with your Honor's instructions plans were prepared and the work started on this house last fall. The new building is a model station, and is arranged for the comfort and convenience of the men who are obliged to live in it. The company is equipped with a gasoline pumping engine and a motor-driven hose and chemical car. Previous to rebuilding the station the company was a horse-drawn company. The district and the men have been benefited by the change and the efficiency of the company greatly increased.

Orders were issued to the department to have the streets flushed in the congested sections during the hot weather and to operate the hydrant shower baths whenever the weather conditions warranted it.

As a result of a recent conference at your Honor's office, printed regulations concerning motion picture theaters and combination motion picture and vaudeville theaters have been sent out to the department to be distributed to the playhouses throughout the city. Contained in these regulations are the distinctions between a Class A and a Class B theater, the duties of a fire patrol; directions to follow in the event of fire occurring, and many other important suggestions.

The Fire Commissioner, chief of department and the superintendent of fire alarm, at various times, attended the first annual convention of the New England Association of Fire Chiefs at Bridgeport, Conn. Many interesting discussions took place, from which it is hoped much information had been gained in fire prevention and extinguishment. Your Honor's invitation for the association to hold its next convention in Boston was presented to the convention and was accepted by the association after consideration was given to the other invitations received from other cities. I am forwarding herewith a report from the chief of department of the activities of the convention.

During the month the Wire Division issued 1,559 permits for interior electrical construction, and collected $5,466.05 in fees for same. Ninety-six grants for underground conduits were passed and plans approved for same.

In the Bureau of Supplies and Repairs 457 jobs were performed on apparatus by inside shop mechanics, and 62 repair jobs were performed in the shop by the emergency crews. Mechanics other than automobile mechanics performed 461 miscellaneous jobs.

The Fire Alarm Branch and the Bureau of Fire Prevention performed its work in a satisfactory manner.

Yours very truly,

THEODORE A. GLYNN,
Fire Commissioner.

LAND-TAKING IN CITY PROPER.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land by right of eminent domain in the city proper for sewerage works, as follows:

The right and easement is taken to lay and maintain sewerage works in the following described lands, exclusive of any interest in trees, buildings or other structures standing thereon, reserving to the owners thereof the right to use the lands for any purpose except such as may injure or obstruct said works, and except for placing or maintaining any structure on said lands not authorized in writing by the Mayor of said city; trees, buildings or other structures standing upon or affixed to the land in which an easement is hereby taken are to be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said taking for the purpose of constructing said sewerage works. Said lands are in that part of Boston known as Boston proper and are bounded as follows:

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to Richard W. Nickerson, Ruth N. Wheelwright, Agnes E. N. Cogswell, being part of the private way known as Alley No. 937, bounded:

Northerly by Boylston street, eight feet; westerly by land now or formerly of said Richard W. Nickerson, Ruth N. Wheelwright and Agnes E. N. Cogswell, one hundred ten feet; southerly by land now or formerly of Morris Bronstein, being part of the private way known as Alley No. 937, eight feet; westerly by land now or formerly of Mary E. Macdonough, being part of the private way known as Alley No. 937, one hundred ten feet; containing eight hundred and eighty square feet, more or less.

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to Morris Bronstein, being part of the private way known as Alley No. 937, bounded:

Northerly by land now or formerly of Richard W. Nickerson, Ruth N. Wheelwright, Agnes E. N. Cogswell, being part of the private way known as Alley No. 937, eight feet; easterly by other land of said Morris Bronstein, fifteen and 2-100 feet; southeasterly by land now or formerly of said Morris Bronstein, twenty-five and 13-100 feet on a curve of sixteen feet radius; westerly by other land now or formerly of said Morris Bronstein, being part of the private way known as Alley No. 937, eight feet; again northerly by land now or formerly of Mary E. Macdonough, being part of the private way known as Alley No. 937, eight feet; again westerly by the same, twenty-three and 2-100 feet; containing two hundred and fifty-seven square feet, more or less.

A parcel of land, supposed to belong to Mary E. Macdonough, being part of the private way known as Alley No. 937, bounded:

Northerly by Boylston street, eight feet; easterly by land now or formerly of Richard W. Nickerson, Ruth N. Wheelwright, Agnes E. N. Cogswell and land now or formerly of Morris Bronstein, both being part of the private way known as Alley No. 937, one hundred thirty-three and 2-100 feet; southerly by land now or formerly of Morris Bronstein, being part of the private way known as Alley No. 937, eight feet; westerly by other land now or formerly of Mary E. Macdonough, one hundred thirty-three and 2-100 feet; containing one thousand and sixty-four square feet, more or less.

The sewerage works to be constructed are as follows: 133 linear feet of 12-inch pipe sanitary sewer and 133 linear feet of 15-inch pipe surface drain, in the above-described premises, being part of the private way known as Alley No. 937, from Boylston street 133 feet southerly, Roxbury district.

Bettersments are to be assessed for the making of the improvement ordered herein.

This Board determines that no person sustains damages in his estate by the taking of the aforesaid easement and construction of said sewerage works and awards no damages therefor.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the lot of land supposed to belong to Morris Bronstein, on the westerly side of Audubon road, next to the parcel of land at the corner of Boylston street, will receive benefit or advantage, other than the general advantage to the community, from the improvement ordered herein, to the amount hereinafter set against it; said lot and the supposed owner thereof being shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Plan No. 549, Sewerage Works, Alley No. 937, Boston Proper, May 16, 1923, F. O. Whitney, Chief Engineer, Street Laying-Out Department," and on file in the office of said department.

REFERS STRIKE TO GOVERNOR.

Mayor Curley sent the following letters in answer to the letter received from Morris Sullivan of Worcester, relative to the telephone strike:

Hon. Peter F. Sullivan,

Mayor of Worcester:

MY DEAR MR. MAYOR.—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your communication requesting that I participate in a conference relative to the telephone strike.

I beg to say that I conferred with the Massachusetts representative of the Telephone Company in the early part of last week with a view to arranging a conference where the questions at issue might be discussed, with a view to ending the strike. I was informed by the Massachusetts representative of the Telephone Company, Mr. George H. Dresser, that the strike having extended beyond the confines of Massachusetts he had no desire to participate in any conference relative to a settlement.

Under the circumstances, since it has become more than a state matter and is at present rather a New England matter, it would appear to me advisable that his Excellency the Governor call a conference of New England governors for the purpose of considering an adjudication of existing differences, and I have accordingly taken the liberty of forwarding your letter to him with this suggestion, which I trust meets with your approval.

Very truly yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

The following letter was sent to the Governor:

YOUR EXCELLENCY.—I am this day in receipt of the inclosed letter received from Mayor Peter F. Sullivan of Worcester, and have forwarded him a reply, copy of which I also inclose, believing that since the circumstances are as set forth by the Massachusetts representative of the Telephone Company, it is essentially a matter that should be considered by the governors of New England rather than by the mayors of this Commonwealth.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 319.

The commanding officer of Division 17 has recently called to my attention a meritorious piece of police work performed by Patrolman William J. Harrow of that division.

Early in the afternoon of May 19, 1923, Patrolman Harrow, while at the Forest Hills Elevated Station, noticed three men who in attempting to board a Hyde Park surface car were pushing and crowding in a wholly unnecessary manner, and observed one of these men try, but unsuccessfully, to put his hand into the pocket of one of the passengers. Patrolman Harrow followed them into the car and at Walk Hill street the three men started to leave the car, again pushing and crowding their fellow passengers, and the officer saw one of them pick a roll of bills from the pocket of the same man upon whom the attempt had been made before.

Patrolman Harrow immediately seized the three men, but in the struggle all four of them fell from the car into the street and two of the pickpockets got away. Turning over the man whom he held to an acquaintance, the officer pursued and caught the man who had actually committed the larceny and afterwards arrested the third man on a warrant. All three men were identified as well known pickpockets and were held in $5,000 bail for the grand jury.

It is a pleasure to learn of this excellent police work on the part of one of our officers, and I warmly commend Patrolman Harrow for the alertness, intelligence and perseverance shown by him in connection with the arrest of these three men.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Commissioner.

General Order No. 321.

A trial board consisting of Captains Harriman, Fitzgerald and Perry having heard by reference a complaint against Patrolman Harrison White of Division 5, charging him with untruthfulness and conduct unbecoming an officer, reported to the commissioner a finding of guilty. In accordance with which the said Patrolman Harrison White was on June 22, 1923, dismissed from the Police Department.

Due notice of such dismissal with the reasons therefor was duly and specifically given in writing on June 22, 1923, to the said Harrison White.

On the twenty-third day of June, 1923, the said Harrison White requested in writing a hearing as provided by the General Laws, and the Police Commissioner set down Tuesday, July 3, 1923, at the office of the Police Commissioner as the date and place for said hearing and duly notified the said Harrison White.

Said Harrison White was present at said place on said date with counsel and was heard with his witnesses at two o'clock p. m. Whereupon after hearing the case the Police Commissioner found the said Harrison White guilty as charged, and further found that the said Harrison White should stand dismissed, from the Police Department of the City of Boston.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

PROVINCE STREET TAKINGS BASED ON 1922 ASSESSMENTS.

Chairman Edward T. Kelly of the Board of Assessors issued the following statement Tuesday in answer to the statement of Councilor Healey at the meeting of the City Council relative to Province street widening:

DEAR MR. MAYOR.—Regarding the valuations for 1923 on Province street, I beg to report that the figures have been tentatively fixed at approximately the same valuations that were upon this property in 1922, with the exception of the old buildings that were assessed last year and torn down—amounting to $106,100—and which will not be assessed in 1923. There will, however, be a building value upon the new structure, or that portion of it finished on April 1 of the current year, which must be apportioned pro rata upon the various parcels of land, as they are not in one ownership, and it will be necessary to assess in separate lots as in the previous years.

There is no intention of making increases in land values for the current year on any of the parcels, and it will be impossible to assess in one area in the absence of a plan, and for the further reason that the property appears of record in the name of several different owners.

The assessment of the sixteen parcels for 1922 amount to:

Value of land.....	$2,246,200
Value of building.....	106,100
Total.....	$2,352,300

and the land will remain the same in 1923.

I informed Councilor Healey, when he called at the office, that the assessments for 1923 were not yet determined, as we were attempting to arrive at a total land value for the entire parcel, but that in the absence of a plan it was impossible at this time to determine definitely what this assessment would be.

The engineer has not yet completed his compilation of these figures, but will do so in the course of a few days.

I further informed Councilor Healey that my understanding of the amount to be awarded for the takings on Province street was upon the basis of the assessments for 1922, and that several of the owners had so expressed themselves to you regarding the amount.

There is no intention of making any change in the valuation of this property for 1923, other than upon the buildings, due to the demolition of the old structure and the construction of the new.

Respectfully,

E. C. KELLY, Chairman.

FIRE CHIEFS' CONVENTION.

The Mayor has received the following report from Fire Chief John O. Taber forwarded through Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn, on the first annual convention of the New England Association of Fire Chiefs:

Dear Sir,—I respectfully report that, in compliance with your instructions, I left Boston on the morning of June 20, accompanied by Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn, for Bridgeport, Conn., where the first annual convention of the New England Association of Fire Chiefs, of which organization I am one of the vice presidents, was to be held.

At 2.30 o'clock, p. m., Wednesday, June 20, the convention was called to order by President John P. Doyle. Then followed addresses of welcome by the Hon. Fred Atwater, Mayor of Bridgeport, Conn.; Daniel E. Johnson, chief of the Bridgeport Fire Department; James F. Coleman, president of the Board of Fire Commissioners of Bridgeport, and representatives of civic organizations.

The response to the above addresses of welcome was made by Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn of Boston, who by his interesting and pointed remarks seemed to instill fresh vigor into a fast-wilting audience, for the temperature was causing much discomfort.

The records of organization meeting were then read, and this was followed by an address by President John P. Doyle, who spoke on the "Aims and Objects of the Association." Different committee reports were then read, after which the entire gathering toured the city. Later in the evening a theater party at Poli's Theater was enjoyed by all present.

On Thursday, June 21, the convention was called to order by President Doyle at nine o'clock a. m. Justin A. McCarthy of Boston discussed "Automatic Gas Shut-offs," while Engineer John S. Caldwell of the New England Insurance Exchange spoke on "What Methods Should Cities and Towns Pursue to Get Better Insurance Classification," both of which addresses proved most interesting.

Superintendent George L. Fickett of the Fire Alarm Branch of the Boston Fire Department then gave a very fine discourse on the many questions affecting fire alarm systems in general. At this time the session adjourned for a short time, due to the fact that atmospheric conditions were almost unbearable.

In the evening, commencing at 7.30 o'clock p. m., addresses were made by Irvin F. Richardson on "Proper Lubrication of Motor Fire Apparatus"; "Standardization of Fire Hose Threads," by Maj. J. H. Howland, engineer, National Board of Fire Underwriters, of New York City; and by Ira G. Hoagland of New York City, who spoke on "Automatic Control of Fire." The latter address was illustrated by a motion picture entitled "The Menace."

On Friday, June 22, a demonstration was given by Mr. J. Cohn, who represented the Non-Explosive Corporation of America. Reports of the credential and nominating committees were read; officers were elected; standing committees were appointed, and the convention then adjourned.

At one o'clock p. m. a trip was made to Pleasure Beach, an amusement park, and all were given an opportunity to enjoy the cool ocean breezes, for the torrid weather of the two preceding days still prevailed.

The business of the convention having been completed, I left for Boston, arriving Saturday morning.

Conclusion.—The liberal exchange of ideas by the many delegates present at this convention developed some very logical and broad-minded discussions on the art of fire control, which, in a great measure, will have a tendency to promote greater progress in fire departments throughout New England.

Respectfully,

JOHN O. TABER,
Chief of Department.

PUBLIC EMPLOYMENT.

Business during the month of June, according to the report of the Department of Labor and Industries, was not so heavy as during the month of May and was lighter than that of the month of June a year ago.

The records for June show that 1,620 persons were called for by employers, a decrease of 404, or 20 per cent, from May and a decrease of 121 or 7 per cent., from June last year. The number of persons placed was 1,325, a decrease of 315, or 19 per cent, from May and an increase of 7 over June, 1922. The attendance of applicants for employment was 18,211, a decrease of 1,933, or 10 per cent, from May and a decrease of 7,509, or 29 per cent, from June, 1922.

The attendance of service men visiting the office in June was 1,167 (779 soldiers, 397 sailors). Of these, 184 (117 soldiers, 67 sailors) were given introduction cards to employers and 144 (97 soldiers, 47 sailors) secured positions.

In the men's skilled department the metal trades continue to show a preponderance of orders in nearly every branch of that industry, but more especially in the foundry and machinist branches. There has been a good demand for electric and acetylene welders. The building trades have shown some activity in painters and plumbers, the other branches of the industry remaining very quiet. The demand in the printing industry has been fairly strong for pressmen and feeders with the supply equal to the demand. The demand for engineers and firemen in the steam trades has been fairly large but the supply of the right kind of men is small. The general trades have been very quiet.

In the men's unskilled department the demand for able-bodied laborers has been good with a better supply of applicants to choose from than heretofore. Farmers who can milk are in steady demand with little or no supply of such applicants. The demand for culinary and casual workers has fallen off considerably and the positions are easily filled. The demand for boys for errands, offices and factories has practically dwindled away, because, no doubt, of the closing of the schools for vacation, at which time the boys and girls scoured the city for positions.

The demand in the women's skilled department has been for summer hotel work with only a moderate supply of capable applicants. The supply of teachers, college and high school girls has been much smaller than in former years. The demand for factory workers has been fairly good but the supply has been very small with the exception of school children who are anxious to work during the vacation period. There has been a fair demand for power stitchers with only a fair supply of experienced applicants on hand. The demand for attendants for state institutions has been steady but the supply is exceedingly limited. House cleaners both in the city and summer hotels continue in steady demand, with a good supply of applicants. Housework girls are still very scarce and the demand has been far in excess of the supply.

The number of people called for in June was 1,620 as compared with 1,741 in 1922; 1,534 in 1921; 2,577 in 1920; 2,801 in 1919; 2,569 in 1918.

The number of positions reported filled was 1,326 as compared with 1,319 in 1922; 1,143 in 1921; 1,602 in 1920; 1,637 in 1919; 1,747 in 1918.

LAND-TAKING IN SOUTH BOSTON.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land in South Boston by right of eminent domain for the widening and construction of the easterly corner of West Eighth street and E street, South Boston district, as a highway, as follows:

The highway at the easterly corner of West Eighth street and E street, South Boston district, is hereby widened and ordered constructed.

The part of said highway as widened herein, and the land, exclusive of trees or structures standing thereon or affixed thereto, in which an easement for street purposes is hereby taken, is bounded and described as follows:

Southwesterly by West Eighth street, twenty-six and 70-100 feet; westerly by the line of West Eighth street as hereby widened, fourteen and 55-100 feet on a curve of ten feet radius; northwesterly by E street, twenty-six and 70-100 feet; easterly by the line of West Eighth street as hereby widened, fifty-eight and 20-100 feet on a curve of forty feet radius; containing two hundred and forty-four square feet, more or less.

Trees or structures standing upon or affixed to the aforesaid described land shall be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter thereon for the purpose of constructing said improvement.

No betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

MAYOR INVITES ELKS.

Mayor Curley, on Tuesday, sent the following telegram to the officers of the Grand Lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, in annual convention at Atlanta, Ga.:

"It is a pleasure to extend in behalf of the City of Boston a most hearty invitation to the members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks to assemble in national convention in Boston in 1924. Our city, where the movement for American Liberty had its birth, cordially invite the members to again revisit our historical shrines where intellectual opportunity is provided for the entertainment of the Elks and climatic conditions are ideal for a summer assembly.

"The splendid generosity of the members of the Elks in establishing a national rehabilitation hospital for veterans of the World War in Boston upon the occasion of the national convention held here in 1917 is deeply appreciated by our citizens, who unite for the assurance of an Elks convention in 1924 that will attain the highest and most successful advance for the policies of human brotherhood upon which our great organization is founded."

MASONS THANK MAYOR.

Mayor Curley has received the following letter from the secretary-treasurer of the National League of Masonic Clubs:

HONORABLE SIR,—We take this occasion to express the thanks of the National League of Masonic Clubs for the very generous part you had in making our eighteenth annual convention a success, and are sending you, inclosed, the official resolutions of the convention, which is none the less sincere on account of its being in cold print.

Assuring you of our deep appreciation, I am,

Faternally yours,

EDWARD A. MACKINNON,
Secretary-Treasurer National League of Masonic Clubs.

The resolutions are as follows:

President and Brethren of the National League of Masonic Clubs:

At the close of a delightful series of entertaining events, planned most thoughtfully and industriously by all those who have acted as hosts and companions, your committee frankly admits that phrases fail and words wane when we would fain attempt to offer appropriate thanks for these bounteous gifts. Well do we know that the very success of these sumptuous bounties, these services richly fraternal, abound with evidence galore of the foresight, the fervor and the financial sacrifices of these our generous brethren and friends at historic Boston, the very hub of hospitality.

To his Honor, Mayor Curley, we are grateful indeed for his vigorously inspiring, cheery, ringing welcome, his stalwart presence and sturdy message long to be treasured by us with admiration and praise. The Mayor's administration and his courteous, he could bestow, and his presence with Governor Cox and other leading citizens of the city and the Commonwealth at the reviewing stand on the occasion of the parade was an additional reminder of the active interest on our behalf exhibited by the chief executives of Boston and this sovereign state.

To Brother W. E. Terhune, convention chairman, the prince of good fellows and royal entertainer, we with every gratitude tender the appreciative acknowledgment that he has no equal and is entirely in a class by himself. So earnestly and absolutely has he devoted his whole-souled energies to us all that one could easily imagine none other home had he than where he might best labor for our happiness. To him and brethren of the Masonic Club, that super-excelling home of craftsmen, and all others locally associated with him, our heartiest thanks are due. Long may he and they prosper.

To State Vice President Hobart and his Massachusetts coworkers we also are truly thankful for their constant co-operation, their keen enterprise and steadfast fraternal zeal for our welfare.

To our parade leaders, General Edwards and his excellent staff of officers, we give our tribute of applause for the brilliant contribution of their guidance. These peerless brethren lent a glorious military charm to a splendid pageant. And to the other brethren who followed them, to the Eastern Star ladies, the boys of the De Molay, and to civic organizations, we pay our respectful compliments for their assistance.

To the authorities of the Arnold Arboretum at Harvard, to the Public Library and to all others who freely gave us generous access to their collections of things valuable, rare and instructive, we owe many abiding cherished memories.

To our retiring officers of the League go our kindest thanks for the energy and devotion lavishly displayed during the year and at this convention.

To the newspapers of Boston we gladly award the palm of success for their close attention always to our proceedings, for their apt efforts at accuracy of statement, for their judicious comments on our work, and their complimentary references to the great fraternal institution of which we are servants.

Finally, my brethren, to the Great Giver of all Good Gifts, to the Grand Architect of the Universe, we come with profound earnest conviction of His blessing as shown to us in this family sort of reunion at our convention. We devoutly pray that He will protect and guide us in the righteous paths of peaceful brotherliness, that He will uphold us in our vows to one another and sustain those honored brethren of our respective grand lodges who rule and govern us Masonically and to whom we here and now renew our loyalty, and furthermore, may the Power Supreme continue to bless our Brother President Harding and our beloved country. God be with you until we meet again.

Respectfully submitted,
COMMITTEE ON RESOLUTIONS.

PUBLIC LIBRARY EXHIBITION.

BI-CENTENARY OF SIR JOSHUA REYNOLDS.

During the next two weeks there will be on view in the Exhibition Room of the Central Library, Copley square, a special exhibition of prints, photographs and books in commemoration of the 200th anniversary of the birth of the great English portrait painter, Sir Joshua Reynolds, born July 16, 1723.

The exhibition includes all the Medici color prints of Sir Joshua's work as well as color prints from various other sources, the usual series of Bouchot prints and many carbon photographs. A phase of the artist's work not often reproduced is represented by a photograph of the cartoons for stained glass windows at New College, Oxford. Among the books the most notable is Sir Walter Armstrong's splendid monograph.

TRANSFER FOR ADAMS STREET PLAYGROUND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 25, 1923.

To the City Council:
Gentlemen:—I am in receipt of the accompanying communication from the Park Department, which is self-explanatory and respectfully recommends adoption of the order as here submitted.
Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Park Department, June 23, 1923.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:
Dear Sir:—You are respectfully asked to make request on the City Council for the transfer of the sum of $5,000 from the special appropriation, Allston Playground, Improvements, to the special appropriation, Adams Street, Dorchester, Playground.

The reason for making this request is that we have advertised for proposals for grading at the Mary Hemeway Playground, which was formerly the Adams Street Playground, and we find that the balance of the appropriation, which is now $15,028.73, is not sufficient to permit us award this contract which will amount to approximately $20,000.

We have also advertised for proposals for grading and rock excavation at the Stanley A. Ringer Playground, formerly the Allston Playground, and have had a very satisfactory bid of approximately $13,370 submitted, which permits us to transfer the sum of $5,000 and still do the amount of work as originally outlined under the appropriation allowed of $25,000.

In granting this transfer, no injustice will be done to the Stanley A. Ringer Playground, and it will permit us to do the grading on the Mary Hemeway Playground without having to ask for an additional loan appropriation of $5,000, if this transfer is allowed.

Very truly yours,
DANIEL J. BYRNE, Secretary.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer:

From the appropriation for Allston Playground, Improvements, $5,000, to the appropriation for Adams Street, Dorchester, Playground, $5,000.
Referred to the Executive Committee.

HOSPITAL BUILDINGS, ETC.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 25, 1923.

To the City Council:
Gentlemen:—The City Hospital Trustees have submitted a report relative to the status of the institution and its requirements for the next decade.

It is the purpose of the trustees to establish a maternity hospital with one hundred beds, the need for which must be evident in view of the fact that the six existing hospital buildings, in 1916, during my previous administration, has had but four beds added at it since that time, yet, in these twenty-two beds more than 620 babies were born in 1918.

The suspension of the building construction program during 1918 and the two succeeding years, during which period of time the population of the city, there was no increase in hospital accommodations, renders it essential that a courageous building program sufficient to meet present needs and to anticipate future requirements be adopted.

One million dollars will be necessary for buildings in which to house our nurses, our nurses and other employees of the hospital. An additional sum of $1,000,000 will be required for general hospital accommodations.

In view of the report submitted by the trustees, which represents investigation and study covering an entire year, I respectfully recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Hospital Department, June 22, 1923.

Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:
Dear Sir:—As a result of the conference on June 4 between your Honor, the trustees and myself, the City of Boston Hospital Trustees transmit the following letter which we hope will be presented to the City Council in order that they may understand the situation at present existing in our hospital.

During the past twenty years the number of beds at the hospital has increased 12 per cent, while the population of Boston has expanded about 48 per cent. The number of people who seek hospital treatment has grown in much greater proportion and will probably continue to do so. The factors producing this disproportionate increase are various; some are perhaps temporary, but an immediate emergency faces us. The rise in rents and the cost of many supplies has increased with rates of only two or three rooms. Normally crowded, they become impossible in times of sickness, and the invalid must seek institutional care. The high cost of supplies has compelled other large hospitals, dependent on private charity, to limit their number of free patients, and the overflow can only find refuge in the hospital conducted at public expense. The number of admissions for alcoholism has also increased in the last two or three years to numbers which have exceeded all our previous experience. Arrangements are under consideration to care for these patients at the Haymarket Square Relief Station at the Smallpox Hospital on Southdown street. This may be only a temporary relief, as an epidemic of smallpox would compel their return to the hospital wards. Certain changes which are local to our hospital have also served to greatly increase the number of our patients, for six years ago an obstetric service was established to meet a demand of the community, and a year ago a pediatric service was also established. Their appreciation by the public has been amply shown by a demand for admission to these services which has taxed the capacity of the wards far beyond the limits of safety. The popularity of the hospital, as shown by the appreciation of the need of the treatment accorded them, has become embarrassing.

The normal capacity of the main hospital is 777 beds, the limit of which is now reached. Patients who can be given a proper amount of air and space and can receive adequate care, with our present plant and personnel. Even with this number, our supply of nurses and attendants is proportionally below that of many other of the larger hospitals, and necessitates greater effort on the part of the nursing staff and attendants. The number of patients in the wards during the last twelve months has varied between 742 and 897, the average being 828. In order to care for the wards which normally contain thirty-two patients, have been made to receive forty-eight, by crowding the beds together, filling the spaces left vacant, and the aisles with cots. The overcrowding is present in all departments of the hospital and is not confined to any one service, though it is perhaps most marked in the obstetric wards. It has therefore become necessary to try to arrange that our overflow shall be cared for in other institutions.

Our present force of house officers, nurses, and attendants is wholly insufficient to care for this large number of patients; and the risk of infection from one case of acute disease to another lying in close proximity, is always present and its occurrence at times is inevitable. That no serious accidents of this sort have so far happened has been due to the self-sacrificing efficiency of our administrative staff and of our nurses and attendants; but luck has been a factor and it cannot always be counted on. The possibility of an outbreak of fire is always present and with crowded wards and crowded corridors, the loss of removing the patients might lead to disaster. While in the case of a public casualty like a great fire or a large railroad accident the hospital could give little help owing to lack of room. The hospital needs immediately 500 more beds, with the present rate of increase it will probably require, within the next five years, 600 or 800.

An increase in the number of beds alone would not solve our difficulties, which would increase in the number of house officers, nurses, and attendants will be required. The trustees believe that so long as the hospital maintains its present number of beds the public welfare would be best served by limiting the admissions, both from the standpoint of the patient seeking admission and from that of the patient seeking admission and applicant is, however, so great that the trustees recommend for immediate construction buildings which will accommodate 500 more patients, an addition for nurses to connect the present Vose House and Nurses Home, and a building to accommodate at least 1250 patients.

The functions of a municipal hospital have been recently broadened so that it becomes its duty not only to care for the sick, but also to prevent sickness by research into its causes and methods of transmission. The City Hospital has already gained an enviable position for work of this kind; it can only improve by increasing our facilities for performing it. We therefore recommend, in addition, that the Pathological Building be enlarged to a size proportionate to the importance of the work done there.

For making these additions the trustees are confident that $3,000,000 at least will be necessary, and we would suggest to your Honor, and the next Legislature be requested to grant the city permission to borrow that amount outside the debt limit. The City Council, we believe, on the matter much thought and are acquainted with the general needs of the hospital as given above, but a detailed plan for spending so large a sum of money cannot be presented without mature consideration under the guidance of a competent architect, trained in hospital construction, who could furnish us with his conclusions after he has studied the situation and become conversant with our needs. We therefore make the further suggestion that the City Council be requested to make an appropriation of $150,000 for architectural fees. We hope that this will receive the attention of your Honor, and the City Council at the earliest possible moment, in order that the City of Boston may accompany our petition to the next Legislature.

Yours respectfully,
JOSEPH P. MANNING,
President, Board of Trustees.

Ordered, That the sum of $150,000 to be the same is hereby appropriated to be expended by the City Hospital Trustees for Hospital Buildings, plans, etc., and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be and is authorized to issue, from time to time, upon the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City to said amount.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

INTERSECTING STREET SIGNS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 25, 1923.

To the City Council:
Gentlemen:—I transmit herewith communication from the Commissioner of Public Works, in reply to the order of the City Council, dated under the date of April 23, 1923, relative to the erection of street signs at intersecting streets where none now exist, which is self-explanatory.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Public Works Department, June 14, 1923.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor, Boston:

Dear Sir,—Attached find order of the City Council introduced by Coun. Hagan, directing that street signs be placed at specified locations and in general throughout the city, to which the following reply is submitted:

An investigation has been made by a Paving Service engineer, in the downtown section, and arrangements have been made through the co-operation of abutters for the placing of signs at suitable locations where needed, and all of the paving yards have been given orders to replace or install street signs where none now exist.

The work of retaining and placing here square signs throughout the city has been conducted considerably with the ordinary street signs. The approval of the American Legion and of the Veterans of Foreign Wars was requested for the placing of street signs on here square posts at intersections where other locations would not be available and the approval of both organizations was recently obtained. It is thought that with this line-up of co-operation the department will be aided greatly in placing signs throughout the city.

Yours respectfully,
J. A. ROHRKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

LOANS FOR HIGHWAYS, MAKING OF.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 25, 1923.
Gentlemen,—The street construction program for the year 1923 is such as to render necessary an additional appropriation for this purpose and accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $500,000 be and hereby is appropriated for highways, making of and under the provisions of chapter 393 of the Acts of 1905, and that to necessary appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to draw, from time to time upon the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

PROVINCE STREET WIDENING.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 25, 1923.
To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—In connection with the order submitted this day for an additional amount in the sum of $500,000 for street construction program for the year 1923, within the debt limit, I beg to state that this action is based on a desire to conserve the city's moral and financial status in the matter of widening of Province street. The failure of the Legislature to approve the authorization of $1,500,000 outside the debt limit for the construction of Province street renders it necessary that the funds be provided within the debt limit.

The Board of Directors of the Boston Five Cent Savings Bank have submitted to the Street Commission a statement in writing setting forth their purpose to waive damages for the raising of the building now occupied by the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank at School and Province streets. The building on Province street repaid for $25,100. They further agree to accept of assessed valuation for land taken. Under ordinary conditions in a taking of this character the city would be required to pay at least 25 per cent in excess of valuation, so that a single transaction approximates a saving of $15,000 to the city.

The George L. Crocker estate in Province street, assessed for $400,000, have made a like agreement, being willing to accept of assessed valuation on land and waive the damages resulting from the raising of the buildings.

The Massachusetts Hospital Life Association have consented to a like agreement.

In all these cases, however, the agreement is contingent upon the waiving of betterment assessments by the city. The result of the combined agreements in the case of Province street represents an approximate saving to the city of more than one third of a million dollars.

Under the circumstances, first as a moral duty to keep faith with the public and second, as a sound business proposition, I recommend adoption of the order providing for the expenditure for Highways, Making of, within the debt limit, $500,000.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

HEALTH UNIT, CHARLESTOWN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Gentlemen,—At a recent meeting of the City Council an order was adopted for the establishment of a health unit in the Charlestown district.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
George Robert White Fund, June 20, 1923.
Hon. James M. Curley,

Mayor of Boston:
Dear Sir,—At a meeting of the Trustees of the George Robert White Fund held on June 12, 1923, the order of the City Council to consider the advisability of establishing a health unit in the Charlestown district was given consideration, and it was voted to report that the policy of the Board at present is to erect a health unit at the North End, and as the additional income becomes available to erect one or more health units in other sections of the city. Under the terms of the will no work can be started until the income is actually available, and in accordance therewith it is deemed inadvisable to take definite action on any proposal at this time. The Board, however, has already considered the advisability of locating the second health unit in East Boston, when the income becomes available.

Respectfully yours,
RUPERT S. CARVEN,
Secretary.

9. Report on order (referred June 11) for payment of annuity of $600 to widow of William H. Guinan, Jr., formerly a fireman—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; order passed.

10. Report on message of Mayor and orders (referred today) for various department transfers—that the orders ought to be assented to by somebody in the Public Works Department, presumably you. I think he did tell us about $140,000 for sewers in what is called the Charles river basin area, to take care of inadequate sewer accumulations there. Will you explain to us just what it is for, please?

Mr. MURPHY—General appropriation for Sewer Department, construction of sewers, was a million dollars. Because of the decree of the court, making any $300,000 for the sewerage system.

Stony Brook, we were left with a large area in West Roxbury, known as Church street, Parkville road, where there are thirty-five houses at the present time without drainage. In the Back Bay, they have four alleys where sewers will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000, where there are 200 houses without drainage. Those, with the several streets in West Roxbury and $300,000 or $400,000 for Brighton, will take up the amount we have asked for the Paving Division.

Coun. HEALEY—That is, summing up?

Mr. MURPHY—The Parkville road, Church street district, West Roxbury, between $50,000 and $60,000; the alleys in the Back Bay, Audubon road and Queensberry street, $45,000; and then there is one more in the Back Bay, between $10,000 for small streets such as Atlanta street and several streets where they have built three or four houses.

Coun. HEALEY—In other words, half a dozen streets on which that money is to be expended?

Mr. MURPHY—Yes, sir.

Coun. HEALEY—The sewers on Queensberry street are not sufficient to carry off the sewers now? That is, they have sewers there, but they are not sufficient?

Mr. MURPHY—They are building houses there now, including a big block. There are 250 apartments, and without new sewers they will not have drainage. They are going to be occupied the first of September. They have already requested the sewers for the past two months. We will not be able to give them unless we get this money.

Coun. BRICKLEY—This money cannot be used in other places?

Mr. MURPHY—No; only within the Charles river area.

Coun. BRICKLEY—Well, within the Charles river area aren't there a lot of single houses that should be looked after? It looks as though these people erecting large buildings might have a right to the funds. Where we have West Roxbury and Brighton come in? I would like to see a lot of it go out there, myself.

Mr. MURPHY—Well, a good deal of the money will be spent on Church street, West Roxbury, where they have developed thirty-five houses at the present time and are building thirty or ten more. Those are all sold to individuals.

Coun. BRICKLEY—And this is where you are going to take the money from?

Mr. MURPHY—Yes, sir.

Chairman HAGAN—What is the law? If the sewers are inadequate, the State Board of Health can compel you to put in sewers.

Mr. MURPHY—They have the approval of every sewer we build in that area—have to go to the State House for approval; that is, as to size and drainage.

Coun. HEALEY—You remember the old act, providing for the expenditure of $2,500,000 in five years for the Charles river basin?

Mr. MURPHY—Yes, an annual appropriation of one-twentieth of the taxable valuation, something of the kind.

Coun. HEALEY—That ended when?

Mr. MURPHY—In 1917 or 1918.

Coun. HEALEY—Now this is in that area?

Mr. MURPHY—Yes, sir.

Coun. HEALEY—And the sewers you are going to construct are from the sewers in the streets into the houses?

Mr. MURPHY—No, sir, the main sewers in the streets.

Coun. BRICKLEY—You will save money by connecting with the state sewers, from the town of Dedham?

Mr. MURPHY—Yes, sir; connecting with the state sewers.

Coun. BRICKLEY—At the Parental School Veterans' Hospital there is a tank without a sewer. Will this take care of that?

Mr. MURPHY—Yes, sir.

Coun. BRICKLEY—On the Charles river, backing up into that hospital, isn't the Elevated going to put a breakwater or something of the sort, in there, which they never did?

Mr. MURPHY—That is up to us as to that. That would be more a matter of flood prevention than a sewer matter.

Coun. HEALEY—The sewers that are there now are not sufficient to take off the sewerage of these thirty-five houses?

Mr. MURPHY—No.

11. Report on order (referred May 28) for use of Kainsford Island as a summer camp—that the order ought to pass.

Report accepted; passed.

12. Report on message of Mayor and order (referred today) for loan of $500,000 for highways, making of what the order ought to pass.

Coun. HEALEY—Chairman, I wish to make a statement, that I am going to vote "no," without prejudice, on this matter. I had understood that the courtesy of the Council in the matter of extension of time when desired, was always given to a new man, particularly on a very important matter. I had understood that the Council was famous for the courtesy. I have not asked extensions of time on very many matters in this Council. I do know that this matter last year occasioned a whole lot of adverse criticism and of public talk. I have not had the opportunity to obtain the knowledge of the matter that has been afforded other members. I certainly deem it unwise and unfair to ask a new man, on an hour's notice, to vote in favor of such an appropriation of half a million dollars, especially in view of the previous history of the matter. Therefore, I shall vote "no," without prejudice, which does not mean that two weeks from now I may not vote in favor of it. But I do say, and I want to drive it home, that it is an unusual procedure for the Boston City Council to jam a thing through when a member makes a reasonable request for further time to consider it.

Coun. BRICKLEY—Mr. Chairman, as a matter of law here, on a loan order, fourteen days intervene between first and second reading. So I don't see wherein it can do the council any harm at this time to vote for the order the first time, changing his vote, if he so desires, later. We were in conference with the Mayor for an hour and a half or two hours today, and he told us that if we had questions to ask he would answer them to the best of his ability and knowledge. Very few questions were asked. I know I asked some questions concerning things I wanted to know about.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. Chairman, I have heard that statement so often that I think an answer is due. The gentleman said that the Mayor offered to answer questions. This is a matter that involves an expenditure of $500,000. The Mayor and others interested, I suppose, have talked this matter over for several months, and then they say, at a conference, "I am going to do you desire." Perhaps I might have asked a dozen questions, but I think I understood the courtesies of the situation—I think everybody understood them. The Mayor invites us to luncheon, and when we get through are we to bully-bag the Mayor with questions that may embarrass him, and perhaps foolish questions on our part? I understand the situation, and we all understand it. There is the eternal fitness of things to be considered, and I realize that, as others do. But because we go there and don't ask questions, it does not mean that we are absolutely satisfied. I don't say that I shall not vote for this in two weeks, but I speak as a representative of the people, the opportunity to make a fair and intelligent decision. I don't want to vote for this today and two weeks from today be compelled to vote against it. I wish to vote as intelligently as possible both times and to vote the same way both times, unless something comes up that prevents my voting.

The report was accepted and the order was passed, yeas 6, nays 3, Coun. Hagan, Healey and Lane voting nay.

SCHOOL YARDS FOR PLAYGROUNDS.

Coun. HAGAN offered an order—That the City Council, through its Honor the Mayor, request the School Committee to keep open during the summer months all school yards to be used for children's playgrounds.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

ELECTION OF PRESIDENT.

On motion of Coun. LANE, the Council proceeded to ballot for President, with the following result:

For Daniel W. Lane—Coun. Brickley, Hagan, Henley, Moriarty, Lane—5.

For John J. Donoghue—Coun. Donoghue, Gilboy, Walsh, Watson—4.

And Daniel W. Lane was declared elected President of the Council for the balance of the year. (Applause.)

Coun. DONOGHUE moved to make the election unanimous.

Chairman HAGAN appointed as a committee to escort the President-elect to the chair, Coun. Donoghue and Moriarty, and they performed the duty assigned, and applause.

President LANE, in taking the chair, said:

Fellow-members of the Council, I want to thank you all for the honor you have conferred upon me, even at this late day. I should certainly have worn a coat had I known I was to be elected to the chair this afternoon. It is undignified for a newly elected president to appear in shirt sleeves, but we must blame the weather for that. I shall endeavor to the best of my ability during the remainder of the year, as President, to treat you all with the same impartiality which has been accorded me during the past five and a half years. This is perhaps my last year in the Council. I want to say that everyone of my predecessors whether or not I voted for him as President, has always treated me with the greatest courtesy. At no time during those years have I felt that in any way he was discriminating against me or against any member of the Council who perhaps had not voted for him. As the day is warm and the hour is late, I will not take up more time. I will announce my resignation at the next meeting. I thank you all. (Applause.)

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. MORIARTY moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

No. 29

BOSTON'S FIRST HEALTH UNIT IN NORTH END SOON TO BE ERECTED.

MAYOR CURLEY AND TRUSTEES OF GEORGE ROBERT WHITE FUND CHOSE SITE ON BALDWIN PLACE AND NORTH MARGIN STREET FOR LOCATION—IDEAL SPOT. WORK OF ERECTION TO START SOON.

BOSTON'S FIRST HEALTH UNIT IN NORTH END TO BE BOON TO DISTRICT.

Boston's first health unit in the North End is soon to be under way, the sites on Baldwin place and North Margin street, which adjoin, having finally been chosen.

The trustees of the George Robert White Fund awarded contracts for the construction of the first health unit at the North End on February 8 last and it was then expected that the demolition of Police Station No. 8 and the erection of the new building on its site would be immediately commenced. However, protests were made by various residents and welfare workers of the North End as to the inadvisability of locating the health unit at the corner of Commercial and Battery streets as planned, they claiming that the location selected was on the edge of the district and that the site occupied by the Beth Israel Synagogue on Baldwin place would be more central and far better meet the requirements of the district.

After much careful consideration, including conferences with the various welfare societies working at the North End, the trustees on June 12 voted to approve the site of the synagogue mentioned, together with estates 41-45 North Margin street, as a desirable site for the establishment of the first health unit, in place of the one previously selected, provided proper titles might be obtained of the same.

The Law Department reports that the titles will probably pass on immediately and it is then the intention of the trustees to immediately arrange for the construction of the building as previously planned, without any material alteration, at the new location.

Inasmuch as the synagogue site was not available at the time the Station 8 site was selected, and further the new site comprises 14,868 square feet in place of 5,323 square feet at the Station 8 site, the trustees feel much gratified for the helpful suggestions made by the residents and welfare workers of the North End which have resulted, in spite of the incidental delay in the starting of the work, in the acquiring of a much more centrally located site for the first health unit, readily accessible to the citizens of the North End, being but a step via Baldwin place from Salem street, its leading thoroughfare, and also sufficiently larger area to provide for the erection of the building, and in connection therewith also provide an open-air park for the use of the residents of the district.

WANTS CITY FLAG DISPLAYED.

The following letter was received by the Mayor from the Public Celebration Association, relative to the display of the city flag:

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

MY DEAR MR. MAYOR,—The executive committee of the Public Celebration Association passed a vote urging the official encouragement of the use of the city flag by all city departments at its meeting on July 11, and requested the secretary to communicate the action to the Mayor and Director of Public Celebrations.

In view of the fact that a committee of this association originated the present city flag and secured the approval of the design by the City Council and the Art Commission, as well as your approval of the ordinance which was eventually passed by the Council, the association feels that it has a duty to perform in doing whatever is possible for the general use of the flag as a civic emblem.

The vote follows:

That the city flag of Boston be displayed on all municipal buildings, including school buildings, water craft, parks, recreation grounds, at city yards and other appropriate places maintained fully or in part by the City of Boston; such display of the city flag to be in conjunction with the national flag.

Our executive committee believes that as the Commonwealth of Massachusetts has an established custom of the display of the state flag on all state buildings and other state property, that there is an ample precedent, if any precedent were needed, for the City of Boston to officially do the same.

Very truly,

E. B. MERO, Secretary.

NORFOLK WANTS MAYOR CURLEY.

Mayor Curley received the following letter on Saturday, July 14:

DEAR SIR,—Norfolk's city manager, C. E. Ashburner, has just resigned, to take effect in the near future. Stockton, Cal., offered him $20,000 per year and he accepted. Norfolk offered to meet the price if he would stay, but he didn't want to bid one against the other, so we lost.

A few of the taxpayers met in my office and decided that Norfolk must have the best city manager on earth, regardless of his salary, for the Pennsylvania Railroad has purchased over a thousand acres of land at Pennystown, just outside of Norfolk, to build their southern terminals, and Henry Ford and several other large manufacturers will complete their plants here by January 1, so you see Norfolk needs a man capable of managing a city of a million people, for Norfolk is growing by leaps and bounds, and should annex Suffolk, Portsmouth, Newport News, Phoebus and Pennystown next year.

Are you the man for the position, or is there one in your city capable that may be interested (he need not be a politician, but must have pep and vision)? If, so, forward to Norfolk City Council your proposition including compensation desired; also send copy to us. We control eleven hundred acres at Norfolk, so are very anxious that Norfolk get the best; in fact, we offered to contribute $6,000 per year, besides our taxes if Mr. Ashburner would stay with us.

Yours in haste,

W. B. SHAFER, JR.,
President Pennystown Corporation, 335 Arcade Building, Norfolk, Va.

CLAIMS.

The Mayor, with the advice of the Corporation Counsel, has approved the following claims:

Fannie Katz, in the amount of $200, as compensation for personal injuries caused by hole in sidewalk in front of 39 Poplar street, November 17, 1921.

Sadie Silverman, in the sum of $300, as compensation for personal injuries caused by hole in street corner Abbott street and Blue Hill avenue, April 2, 1922.

Estelle Towson, in the amount of $400, as compensation for personal injuries caused by hole in crosswalk corner of Havre and Gove streets, September 21, 1922.

ACTS AGAINST CONSTABLE.

Mayor Curley sent the following letter to the Corporation Counsel of the City of Boston:

HON. E. MARK SULLIVAN, Corporation Counsel, Boston, Mass.:

DEAR SIR,—I beg to forward herewith testimony in the case of Constable Michael W. Ober, and if the facts are as set forth by the Rent and Housing Committee it would, in my opinion, be advisable that the Law Department take action in behalf of the injured party, in addition to notifying the City Clerk that the acts committed by said Constable Michael W. Ober justify the cancellation of his commission as constable.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Upon July 12 the Mayor approved a contract with the Aetna Automatic Oil Burner, Inc., of Providence, R. I., for one approved automatic oil burner. A communication from Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn was as follows:

BOSTON, July 9, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,

Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—I respectfully request your Honor's permission to enter into contract with the Aetna Automatic Oil Burner,

Inc., of Providence, R. I., for one approved Aetna automobile oil burner, installed in the quarters of Ladder Company 4, Dudley street, for the sum of sixteen hundred thirty-seven dollars and fifty cents ($1,637.50).

My reason for desiring to make this contract, without advertising, is as follows:

This oil burner was installed in this station on trial, and has proved satisfactory. Conditions in fire stations are somewhat different than in other buildings as the houses of this department are left vacant, sometimes for hours, and it is necessary to install an equipment which is absolutely dependable. The Aetna equipment is automatic and dependable and will furnish the required heat at a minimum consumption of fuel.

Yours very truly,

THEODORE A. GLYNN,
Fire Commissioner.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Artificial Stone Sidewalks).

Upon July 16 the Mayor approved a contract with John J. Conroy for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Joseph A. Rourke, Commissioner of Public Works, was as follows:

To the Mayor of Boston:

Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to John J. Conroy, 18 Tremont street, city proper, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; and secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,
JOSEPH A. ROURKE,

The commanding officers of several of the police divisions have recently brought to my attention the following meritorious pieces of police work performed by officers of their divisions:

Early in the afternoon of June 1, 1923, on receipt of a telephone call at Station 10, stating that there was a strong smell of gas coming from an apartment in Columbus avenue, Sergt. Thomas F. Ryan, together with Patrolman Stephen X. Mahoney, Nicholas C. Crossen, Daniel J. E. Sullivan and Harold C. Bean, was sent with the wagon and upon arriving at the house found a woman lying unconscious on a bed in a front room with the gas flowing from the open gas jet at the side of the room. Sergeant Ryan and Patrolman Crossen immediately placed the woman on the floor and applied the Schaefer or prone method of resuscitation, continuing it in the ambulance until they arrived at the hospital, where she was held for treatment and afterwards dismissed recovered.

Early in the morning of the same day, June 1, while Patrolman Dennis G. Mahoney of Division 3 was patrolling his route, he saw a horse attached to an express wagon running away down Phillips street and grabbed him by the bridle, in an attempt to stop him. Although the officer was dragged some distance and at one time lost hold of the horse, he finally succeeded in bringing him to a standstill, thereby probably preventing loss of life or property or both.

A similar occurrence took place on the afternoon of July 10, when Patrolman Walter Brown of Division 14 caught a runaway horse at the junction of Washington and Winship streets, Brighton, after it had broken away from the wagon to which it was attached, knocked down a wooden fence and struck a little girl, fortunately without serious results, but had it not been for the officer's brave action much greater damage would undoubtedly have been done.

On the afternoon of June 12, in response to an emergency call received at Station 12 that a hold-up man was in a barroom in East Eighth street, Sergt. John Flynn, with Patrolman Frederick A. Riley and Thomas F. Murray, drove in the department automobile to the barroom and upon arrival saw a crowd of people chasing a man who ran into a house on G street. Being informed that he was the hold-up man, the officers immediately followed him into the house and overpowered him, taking from him a loaded revolver. He was arraigned in the South Boston Court and was held in $5,000 bail.

It is very gratifying to me to learn of this excellent police work on the part of these officers, and I take pleasure in commending them for the alertness, intelligence and courage shown in the performance of their duty.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 331.

Patrolman Frederick H. Corser of Division 17, having performed faithful service in the Police Department for twenty and four-twelfths years, having requested to be retired from active service and it appearing to the Police Commissioner that the said Patrolman Corser is physically incapacitated for useful service in the Police Department, it is hereby Ordered, His Honor the Mayor having approved the same, that the said Patrolman Frederick H. Corser be retired from active service and that his name be placed upon the department pension roll with pay at the rate of $900 a year, said sum being one half of the amount of compensation received by him in the office from which he is retired; to take effect Friday, July 20, 1923, at 7.45 o'clock a. m.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,

MAY SAVE WASHINGTON ELM.

Mayor Curley received a communication on Saturday, July 14, from J. F. Beyers, of 412 Park street, Grant's Pass, Oregon, prominent as a forester in the Northwest, suggesting that the Washington Elm at Cambridge, under which Gen. George Washington took command of the Continental Army, may be saved from destruction by resort to the Oregon tree treatment. Mr. Beyers suggests that a 3-inch bit may be taken and the elm bored to the heart and pointing in a downward direction; when the heart of the tree is reached Mr. Beyers advises that the aperture be filled with flour sulphur and the hole plugged.

Mr. Beyers calls the particular attention of Mayor Curley to the fact that many of the famous trees in the Northwest and Canada have been saved by this treatment.

Mayor Curley forwarded the communication of the Oregon forester for the consideration of Hon. Edward W. Quinn, mayor of Cambridge.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE INSTITUTIONS DEPARTMENT.

Dr. David J. Johnson, Institutions Commissioner, has submitted the following annual report to the Mayor:

Boston, January 31, 1923.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—In compliance with the provisions of chapter 3, section 24, of the Revised Ordinances of the City of Boston, I respectfully submit the following report of the Institutions Department.

REGISTRATION DIVISION.

The Registration Division, located in Room 5, City Hall, receives all applications for persons needing institutional care. Applications are received from hospitals, physicians, relief workers, organizations and other sources in addition to those applications made in person.

Investigation in each case is made by a visitor who calls at the home or hospital, or visits the relatives of the person seeking admission. A great deal of routine work is involved of which no mention need be made. Those who have a Boston settlement are sent to Long Island.

No change has occurred in the duties of the division relative to the commitment of the insane. Our medical examinations are made by two experts, Dr. Charles G. Dewey and Dr. William H. Prescott, who are regularly employed in this highly important service. All applications for commitment of the mentally deranged are carefully investigated and in all cases, when possible, commitment is made only with the consent and approval of the nearest relative of the patient.

INFIRMARY DIVISION.

The population at the Boston Almshouse and Hospital on February 1, 1922, was 870. On February 1, 1923, the population was 851. Average population for fiscal year, 814, out of which 336 are chronic institutional cases.

It is gratifying to report that the hospital has now received the A-1 rating by the American Medical and Surgical Association and the American College of Surgeons. The hospital has been fortunate, too, in securing for the position of superintendent of nurses, Miss Fallon, formerly superintendent at the Psychopathic Hospital of Boston, a woman who is cultured, able and a fine executive.

There are some thirty-five children in the Long Island Hospital whose physical condition makes it impossible for them to be placed in homes or to mingle with other children. These children are school age between ten and twelve, but not one of them could read or write, or even eat or do any of the ordinary things properly, as no provision had ever been made for their education.

At the request of your Honor the School Committee appointed Miss Katherine Hill as teacher for these neglected wards of the city. The choice was a happy one. Under her care the children have, even in this short time, made remarkable progress not only in the regular studies but in conduct and manners, and best of all they are very happy with her. It is to be hoped that the School Committee will find a way to continue her services during the summer so that the children may have the advantage of open-air instruction.

At the suggestion of your Honor, two radio machines were purchased by the city and an additional one was donated by the Trustees of the Cleveland Fund. Moving pictures are held every week.

Through the interest of your Honor, who accompanied them, the Alhambra Council, Knights of Columbus, gave a splendid treat to the old people and sick children of Long Island. A musical program was given by a band of 200 pieces and a caterer provided refreshments. Tobacco was distributed to the men inmates and candy to the women, also candy and toys to the children. It was a bright day in their monotonous lives.

On August 29, 1922, the Roxbury Council, Knights of Columbus, notwithstanding a heavy rainstorm, went down and staged a jolly entertainment. Concerts and other entertainments were given during the summer by the Red Men, Election Commissioner Goggin, young ladies from Brighton Institute, and by various kind-hearted individuals. Many of them left gifts of money for the purchase of small comforts for the old people. On December 22, 1922, the City Council gave the people of Long Island another happy day, distributing to the men cigars and tobacco and to the women and children candy and other gifts.

Through the co-operation of Mrs. Bateman much was done to make Christmas a bright and happy day. Christmas trees and decorations were provided for all the wards, in addition to the 40-foot community tree which sparkled on the lawn, and each inmate was provided with a substantial present besides the regulation Christmas goodies. The nurses and attendants entered enthusiastically into the holiday preparations, giving liberally of their money as well as their time.

But the Christmas gift that really brought joy and hope into their lonely lives was the message of your Honor. You brought to the old men and women the greetings of their fellow citizens of Boston and assured them that they were not forgotten, and promised them that before a second Christmas came round they would be moved from their present isolation to the mainland of Boston, to live out the remaining years of their lives within reach of their friends and former neighbors, once again inhabitants of the city they had worked in and lived in the best part of their lives. Your promise was greeted with cheers.

The children had a pre-Christmas celebration in a trip to Boston to see Santa Claus and the holiday decorations. Through the kindness of Mr. Goggin automobiles were provided for their conveyance. Entertainments and gifts featured their visits to the toy department of the big stores, and a luncheon at City Hall concluded a day full of wonders to children who had never before been beyond the hospital grounds.

In recent years few repairs have been made on Boston Almshouse and Hospital. In 1919 fire wrecked the laundry. The laundry work was sent to Deer Island to be done by inmate labor pending the rebuilding of the laundry at Long Island. This is almost completed, the work being done by prisoners from the House of Correction under the supervision of officers. It was, of course, necessary to award a contract for the plaster work.

In order to do away with the hard climb from the wharf to the institution buildings, twenty-eight granite steps and a concrete grade walk have been built and two granite pedestals erected at the foot of the walk. The estimated cost of this work by outside contractor was $6,000. The work was done by prisoners from Deer Island, volunteer labor, at a cost to the city of about $1,600. A bronze tablet has been placed on the steps, recording the fact that the work was done by inmates of Deer Island for the benefit of the old people of Long Island.

Other important accomplishments are as follows:

Fountain built in front of the chapel.
Tennis court made for the use of inmates.

New laboratory in east wing completed.
New floors laid in hallway of east wing and new walk laid to the wharf.

Chapel and old nurses' home painted throughout and put in habitable and attractive condition.

Roofs of all buildings extensively repaired. Tar and gravel roof put on power house, also on nurses' home.

Shelter tent built for children's department.

An entire new carpenter shop established.

Platforms constructed in operating room and morgue to enable doctors and nurses to observe work of operating surgeons.

A school room completely fitted out.
Hospital, dormitory, wharf, fences, laboratory, fire escapes, morgue, inside and out, women's dormitory, ambulances, carriages, inside of wards and screens painted.

General plumbing and electrical repairs made in all buildings. Entire heating system in all buildings thoroughly overhauled and repaired.

Cement work completed in subway and gate boxes. Reservoir calked and new slabs put on dormitories. Underground cables were installed and electrical conduit to front wharf.

General repairs on radio, sewing machines and victrola. An electric stove installed in dormitory.

Gutters repaired and cleaned, cesspool back of kitchen cleaned.

New glass set in chapel windows and in other buildings.

Washed-out road repaired.

Flowers and shrubs planted in front of chapel and nurses' home.

The sewing room at Long Island has provided most of the necessary clothing for the inmates of the institution and much of the clothing for the children of the Child Welfare Division.

Report of Visiting Medical Staff of the Long Island Hospital.

The matter of greatest importance during the past year from the viewpoint of the visiting medical staff has been the possibility of the removal of the hospital from Long Island to the mainland. The staff has long felt as have others that if the work for the chronic sick is to be carried out to the best advantage, the patients must be in a more accessible location than Long Island.

The means of communication, long a subject of discussion, apparently cannot be improved sufficiently to bring the hospital on a par so far as accessibility is concerned with those on the mainland. It is impossible to expect physicians with many calls upon their time to run the risk of delay in keeping their appointments. This apparently cannot be obviated so long as the only dependence is a somewhat irregularly running boat, which has many other functions than the mere convenience of the medical staff. For these reasons and many others it is hoped that the transfer of the hospital to the mainland may actually take place in the near future.

It is gratifying to note that in spite of the obvious difficulties the medical and surgical work at the hospital has progressed satisfactorily during the past year. An especially trained anesthetist has been appointed which increases the safety and efficiency of operations. On the medical side Dr. Henry R. Viets has been appointed a visiting neurologist, and together with Dr. Hugo Mella this important part of the service has been carried on with enthusiasm. The nurses have received special instruction in this branch of medicine as well as in others and patients have perhaps received more careful study than at any previous period.

A new and very much more convenient laboratory has been constructed in one of the hospital buildings in close proximity to certain of the wards. Under the direction of the newly appointed pathologist, Doctor Zeckwer, and her assistants, a closer co-operation between the medical and surgical work in the laboratory has been secured. There has also been a distinct development in the children's wards. Many of the feeble-minded children have been placed where they belong in the State School.

A service of great importance is that of the social worker with the illegitimate pregnancies. These unmarried mothers require a great deal of time and effort on the part of the visitor. Home conditions are investigated, prosecutions begun against reputed fathers, and the young mother and child readjusted into the community just as soon as further institution treatment is unnecessary. Another group of women, which affords a social problem requiring attention, is the group afflicted with venereal disease and in need of hospital treatment. Patients of this type are kept at Long Island until danger of contagion or infection is passed, and upon discharge are cared for and their conduct supervised by the social worker.

By the present arrangement the internes have a rotating service including medicine, surgery, gynecology, and obstetrics. In spite of the lack of contact with the city which the location of the hospital entails, we have no hesitation in saying, as we have before, that the experience offered house officers is of the utmost value for their later practical work as independent physicians. Dr. John H. Cunningham is planning a study of certain diseases of women and children in connection with the Boston Conservation Bureau, which should bring results of definite value both of a social and medical sort. The surgical service has been increased by the appointment of Dr. H. S. Kebabjian.

Several evening medical meetings of the staff of visiting physicians have been held at the hospital during the year which were well attended and of extreme interest from a medical and scientific point of view. Through the co-operation and helpful attitude of the resident officers and staff, we feel that the year was one of definite accomplishment toward a more humane treatment of the chronic sick of the city as represented at Long Island.

On October 25 and 27, 1922, members of the American College of Surgeons held clinics at Long Island Hospital. Several major operations were performed by Doctor Cunningham and other noted surgeons.

A special case of interest at the Long Island Hospital was that of Michael Tempesta who was sentenced as a drug addict. He was found to have a shrapnel wound which he received in 1916 while serving in the Italian Army. He had been troubled with paralysis, pains in his back, legs and bladder ever since that time until he was admitted to the Long Island Hospital where he was operated on by Doctor Cunningham of the visiting staff. Doctor Cunningham removed a bullet from the vertebra that was causing the trouble which cured the paralysis and pains. The chances now are that Mr. Tempesta will be a normal, law-abiding citizen.

Proposals for 1923.

Through the initiative and efforts of your Honor, a decisive change is to be made in the manner of caring for Boston's infirm and poor. In your inaugural address you said that it was your belief that these men and women "who have grown old without growing rich," who were citizens of Boston and who have given their best years to the upbuilding of its industries and who have been broken down by hard and poorly requited toil, deserve better from their native city than to be banished from it in their old age. The present site of the hospital and almshouse on Long Island shuts off the inmates almost entirely from contact with other people. Friends and neighbors who would be glad to visit them find it almost impossible because the boat trip there and back takes half a day, time which is difficult to find since most of them are working people. The average number of visitors per person is about one a year.

The removal of the institutions to Boston proper would make possible evening visits, and frequent entertainments. The monotony of the inmates' lives would be broken by the passing of cars, the voices of children and other accustomed sounds. But aside from the humane reasons voiced by your Honor, practical reasons make advisable the removal of the institutions to the mainland. In severe weather, such as we have this winter, there are days when the boat cannot make the trip, when, no matter what the emergency, surgeons and doctors of the visiting staff cannot reach the inmates. It has been impossible at times this winter to have even the regular meetings of the visiting staff, and under all conditions the length of time required for the trip is an injustice to the staff, men who rank with the greatest in the profession, whose time is precious and yet who are willing to give these needy people the benefit of their skill.

It is an injustice, too, to the nurses who could find relief from the strain of their work in a visit to the theaters or to their homes, if accessible, but who are now confined to the island except for an occasional day off. These are convincing reasons for making the proposed change.

The proposed plan is that the hospital and almshouse proper shall be in separate plants and in different locations. The ideal situation for the old people has been found in the Parental School buildings, West Roxbury, where they will be surrounded by grass and trees, yet be in sight of the Charles river with its young life and music and laughter, and be within reach of city comforts. A more central location for the hospital is necessary and an ideal spot has been found in the Parker Hill Hospital. The land and buildings have been purchased from the Elks who, living up to their high standard of service to their fellowmen, willingly sold it for that purpose for a nominal price. Plans are now being drawn up for necessary alterations and the year 1924 promises to see your plan for the infirm and poor of Boston, outlined in your inaugural speech, realized.

It will be an achievement of inestimable value, not only to the 400 chronic sick now housed in the almshouse but for hundreds of people in Boston suffering from diseases which require prolonged treatment, which the regular hospitals have not the facilities to give and who, because of the lack of a free chronic hospital in Boston, to which they can go for a period of months, become victims of incurable diseases. It is expected to make this new hospital as fine as any in the country. Since it is near the medical schools, clinics can be established for the study of chronic diseases, one of the departments of medicine in which least progress has been made, where surgeons and physicians connected with the medical schools can demonstrate to students their treatment.

The hospital will provide, too, a place in which to care for patients suffering from obscure diseases which require prolonged isolation. There are in Boston many cases of venereal diseases among women and even children and no hospital exists in the city to which they can be sent. There are about twenty-six such children now in the Long Island Hospital because there is no other place to send them. It is obvious that an almshouse is not the proper place for children who are the responsibility of the city. This serious problem will be solved with the establishment of the Chronic Hospital in Boston. It will be the first time in medical history that such a group has been studied and treated.

The land and buildings at Long Island have been offered by the city to the state at a nominal sum, as a site for the contemplated new state prison. It would be ideal for this purpose. Its isolated situation would necessitate less supervision of the prisoners and its large acreage would supply the inmates with most of their food while supplying them, too, with opportunity for out-of-door labor and safe and wholesome recreation.

CHILD WELFARE DIVISION.

A most interesting division of the Institutions Department is the Child Welfare Division, whose particular care is the orphan children and the neglected or abandoned children of parents who have a legal settlement in the City of Boston. It deals with a most important human problem, the right start in life of future citizens, with the city acting as foster parent. A child will love anyone who shows a kindly interest in its welfare and happiness and if the city does its duty by these children, not in a selfish, but a whole-hearted way, it cannot but receive large dividends from them when they are grown up, in loyalty and affectionate service.

In dealing with the question of dependent children there are two methods of care, one an institutional life, as in an orphan asylum and the other the home placement system. This system provides that children shall be placed in homes investigated and approved by agents of the department so that they may grow up in the atmosphere and under the influence of a real home. Some of these homes are free and the others are paid homes, from $3 to $4.25 a week being given by the city to the foster mother for each child in her care, in addition to providing shoes and other clothing.

The average number of dependent and neglected children cared for by the department during the year ending January 31, 1923: 642 boarded in families; 306 indentured in families; 58 boarded in institutions; 75 in free institutions.

On April 1, 1922, there were about eighty children in the Long Island Hospital. Steps were at once taken to remove all of these children except the congenitally diseased. At Christmas each child received a card and a nice doll or mechanical toy from the department.

PENAL DIVISION.

The population at the House of Correction, Deer Island, on February 1, 1922, was 246. On February 1, 1923, there are 323 inmates. There has been an average increase of 38 per cent in the prison population over the past year.

Segregation of Prisoners.

A reform of the utmost importance has been made in the isolation and treatment of drug addicts. As soon as sufficient cells in the so-called women's prison building (which has for some time been in disuse and out of repair) could be conditioned for the housing of prisoners, this group of fifty men was moved there, October, 1922. They have no contact with other prisoners and are given medical treatment and special exercise and work. The gain in weight has been from fifteen to forty pounds for all of the group, and the mental and moral improvement is equally marked.

To return these addicts to society, after a term in prison without an attempt to cure, means to return them almost certainly to a life of continued crime. It is imperative that they should not be released until they are physically fit, until their morale has been built up and their will power strengthened to resist the temptation to resume the use of the drug. To treat them as medical cases is the one chance to save them from a terrible fate and to save the public from the expense of their frequent arrest and trial and their more or less permanent support.

Important as this is, their isolation is even more important as it is the only means of preventing the spread of the drug habit among other prisoners. For the first time in its history the isolation of drug addicts has kept drugs out of the House of Correction.

The work of reconditioning the so-called women's prison is going forward, and as soon as other parts of it can be made safe and habitable other groups will be moved up there and the old prison abandoned.

In regard to the general treatment, a more liberal policy has been adopted with the prisoners and a noticeable improvement in the morale has resulted. Inmates now talk at meals and are allowed half an hour instead of fifteen minutes for dinner, after which they may walk in the yard and smoke. During the summer months they were permitted to remain out of doors until eight o'clock to play baseball and other games. On Saturdays, Sundays and holidays teams from Boston came to the island to play the winning inmate team.

Among the organizations that very generously co-operated in this were teams from the Brighton Seminary, Knights of Columbus councils and the department stores. A fine spirit of good fellowship was shown by the visiting teams which reacted favorably on the prisoners, putting into many of them new hope and ambition. The evenings in the open air produced a marked improvement in the health of the men and the games provided them with wholesome interests and frequent conversation.

On April 17, 1922, a day school for illiterates, under the supervision of a teacher with intelligent prisoners as instructors, was started by Deputy Commissioner Driscoll. The progress made by those in attendance and their appreciation of this opportunity to get at least the rudiments of an education is most interesting. One inmate over sixty years old, who could neither read nor write, at the end of three months was able to write his application for parole, and another who could not understand a word of English was able to hold a conversation with the deputy. The attendance has increased to such an extent that the teacher now has three inmates as assistants.

The night school has been in session three nights a week. The average attendance has been fifty pupils each night and during the past year approximately three hundred individuals have received instruction in the evening school. The school is divided into three groups, namely, the illiterates, the intermediates, or those who have education equivalent to that of the fourth or fifth grade in the elementary schools, and finally the advanced group, those who have gone as far as the seventh or eighth grade in the schools outside. The emphasis in our work has been laid on the first two groups, particularly the first, and pupils have been advanced just as rapidly as they have shown ability.

Although high school classes, as such, are not held because of the fact that there is never a sufficient number of pupils to form a class in any given high school subject, nevertheless those who wish to pursue advanced subjects in private are helped and encouraged to do so.

It is essential that any system for the rehabilitation of prisoners should include vocational training, since many of the men are in prison primarily because they have no training that enables them to make a decent living. In such training shall be practical, rather than theoretical. It is the aim to have men skilled in various trades appointed as officers. An officer in charge of a detail of men engaged in work must be able to instruct them in all the principles of the work as well as supervise it, as in the apprentice system.

The work necessary to improve and keep in repair the many buildings on Long Island and Deer Island, the wharves, steamers, etc., affords opportunity for training in most of the trades—carpentry, painting, masonry, plumbing, steam-fitting, metal work, electricity, auto driving and repair. In addition to the shoe shop, tailoring shops and stone sheds that were already established, enough mattresses are made at the island to take care of the needs of the department.

Since May 1, 1922, all the repairs at the House of Correction have been made by inmate labor under the supervision of an officer skilled in the particular line of work being done. An appreciable sum of money is thus saved to the city. The receiving station at the wharf has been renovated and made convenient and attractive; a new guard house constructed so that the guard officer may see everyone entering or leaving the recreation yard; old schoolhouse and hospital building razed and material stored; old house, in disuse, renovated and removed to Gut where it is of service; chapel put in first-class condition; every cell of east and west wings scraped and painted; the women's prison, so-called, reconditioned; cupola of old prison, walls and cells scraped and painted for the first time in several years; guard house, ambulance, Gut boats and outer wall of yard and sheds painted; touching up and painting on all buildings.

The roofing detail worked for months repairing roofs of various buildings, and five hundred panes of glass were set. Two complete bathrooms were installed, one for the organist and the other for the deputy. General plumbing repairs have been made in all buildings; all heating plants overhauled; boiler from Rainsford Island installed in receiving room at wharf; lighting facilities improved and additional flare lights installed at the Gut; wall around solitary confinement prison section torn down; dilapidated wooden fence around cow barn replaced by iron one made of discarded pipe; cemetery fence repaired, graves relocated, new crosses put up, and road resurfaced with gravel from waterfront; junk collected from all over the island and put in shape for use and sale.

Repairs to wharf were made by W. H. Ellis & Sons, at a cost of $15,096.22. An electrically driven extractor has been replaced by shaft-driven type, which will save time and expense. A detail of men from Deer Island removed stone from Deer Island to Long Island and built steps and graded walk from wharf to administration building for the convenience of the old people there.

The farm is one of the most important industries in connection with the House of Correction. Last year much time was lost by the delay in obtaining a suitable farmer. No better appointment, however, could have been made than Mr. Houston. His fine character makes him a strong influence for good with the prisoners, and notwithstanding the handicap of a late start he proved his ability by the fine results from the farm. It supplies an abundance of fresh vegetables to Long Island as well as Deer Island all summer, and a considerable part of the winter vegetables. The fall found the silos full of corn for the cattle. A smoke house has been built where hams and bacon are cured and smoked instead of sending them to the city as has been the custom heretofore. As about 50,000 pounds of pig are slaughtered annually on Deer Island, this means an appreciable saving to the department. Half the pork products are now sent to the institution of Long Island.

The printing plant at Deer Island, under the supervision of an inmate has taken care of much of the printing for the institutions and central office.

At the request of your Honor, from twenty to forty-five inmates under the charge of officers were busy from October 18, 1921, to May 15, 1922, coming to Boston daily to work on coal and coke sold by the city at cost to the people of Boston, who, because of a shortage of coal and exorbitant prices, would otherwise have been without fuel.

It is a source of gratification to note the constant progress along the lines for the spiritual and temporal well-being of the inmates of the House of Correction, Deer Island. Every Saturday evening time is set aside for an interview with the chaplain and as many as wish to avail themselves of this opportunity are greeted with a kindly word and are made to feel they have a friend. The visiting chaplains are Rev. James F. Leary, S. J., Catholic chaplain; Rev. George E. Stokes, Protestant chaplain and Rabbi Moses L. Sedar, Jewish chaplain. Rev. William J. Quigley, S. J., is the resident chaplain at Long Island.

Proposed Improvements for 1923.

Reconditioning of the women's prison, so-called, and all groups of prisoners moved there, thus abandoning the old cell block. It will be necessary to repair the sea walls around the island during the year, and to do this the department will have to secure a loan of about $25,000.

It is proposed to have more cows and pigs, more land on Long Island put under cultivation, and soil on Deer Island improved.

Medical Report, Deer Island.

Dr. Bernard F. McGaffigan, resident physician, reports that the general physical condition of the inmates committed to the institution during the past year has been good and free from all epidemics. A sick call has been held to the prison every morning, giving the inmates treatment for minor ailments before going to work.

Three prisoners died during the year. Six became mentally deranged and were examined by our alienists, Drs. Charles C. Dewey and William H. Prescott, after which they were committed to the hospital for insane. Five tubercular patients were transferred to Rutland State Sanatorium.

On October 23, 1922, I inaugurated a new method of treatment for drug addiction in an institution. It is absolute isolation, entirely removing the addicts from all possible contact with the other inmates and keeping them under medical supervision. On that day forty-five known drug addicts were taken from the various departments of the institution and segregated in the building known as the women's prison. Here the use of narcotic drugs has stopped and we believe that some, if not all, of the unfortunate drug addicts will be cured of the habit upon release so that they may return to society stronger and better men, able to cope with all temptation. Since the removal to the segregated colony all have shown marked improvement and many have expressed themselves as pleased with the treatment and hope for a permanent cure.

RANDIDGE TRUST FUND EXCURSIONS. SUMMER, 1922.

One of the pleasantest tasks as Commissioner of Institutions is arranging the excursions for the poor children of the City of Boston under the provisions of the Randridge Trust Fund.

George L. Randridge, a merchant tailor of this city, with place of business back of the S. S. Pierce Building, now known as Tremont place, bequeathed to the City of Boston the sum of $50,000, the income thereof, from time to time as designated by the Mayor of the city, to be used for the sole purpose of affording to the children of the poor of the city, regardless of race, color or creed, one or more excursions during the months of July and August in each year. This bequest was accepted by the City Council in 1896, in accordance with chapter 215, of the Acts of 1896.

The outings conducted during the months of July and August of the summer of 1922, under direct supervision of Deputy Commissioner Dennis D. Driscoll and Mr. William Grady, who worked tirelessly to make it a success, were perhaps the most successful ever held. There was no accident of any kind to the many children who went to Rainsford Island. During the months of July and August, with the exception of Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays, the city steamer "Monitor" set sail daily from Eastern Avenue Wharf, with its precious cargo of three hundred children eager for a day's excursion. The children debarked at Rainsford Island, where an interesting program awaited them. Forty-two outings were held.

This year especial attention was paid to the congested districts of the city where it was found the need was greatest. A plan tried out this year, of not sending mixed groups of children but keeping each parish or institution group together and under the supervision of women from their own families or neighborhood instead of paid playground teachers, worked out very well and the children enjoyed themselves more, free from restraint of a teacher's supervision.

A word of commendation is due the Boston Elevated Trustees for their part in making the excursions a success. Transportation was furnished to the children at half rate. Through the courtesy and kindness of Superintendent James Smith and Assistant Superintendent Joseph McCarthy empty cars were sent, when requested, to the center from which the children for that day's excursion were leaving. This greatly facilitated the transporting of three hundred children to the boat.

The program at the island varied little from day to day. Sports for both boys and girls were enjoyed, for which prize were awarded. In the sports, events designed to furnish amusement were stressed more than those to show athletic powers. These events included potato, three-legged, shoe and peanut races. Those wishing to go in swimming were allowed to do so under the care of the swimming instructors. In case of inclement weather the children could go in doors to a building especially renovated for their use. Here they were entertained with music and games.

Refreshments, consisting of rolls, doughnuts, peanuts, candy, ice cream, milk and lemonade were served.

Prizes were secured through the untiring efforts of Mr. Driscoll and Mr. Quinn from R. H. White Company, Jordan Marsh Company, Boston Drinking Cup Company, Oriental Coffee Company, J. H. Phillips of the Phoenix Coffee Company, Holland System, A. Lincoln Filene, Horace Partridge Company, William Read & Sons, Winchester Sporting Company, Woolworth Five and Ten Cent Store and others firms.

A shower bath was installed and was thoroughly enjoyed by the children after bathing.

The outings were enjoyed by 11,844 children and expenses incurred to the amount of $2,060.09.

STEAMERS.

This administration found the steamer "Monitor" in such condition that all summer the United States inspectors were threatening to withdraw her from service and did so as soon as the Randridge excursions were over.

The estimated cost of repairing her boiler alone was $35,000. This prohibitive cost of putting her in condition plus the time that it would necessitate, caused what would have been a serious condition, since there would have been no way of getting supplies or carrying people to either Long Island or Deer Island, except on the little steamer "George A. Hibbard," wholly inadequate. In this emergency, thanks to the efforts of your Honor, the steamer "General Rochester," a new boat, built at a cost of $299,000, was purchased from the United States Government for $20,000. This boat, after minor alterations, was rechristened the "Michael J. Perkins" after the hero of the World War, and is now in service between Boston and the city institutions.

The department has sustained a loss in the retirement of Captain Cook and Mr. Bates, mate, after more than twenty-five years of faithful service.

The steamer "George A. Hibbard" has been used during the year to convey the doctors to the Long Island Hospital besides its regular work of transporting the employees up and down from the islands, also assisting in taking care of some of the regular work of the steamer "Michael J. Perkins." During the coal shortage the inmates of the House of Correction were carried up to Boston in charge of an officer and returned at five o'clock at night.

In submitting this report, I wish to express to your Honor my appreciation and thanks for the many valuable suggestions you have given and for your sympathetic and ready co-operation in all the undertakings of the department. I wish to express, too, my hearty thanks to all members of the Institutions Department who have worked loyally in its interest.

Respectfully,

DAVID J. JOHNSON,
Commissioner of Institutions.

POETIC TRIBUTE TO BOSTON.

Mayor Curley received from Mr. Charles L. H. Wagner of 199 Parkway, West Roxbury, the following poem in tribute to the City of Boston:

Where the Golden Dome on the highest hill
Refulgent gleams when the sunbeams shine,
Where the River Charles with its wonder-thrill
Inspires the vibrant heart of mine;

Where the deep blue sea spreads forth its arms
And holds in fond embrace the shore,
Where an hundred islets prove their charms
And gem-like lay at the City's door;

Where the white-winged fleets of commerce bring Their untold wealth from the world's great marts,
Where the ocean-queens at their moorings swing
And release a throng of expectant hearts;

Where the cultured soul meets the cultured soul,
Where the heaven-born arts like pearls are prized,
Where Wisdom shows its aureole,
Where Liberty is canonized;

Where the stranger breathes the air of home,
And feels the clasp of a sincere hand,
Where the glow of his heart like the sheen of its dome
Shines forth with a welcome that all understand;
That is BOSTON!

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT REPORT FOR JUNE.

Joseph A. Rourke, Commissioner of Public Works, has submitted to the Mayor the following statement of the activities of the Public Works Department during the month of June, 1923.

Following is a memorandum of the work done by the Bridge and Ferry Division for the month of June, 1923:

BRIDGE SERVICE.

Babson Street Bridge.—The contractor ripped up the floor preparatory to the placing of the stringers by the railroad men.

Beacon Street Bridge.—The steel work is being fabricated in the contractor's shop and the contractor is making a study of the erection problem, which is a very serious one for this particular bridge. The day labor force of the Bridge Service, in connection with the Boston Elevated Railway Company, has rebuilt the southwest side of the existing bridge to allow for the diversion of travel while part of the new bridge is being erected.

Blakemore Street Bridge.—The repairs on the iron work of the floor beams and fence have been completed and the day labor force of the Bridge Service relaid the wooden floor.

Cambridge Street Bridge, Allston.—About 90 per cent of the steel work has been erected and the concrete flooring poured for about one third of the bridge.

Chelsea Bridge South.—The subcontractor for the steel superstructure has erected a great deal of the steel of the approach spans. There has been some delay in the delivery of machinery for the draw span so that erection of this has been delayed. Chelsea South Temporary Bridge caught fire on June 29 and was badly damaged. The contractor's lighter was engaged with a large force of men, together with the day labor force of the Bridge Service and work was continued night and day until repairs were completed. The fire started early in the morning of June 29 and travel was turned on again on Saturday, June 30 at 5.30 p. m.

Columbia Road Bridge.—Plans and specifications were drawn up for repairs to Columbia Road Bridge and the work was advertised.

Northern Avenue Bridge.—Plans and specifications were prepared and a contract advertised and awarded for strengthening the foundation of the compressor at Northern Avenue Bridge.

Sprague Street Bridge.—The contractor for rebuilding of Sprague Street Bridge has ripped up the floor and the railroad company's men have placed about one half the stringers. The contractor is engaged in relaying the floor on one half the bridge.

Wood Island Footbridge.—The contractor for repairs to Wood Island footbridge has completed about 75 per cent of the work.

Charlestown Bridge Storehouses.—The lease for the storehouses on Charlestown Bridge expired and advertisements were inserted for a new lease to run for five years.

Garbage Dumps.—The contractor for repairs to the garbage dumps has finished the work on the roof of the South Street Refuse Station and has finished all other repairs on the dumps except for repairs to the piling.

The day labor force of the Bridge Service, in addition to the work mentioned above, has been engaged in patching sheathing and under plank on Columbus Avenue Bridge, Congress Street Bridge, Dana Avenue Bridge, Glenwood Avenue Bridge, Massachusetts Avenue Bridge, over Boston & Providence Railroad; Redfield Street Bridge, Walworth Street Bridge and West River Street Bridge.

FERRIES.

The contractor for the foundations for the ferry bridges has done some tearing out of the existing wooden bridge but work has progressed very slowly. Some of the material for the ferry bridges, particularly for the Boston side, has been delivered on the ground.

The "Lieutenant Flaherty" was placed in the dry dock under contract and repairs made to rivets and the hull painted.

A contract was prepared for repairs to the ends of the ferryboat "John H. Sullivan."

On the contract for barriers on the ferryboat "John H. Sullivan," the work has been nearly all completed.

The contractor for repairs to the pile work of the piers has started work tearing out pile work at the North Ferry, Boston side.

The day labor force was engaged as follows: Joiners chiefly on ferryboat "John H. Sullivan"; ship carpenters on routine work and on inspection of the work of the contractor on the "Lieutenant Flaherty"; machinists' routine work and inspection of work on the "Lieutenant Flaherty"; electrician and painters on routine work and more especially on the ferryboat "John H. Sullivan", where the telegraph system was changed to meet requirements of the Steamboat Inspection Service.

VETO—PROBATION OFFICERS' SALARIES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 6, 1923.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I beg to return herewith, without my approval, orders of the City Council providing increases in the salaries of probation officers attached to the Municipal Court.

The attached orders have been "in committee" in the Council since February 5, 1923. The recommendations upon which they are based are dated January 30, 1923. On or about this latter date similar recommendations contained in the budget estimates of the court were considered by the Budget Commissioner and myself.

In compiling the budget it was deemed inadvisable to accept these recommendations for the reason that the recipients of the increases were receiving salaries in excess of $2,000, the figure determined upon as the maximum beyond which no general salary increases would be allowed.

In my opinion the above reason still remains adequate, hence I am returning, without my approval, the orders adopted by your honorable body.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Placed on file.

BIDS FOR STOREHOUSE, CHARLESTOWN.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 6, 1923.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—The Public Works Department recently advertised for bids for the use for storehouse purposes for a period of five years the spaces numbered 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6 under the Charlestown Bridge.

The only bid received was from the present occupant who has leased the premises for a period of twenty or more years and in view of the fact that the bid for the proposed lease represents a sum in excess of the amount paid under previous lease, I respectfully recommend adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Whereas, The Commissioner of Public Works of the said City of Boston advertised for proposals for leasing storehouses at the approach of and under the new Charlestown Bridge; and

Whereas, Michael P. Coleman bid $3,300 for storehouses Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6; and

Whereas, The said Michael P. Coleman was the only bidder;

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 5, 1923.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I beg to submit herewith communication received this day from the secretary of the School Committee of the City of Boston, same constituting a reply to an order adopted by the City Council under date of June 25, 1923.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,

School Committee, July 3, 1923.

Hon. James M. Curley,

Mayor of Boston: Dear Sir,—At a special meeting of the School Committee held on Monday, July 2, 1923, a communication from your Honor, under date of June 28, 1923, transmitting an order passed by the City Council on June 25, requesting the School Committee to keep open during the summer months all school yards, to be used for children's playgrounds, was duly received and placed on file.

In reply thereto I am directed to inform the City Council, through your Honor, that the Board is of the opinion, based on past experience, that it is not advisable to open school yards for play purposes without adequate supervision. Approximately forty school yards are now used for this purpose and in view of the limitation of available funds, the Board is unable to add to this number.

Very truly yours,

THOMAS D. APOLLONIO,
Secretary.

Placed on file.

DEPARTMENTAL TRANSFERS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 6, 1923.

To the City Council:

Gentlemen,—I beg to submit herewith requests for transfers within departmental appropriations, which in the opinion of department heads are necessary and I respectfully recommend approval of the same by your body.

Respectfully,

money to keep open, for the balance of the season as usual, the school yards not closed to school children.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I agree with the gentleman from the spirit of the order, but even if the School Committee should come back and inform us that it will cost so much to supervise the school yards that are not already open, how can we be of any assistance in the matter? It is not at all likely that the School Committee will permit the Mayor and the City Council to function in their affairs, and certainly the City Council will not be in a position to appropriate money for the School Board, for which the Board has not asked, letting them do whatever they see fit with the taxpayers' money. As I say, I believe in the spirit of the order, but it is just a waste of time. We are not going to accomplish anything by it, and we are continuously calling on the City Council to do something, wherein we haven't any power in the matter, is placing us in a ridiculous position, in my opinion. If anybody else had put it in, I would say that it was unbecome. The idea of our asking the School Committee to tell us how much it is going to cost to supervise the school yards not already in use by the children in the summer time? Then, if we should find out the information in regard to the amount of money that we are to be taking with his Honor the Mayor, and it is proposed that he devote some money for this purpose from the Reserve Fund, I don't believe the School Committee will give any money to the city government, in the legislative or executive branches, or otherwise. They take pretty good care of whatever they have, and they don't want to give it away. We are going to get another slap in the face if we pass this order. I, for one, propose not to vote for it.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, the gentleman says that the order is a meritorious one, but that he does not intend to vote for it.

Coun. WATSON—I said that the spirit of it is meritorious.

Coun. HAGAN—It seems to me the gentleman is a little bit inconsistent. If the spirit of the order is meritorious, the intent is meritorious. If the order has any merit whatever it should be voted for, and not against. If the order is without merit, the gentleman is justified in voting against it.

Coun. WATSON—The spirit is all right, but the order is unbecome, plain and simple.

The order was passed.

PROTEST AGAINST TRACKS REMOVAL ON LEXINGTON STREET.

Coun. HEALEY offered the following: Whereas, The Trustees of the Boston Elevated Railway Company have given a public notice of a proposed discontinuance of the car service on Lexington street in East Boston, and of the transfer of said service to its tracks on Bennington street; and

Whereas, Said car service on Lexington street has been ordered by the city government, serving a crowded, compactly built-up area in East Boston of home-owners and wage-earners, a district practically free from mercantile business; and

Whereas, It is the intention of the said trustees on the completion of the new terminal now being worked in the East Boston Tunnel to lay tracks on Chelsea street, between Maverick square and Day square, and to remove the tracks on Bennington street, between Central square and Day square; and

Whereas, The discontinuance of car service in said district and said removal would be a devastating blow to the district affected; be it

Resolved, That the City Council records its solemn protest against the removal of the tracks on Lexington and Bennington streets.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, I don't want to burden the Council with a speech on this matter, because I think for resting the morning papers the members of the Council understand it fully as well as I do. I would ask some one of the council members to make a resolution of the fact that the Boston Elevated Railway is adopting a policy that will outlive you, might say, almost 35,000 persons in East Boston, the majority of the city.

I think we ought to have a resolution that they have had for more than a generation. When the Act of 1918 was passed it was understood, of course, that the people were willing to pay the freight. They were willing, and have been willing for the last several years, to pay a 10-cent car fare to defray the expenses of the Boston Elevated Railroad. I do not understand the morning papers the people are willing to admit that in paying the higher car fare they should have their car service reduced. The Elevated has only one car line in East Boston but are going to establish a new thoroughfare in East Boston that will do away with Meridian street as the retail trade district in East Boston. The people of East Boston are certainly, by measure, I hesitate to say too much, because I might say some things that would not look good in the paper. I am not going to say that I intend to amend so that it will appear that the Council unanimously and vehemently protests the change in the car service in East Boston.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, I would ask the councilor if he has found out what, if anything, they are going to give in return for the doing away with the car service, so we can get some idea of what they are going to give in return.

Coun. HEALEY—They are going to establish a route on Chelsea street and take cars off Lexington and Bennington streets. On Wednesday, at half past eleven, a meeting is to be held in the City Hall at which I hope the members of the Council will appear. But we have not heard the plans of the trustees yet.

Coun. HAGAN—So they are going to be on Chelsea street?

Coun. HEALEY—Yes, sir.

Coun. HEALEY—What is the distance on Chelsea street?

Coun. HEALEY—From the tunnel to Day square. I do not know the exact distance, but I think it is to be about 100 feet.

CITY HOSPITAL PLANS, ETC.

Coun. WATSON called up unfinished business No. 10, viz:

10. Ordered, That the sum of $180,000 be and the same is hereby appropriated to be expended by the City Hospital Trustees for hospital buildings, plans, etc., to be completed by the City Hospital Trustee and be hereby is authorized to issue, from time to time, upon the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston.

On June 25, 1923, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeay 9.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, would the Council object if a communication were sent to the trustees of the City Hospital, asking them to come here and explain what they mean by No. 10 on the calendar? I understand that they have asked for $180,000 for architect's fees. I don't want to appear to be in the position of delaying the plans of the Hospital Trustees for the care of the sick poor of Boston, but if you will read the letter sent in by the trustees, printed in the proceedings of our last meeting you will find that they are asking $180,000 for architect's fees.

I think it is a very large sum of money. The Council does not insist on immediate action on the order before us, if they are willing that the action I suggest be taken, I am going to amend that order so that it will read: That $180,000 be hereby appropriated for hospital buildings, and then we can have another order under which $100,000 be expended for the City Hospital Trustees in making plans for hospital buildings.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I don't think we ought to delay on this matter. I think very much of the order, but I think it is a very large sum of money. Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, I think if the gentlemen will read the letter sent in by the Hospital Trustees they will see the point I am making.

"We therefore make the further suggestion that the City Council be requested to make an appropriation of $180,000 for architects' fees."

I don't think you are going to vote to give them $180,000 without knowing what their plans are. I hardly think so. I don't think we need a speech on that particular matter.

President LANE—Does Coun. Watson withdraw his motion?

Coun. WATSON—I am perfectly willing to do so, Mr. President. I am entirely willing that the matter should be postponed; but I know that eventually it will go through exactly as it is.

Coun. HAGAN—Mr. President, how does that leave it?

President LANE—On the calendar.

Coun. HAGAN—Without any action being taken at all?

President LANE—Yes, without any action being taken at all?

Coun. Watson's motion being withdrawn, No. 10 remains on the calendar as unfinished business.

HIGHWAYS, MAKING OF.

Coun. WATSON called up unfinished business, No. 9, viz.:
